NEGLECT CAUSED WRECK, DECLARES MAJ. PEUCHEN

Pair of Binoculars Would Have Saved Titanic and Many Lives.

Two Important Witnesses Agree, that Lookout Could Have Seen Icebergs in Time to Have Avoided the Collision—Canadian Praises Mrs. Walter M. Clark of Los Angeles as Heroine in Lifeboat.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Like the missing horseshoe nail that lost a monarch his kingdom, failure to provide binoculars for look-outs on the Titanic was one contributing cause of that ship's loss and is the loss of more than [illegible]

Two witnesses before the Senate investigating committee today agreed [illegible] They were Frederick Fleet, look-out on the liner, and Maj. Arthur Peuchen, Canadian yachtsman who was among the rescued passengers.

Peuchen acknowledged that if he had had glasses probably he could have seen the berg into which the ship crashed in time to warn the bridge and thus avert disaster. Maj. Peuchen also testified that the much greater sweep of vision afforded by binoculars, and as a consequence, said he believed the presence of the iceberg might have been detected in time to escape the collision, had the look-out men been provided.

Fleet, who made to appear that the work of looking without glasses did not interfere with the look-out men. Fleet testified that he had asked for the glasses before the ship left Southampton and were told there were none for them. One glass, in his opinion, would have served in the place.

Maj. Peuchen condemned in strong terms the lack of experienced sailors on board the Titanic. He said that when the call to quarters was sounded not enough of the crew responded to undertake the work required in lowering and filling the boats.

Furthermore, he said, no drills had been held from the time the ship left Southampton, although it was customary to hold such drills every Sunday.

SHUDDERS AT THOUGHT.

Herbert J. Pittmann, third officer of the Titanic, told of his failure to turn back the lifeboat in which he and his passengers were idly drifting, to attempt the rescue of others when the Titanic went down.

Shuddering at the recollection, he said the cries for help made "one long continuous moan." The passengers insisted that to go back to aid them would mean their destruction, he said, so that after starting in the direction of the cries, he rescinded his orders and waited for the dawn. Twice he begged to be spared a recital of the facts, but Senator Smith pressed him.

The importunities and activities of a squad of photographers today so aroused Senator Smith that he indignately ordered them all excluded from the chamber.

"This inquiry is official and solemn," he said in explanation, "and there

IOWA TO PASS UPON CUMMINS.

Senator Will Know Opinion of His People Today.

Roosevelt Gives Him Benefit of His Delegates.

Taft Leaders Sanguine They Will Show a Majority.

BY HAL M. LYTLE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CEDAR RAPIDS (Iowa) April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Senator Albert B. Cummins is in judgment at the hands of his own people. They are to pass tomorrow on the fitness of Iowa's "favorite son" as a Republican Presidential possibility.

If beaten, and tonight there is only a "split hair's" difference between the Taft and Cummins strength, he will be in oblivion so far as being a national executive choice is concerned. If he wins he will at least be a factor in the all-exciting battle. At the end of a "vote-swapping" day, the like of which would have made David Harum of horse swapping fame roll over in his grave with sheer envy, things look bad for the "favorite son."

Theodore Roosevelt personally sent word to the bare twenty-four delegates he obtained in the State convention to "switch" to Cummins, and even with that gift, his managers claim a victory by but one delegate. They say the delegates line up 741 for Cummins and 740 for Taft.

Taft's Iowa manager, John T. Adams of Dubuque, predicts he has 783 convention delegates safely cornered. This would give the Taft adherents the close margin of forty-one, but enough to annex the four delegates-at-large to the national convention and to dominate in the committee. It would also mean a "stand-pat" national committeeman.

President Taft already has ten Iowa national delegates in his pocket. They are from the First, Second, Sixth, Eighth and Ninth districts. He will get two more at the Fifth district convention here in the morning.

Senator Cummins has eight delegates. They come from the Third, Fourth, Seventh and the Tenth districts. He will get two more from the Eleventh district at tomorrow's convention. This makes a score of Taft, twelve; Cummins ten. Four delegates-at-large will swing the pendulum either way as to Senator Cummins's future.

Roll call in the convention only will tell the story as to whether the favorite son's candidacy must be regarded seriously.

The charges of President Taft's campaign managers that Col. Roosevelt is out "with his hat in the ring" mainly for personal revenge against the National Executive find considerable substantiation in the light of developments here today. Roosevelt obtained something like thirty convention delegates in Mills, Page and Washington counties, out of the 1481 in the State. When the Cummins "S.O.S." distress signal went out, Roosevelt, so Senator Cummins's campaign managers admit, sent telegrams to these counties releasing them, but asking that they cast their strength to Cummins, and as chance has it these self-same delegates are the small margin which may mean defeat or victory to either side.

NOT ALL FOR ROOSEVELT.
LOSES SOME OREGON VOTES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SALEM (Or.) April 23.—An informal opinion of the Republican primary last Friday expressed by Atty.-Gen. A. M. Crawford holds that Theodore Roosevelt is not entitled to the vote of the full Oregon delegation to the National Convention. Mr. Crawford is quoted as saying that under the Oregon law as he construes it, it is not incumbent upon all delegates to support a certain candidate unless that candidate received a majority of his party's primary vote. Where it is a question of a plurality only, as was the case last Friday, the opinion holds that the delegates are bound to vote for the candidate they represented upon the primary ballots. Calling attention to the fact that in this State, each voter is permitted to vote for but one delegate, Atty.-Gen. Crawford said: "This is apparently a pure and simple effort to secure proportional representation." In light of this fact, he said, it was his opinion that "those who received from the party a sufficient number of votes to elect them as delegates, and who were representatives on the ticket of either Taft or La Follette, are, in the proportional representation theory, in duty bound to vote for those candidates whom they declared to the people on the ballot they would represent in the National Convention."

BRYAN GOES TO FLORIDA.
WILL SPEAK FOR WILSON.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, April 23.—William J. Bryan conferred here today with Senators and Representatives regarding popular election of Senators and other legislation. He said he was going to Florida on business, but would make two political speeches. He said that as Woodrow Wilson "happened to be the only progressive candidate for President on the ticket in that State," he would speak for him, but he would have spoken for any other progressive Democratic candidate had there been any other on the ticket. Mr. Bryan said he would be "the happiest man in the world" if the two houses of Congress would get together on the popular election of Senators, which he said, was "the greatest question before the United States people today."

WILL BREAK SILENCE.
TAFT PREPARES SPEECHES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, April 23.—President Taft and several members of his cabinet were in conference at the White House tonight, considering, it is understood, the political situation in New England, and going over some speeches which the President is to deliver on his forthcoming trip, which begins tomorrow. In some of his speeches at Boston, Worcester and South Framingham or Philadelphia, the President is expected to break the silence he has maintained under public attacks by Col. Roosevelt and probably mention the former President by name.

Millionaire-Philanthropist.

D. K. PEARSONS STRICKEN; OXYGEN KEEPS HIM ALIVE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dr. D. K. Pearsons, Chicago's eccentric millionaire, who in the closing years of his life has given away his entire fortune to small colleges, is lying in Hinsdale Sanatorium, dangerously ill with pneumonia. For three nights the physicians have been giving him oxygen hourly.

A week ago Sunday Dr. Pearsons was 92 years old. It has been his confident declaration that he would live to be 100. He says he is too busy watching his "children," as he calls his colleges, and cannot spend time to die.

He complained Friday of having a cold. The next morning he did not leave his room for breakfast and came down stairs for only a short time. On Sunday he did not leave his room at all and could not see visitors. That night he sank rapidly and oxygen was administered. These treatments have continued each succeeding night.

Dr. Pearsons knows of the extremity in which oxygen is used, but does not seem to realize how sick he is. He insisted on seeing friends who called this afternoon and chatted for a little time with four whom the physicians allowed to be with him for a little while.

"I don't want to stay in bed," he said feebly. "I don't see why they won't let me up now, I am wasting time and I haven't much more than eight years to live."

Checking Up.

SEVENTY-SEVEN BODIES RECOVERED FROM OCEAN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, April 23.—Officials of the White Star Line were able to announce today they had checked off, with the aid of their passenger lists, some of the names of the identified dead whose bodies were recovered by the cable ship Mackay-Bennett near the spot where the Titanic sank.

The list follows:

First-class passengers: W. D. Douglas, Ramon Artagaveytia, Fred Sutton, A. H. Holvorson (sent by wireless as A. J. Holverson.)

Second-class passengers: Louis M. Hoffman, John H. Chapman (sent by wireless as John A. Chapman,) W. Corbines (sent by wireless as W. Carbines,) W. H. Harbeck, Jean Gill (sent by wireless as J. S. Gill,) Nicolas Nasser (sent by wireless as N. E. Coles Rasher,) Mrs. Mary Mack, Reginald Hale (sent by wireless as Reg Hale.)

Steerage passengers: Mary Mongan or Margon (sent by wireless as Mary Manigan,) James Farrell, James Keiley, Henry Hansen, Mauritz Dahl (sent by wireless as Mauretz Adahl,) Leslie Gilinski, Ernest P. Tomlin, Josef Draznovic (sent by wireless as Yomipe Drazenoui,) Malkolm Johnson (sent by wireless as Malcolm Johnson,) Neslie Williams (sent by wireless as Leslie Williams.)

The officials have not been able to verify the following names:

Mrs. N. McNamee. It is supposed this is Eileen McNamee, a steerage passenger from Queenstown, Ireland. There is no Catavelas Vasiolos. On the White Star's list there appears a Thomas Catalevas and a Peter Vasioloa. It is not possible to determine which of these two is meant.

The name of William Sage does not appear, but it is thought he is the son of John Sage. Both father and son were among the lost. There is no W. Vear (as sent by wireless) on any of the lists. This is believed to be W. J. Ware, a second-class passenger.

There is no Mrs. A. Robins among the bookings, but Charity Robins, a third-class passenger, appears. She is thought by the White Star to be the wife of Alexander Robins, who was booked in the steerage.

The lists have no records of M. Greenberg (as sent by wireless) but the name of Samuel Greenburg is on the list of second-class passengers.

The following names of identified dead (as received by wireless) are not on the passenger lists of the steamship company:

W. Marriott, George Rosenshire, H. W. Ashe, Niblischedid, R. Batt, A. Hayter, Jerry Morgose and Steward No. 76.

All doubt that the name of N. E. Coles Rasher, as received by wireless by the White Star line, is that of Col. John Jacob Astor was dispelled when the wife of Nicholas Nasser told the officials that N. E. Coles Rasher must be her husband. The steamship company officials also say the name Nasser is on their lists.

The Mackay-Bennett will remain near the scene of the disaster. It has discovered 100 bodies. Up to the present time seventy-seven have been taken out of the sea, forty-two of which have been identified. It is thought the ship will endeavor to reach Halifax on Friday.

The White Star company today made public the following wireless message, giving the names in the additional list of bodies recovered of those who died in the Titanic disaster:

"From Mackay-Bennett via steamship Royal George and Capt Race to Ismay, White Star line, care Commercial Cable Company, New York:

"Following identified today, Monday:

"Mrs. Mack, Mrs. N. McNamee, Catavelas Vassilios, W. Vear, Mary Managan, William Sage, James Farrell, Henry D. Hansen, James Kelly, Mauretz Adahl, Reg Hale and W. D. Douglas.

"Douglas has been embalmed. Above all passengers.

"Have also identified J. R. Rice, assistant purser; G. Hinckley, hospital attendant, and W. Butt of crew. Total bodies to date seventy-seven."

TIED UP IN ICE FIELD.

Steamer Californian was Within Twenty Miles of Titanic, Her Wireless Operator Asleep.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON (Mass.) April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Leyland line steamer Californian was within twenty miles of the Titanic when the latter struck the iceberg. Capt. Lord of the Californian said today that his engines were shut down all that night on account of the ice.

A member of the crew said that the Californian was lying within less than twenty miles of the Titanic that night and that the wireless operator was asleep, exhausted from seventeen hours of continuous work. Capt. Lord was addressed:

"Captain, it has been said that the Californian was the one that passed within five miles of the sinking Titanic and disregarded her signals."

Capt. Lord replied:

"I will only say one thing, and you may draw your own conclusions. I steamed into an immense ice field at 10:30 o'clock that Sunday night. The engines were shut down and remained shut down until we got the Virginian's message next morning. Then I started with all haste for the scene of the disaster."

MRS. CLARK COMES HOME.

Widowed Survivor of Titanic Disaster Passes Through Salt Lake, But Unable to Leave Car.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SALT LAKE CITY, April 23.—Mrs. Walter Miller Clark, a survivor of the Titanic disaster, and who lost her husband in the disaster, passed through here tonight, en route to her home in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Clark still is in a serious condition as a result of her experiences and was unable to leave her car. She was met here by William A. Clark, Jr., who will accompany her to Los Angeles.

Mrs. Clark's physicians refused to allow her to talk of the disaster.

PHILADELPHIANS IDENTIFIED.
WIDENER AND SUTTON.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA (Pa.) April 23.—Peter A. B. Widener, a director of the International Mercantile Marine Company, received a telegram from Clarence Mackay today which establishes the identity of one of the bodies recovered by the Mackay-Bennett cable ship as that of his son, George D. Widener.

George D. Widener, Jr., and George W. Elkins, a brother-in-law of George D. Widener, departed for Halifax to bring the bodies to Philadelphia for burial.

Fred Sutton, mentioned in the White Star Line's list of identified dead given out today, is no doubt Frederick Sutton of this city. He was 61 years old. He had been visiting a brother and sister in England.

Mr. Sutton leaves a widow and a daughter.

GRANITE STATE IS FOR TAFT.

Roosevelt Buried Under an Avalanche of Votes.

State Turns Down Third-Termer in Primaries.

President Gets Two to One for His False Friend.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CONCORD (N. H.) April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Indications late tonight are that President Taft has buried Mr. Roosevelt in the State primaries. It is believed that the President has captured nearly all of the State delegates to the national convention.

Mr. Roosevelt's supporters conceded that he is badly beaten, but they expect that later returns will show that he received a good vote in the smaller towns. With considerably more than half the State heard from at 11 o'clock, the vote is almost two to one for Taft delegates.

Out of the 210 towns and wards heard from, Mr. Taft has 246 delegates and Mr. Roosevelt 169.

In the early afternoon the returns were more favorable to Mr. Roosevelt. The small towns in the northern part of the State, which hold their caucuses earlier went mostly for Roosevelt. By 6 o'clock, when returns had come in from the cities and larger towns, Mr. Taft showed a substantial gain, and by 8 o'clock the Roosevelt forces had lost all hope of victory.

Manchester went solidly for Mr. Taft, giving him ninety-eight delegates. Nashua, the home of Fred W. Estabrook, one of the National Republican Committee, who has led the Taft fight, gave a substantial majority of its delegates to Mr. Roosevelt.

Dover went for Mr. Taft, giving him twenty-two delegates. Berlin did not elect a single Roosevelt delegate; Keene elected twelve Taft and four Roosevelt men, and Portsmouth, where the Roosevelt forces have made their fight against the President on the question of abolition of the navy yard, which has been recommended by the Secretary of the Navy, was solid for Mr. Taft. Laconia elected six Taft and four Roosevelt men, and Franklin stood six for Mr. Roosevelt and four for Mr. Taft.

In Concord, the capital of the State, every ward but two went for Mr. Taft. The defeat of Mr. Roosevelt in New Hampshire is also a severe blow to the machine of Gov. Foss, which has been working tooth and nail for Mr. Roosevelt.

"TAFT ENFORCES LAW."
OHIOAN SPEAKS FOR HIM.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—Ralph D. Cole, former Representative from Ohio, spoke here tonight in support of President Taft.

"The only source of trouble for President Taft at this time," he said, "is his too rigid enforcement of the law. He was given the opportunity to make peace with Wall street. The only requirement was that he should fail to prosecute the steel trust.

"Taft may make mistakes in the exercise of his political power, as any man might, but he is perfection itself in the enforcement of the law."

INSTRUCT FOR ROOSEVELT.
KANSAS HOLDS PRIMARIES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TOPEKA (Kan.) April 23.—Primaries or conventions in thirteen Kansas counties today added a total of 155 to the list of delegates to the State convention instructed for Roosevelt. Complete returns up to date, including today's elections, give Roosevelt a total of 398 delegates and Taft ninety-two. There will be 896 delegates to sit in the State and 450 are necessary to control. Roosevelt, according to today's returns, has secured a majority of delegates to Fourth, Fifth and Eighth district conventions. The First District convention has instructed for Taft.

San Francisco Police Wi Bout With Hill.

Harbor Commissioner Quits When Near Jail.

Both Want to Be Boss of the Ferry Building.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A feud of long standing between Harbor Commissioner George M. Hill and the police of the harbor station reached an anticlimax, when today Hill came as near going to the City Jail under arrest as anyone would wish for without actually occupying a cell.

When Hill was threatened with a period of time among the drunks and petty thieves he retreated from his position as dictator of all things on, over and below the ferry building. As a result the city police are still maintaining order at the ferry and traffic is being regulated as required by the city ordinance.

Hill has always taken the ground that the Ferry building and it appurtenances are under the exclusive control of the State, and therefore, under the exclusive jurisdiction of the State Board of Harbor Commissioners. But long before Hill reached his present high estate the police department of the city had been doing its duty at the ferry and it seems likely that it will continue to do its duty there. But Hill is wrathy whenever the police are mentioned.

He was especially wrathy yesterday when Superintendent MacLean of the construction department of the Harbor Commission went to him and reported that Policeman Charles E. Mann had complained because MacLean was in the habit of allowing the State automobile to stand in front of the Ferry building for hours, causing blockades and otherwise interfering with the progress of persons and vehicles thereabouts. Hill gives out of his attention to State property matters, and he went down stairs into the street and sought out Policeman Mann.

"I want you to understand that if MacLean sees fit to leave his automobile in front of the Ferry building, it is none of your business. All this is the property of the State of California, and you city policemen are hers only on my sufferance. And if you get fresh around here, I'll chase you all off the Ferry property."

Just then Sergeant Moriarity happened along and Hill turned his scorn on the city police upon the head of the sergeant. Moriarity told him that the city police would continue to do its duty and that even Hill could not be allowed to obstruct the discharge of that duty.

Hill looked as if he were about to have an epileptic fit, and he screamed:

"Now all you city policemen get off the State property, and get off quick as you can. You have no right here. If you don't get away at once I'll call the State police and have you all arrested."

"You and the State police mind your own business or I'll arrest all of you and throw you into cells just as soon as you do any act that interferes with the police and discharge of police duty," was Moriarity's reply.

And Hill turned on his heel and went upstairs to his office.

RAID TO "BOOK TRUST."

San Francisco Educator Says State Council Is Playing Into Hand of Alleged Monopoly.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, April 23. — Dr. Frederick Burk, president of the San Francisco State Normal, member of the State Book Committee and member of the State Board of Education, declared today that the proposed initiative amendment to the Constitution, recently launched by the State Council of Education, composed mostly of teachers of Los Angeles, is without doubt the instrument of the book trust. In the amendment, which proposed free text-books for the elementary schools, Burk declared, "if this amendment is jammed through," said Burk, "it will mean that more books must be purchased, because every county board and every city board will have the power to select its own series.

"It would mean, in short, that the boards of education and teachers in every county would be at the mercy of the book agents.

"The Council of Education amendment was approved by a vote of 28 to 1, and there is no doubt that it will be packed in the interest of the book trust."

Pima County Republicans Quote Message of Roosevelt in Praise of the President.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TUCSON (Ariz.) April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] At a meeting of the Taft Club of Pima county, resolutions were adopted unanimously indorsing the renomination of President Taft and pledging the best efforts of the club to the election of delegates to the Chicago convention instructed to vote the insertion instructed to vote the insertion in the national platform of the recall of the judiciary, the recall of judicial decisions, or the recall of the unwritten law limiting a decision of the Executive to the two terms in the White House.

The resolutions include Col. Roosevelt, words praising President Taft for his honest laboring man, feel that a peculiar sense Mr. Taft will be representative because of the very charges that he has the same scorn for the methods and that he has for the methods of personal violence from which the unqualified and lofty character of the wealthiest and most powerful corporations. Broad and his sympathies are, there is in the slightest tinge of weakness or consideration of personal safety could make him any more than of fear for his personal safety could make him a hair's breadth from the course which he regards as right and for the interest of the whole people."

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A fued of long standing between Harbor Commissioner George M. Hill and the police of the harbor station reached an anticlimax when today Hill came as near to the City Jail under arrest as he would wish for without actually occupying a cell.

Hill was threatened with a fight at one time among the drunks and when he retreated from his position as dictator of all things on, and below the ferry building, it must be said the city police are still keeping order at the ferry and traffic is being regulated as required by city ordinance.

Hill has always taken the ground that the Ferry building and it approaches are under the exclusive control of the State, and therefore, under the exclusive jurisdiction of the Board of Harbor Commissioners. But long before Hill reached the high estate the police department of the city had been doing duty at the ferry and it seems safe to bet it will continue to do its duty. But Hill is wrathy whenever his police are mentioned.

He was especially wrathy yesterday when Superintendent MacLean of the construction department of the Commission went to him and told that Policeman Charles E. Ford had complained because Mac-Donald is in the habit of allowing his automobile to stand in front of the Ferry building for hours, causing blockades and otherwise interfering with the progress of persons and vehicles thereabouts. Hill gives no attention to State property rights, and he went down stairs into the street and sought out Policeman Ford.

"I want you to understand that if I think you fit to leave his automobile in front of the Ferry building, it is none of your business. Then Sergeant Moriarity happened along and Hill turned his scorn on the city police upon the head of the sergeant. Moriarity told him that the city police would continue to do its duty and that even Hill would not be allowed to obstruct the proper performance of that duty.

Hill acted as if he were about to have an epileptic fit, and he shouted:

San Francisco Educator Says State Board is Playing Into Hand of Combination.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, April 23.—Dr. Edwin Burt, president of the San Francisco State Normal, member of the Text Book Committee and member of the State Board of Education, declares today that the proposed initiative amendment to the Constitution, which was sponsored by the State Council of Education, composed mostly of citizens of Los Angeles, is without the instrument of the book trust for the purpose of defeating the Shannon amendment, which proposed free text books for the elementary schools.

"The amendment is jammed through," said Burk, "it will mean that text books must be purchased, and every county board and every city board will have the power to select any series.

Kansas Republicans Quote Message of Roosevelt in Praise of Taft.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TOPEKA (Kans.) April 23.—[Exclusive.] At a meeting of the Republican county, resolutions were adopted unanimously indorsing the administration of President Taft and urging the best efforts of the delegates to the state convention instructed to support the renomination in the national convention of the present incumbent of the judiciary, because of his decisions, or the Republican law limiting a candidate to the two terms in office.

The delegates include Col. Roosevelt's progressive friends. They say: "The honest wage-worker, the toiling man, feel that the fostering care Mr. Taft will be entitled to because of the very reasons that he has for the same scorn for the wealthy and that he would front the storm of personal violence from the wealthy and lofty and that he would front the power of the wealthiest and most powerful corporations. Broad as these reasons are, there is in addition to these considerations of weakness, which proposed free text books for the elementary schools. The amendment is jammed through by the State Council of Education, composed mostly of citizens of Los Angeles, is without the instrument of the book trust for the purpose of defeating the Shannon amendment

Atrocities.

SAY AMERICANS ARE TORTURED.

Refugees from Mexico Tell of Cruelties and Murder.

Many United States Citizens Said to Be Sufferers.

Scores Forced to Abandon Homes and Flee.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GALVESTON (Tex.) April 23.—Forty-seven passengers, all but one citizens of the United States, who arrived today from Vera Cruz on the steamer Texas, told of the alleged torture and assassination of Americans in Mexico. All the refugees left their lands, homes, furniture and everything they possessed, except enough money for passage and the clothes on their backs. Among the entire number there were only four or five trunks.

M. H. Ish, one of the refugees, told of the murder of a citizen of the United States named Walt.

"Mr. Walt was a neighbor of mine," said Mr. Ish. "He had sold several hundred of cattle and hidden the money. Desperadoes came to his house and demanded money. Failing to get it, they beheaded him with their machetes, herded his cattle together and drove them off. There are many instances just like this.

"We lived in a little settlement where a colony of eleven American families had founded the town of Sanburn. All departed because we were afraid to remain longer, knowing we should be murdered or tortured. I went to Mexico one year ago, put in all I had, $7,650, in land and improvements, and today I have only my two hands and the clothes on my back. Before leaving we filed our claims for damages with the United States Consul in Mexico City."

John T. McGee, a wealthy planter, who went to Mexico two years ago, returned to the United States minus more than $20,000 and left behind land and live stock. Mr. McGee tells of alleged cruelties practiced on an American woman, a Mrs. Shay, now in the hospital in Mexico City.

"What has been true of the Shay family," said Mr. McGee, "has been likewise true of scores of other Americans, and by staying there we took our lives in our hands. The bandits are everywhere. The Mexican government is not able to quiet them.

"Many Americans believe the Madero forces so dislike the Americans that they would rather permit the brigandage than try to stop it. Whenever rumors are near, the bandits disperse, but there rarely is a shot fired."

Practically every man on board the Texas had a similar story to tell of experiences in Mexico. Two span, who rode horseback into Vera Cruz after abandoning everything they owned, tell of meeting four armed bandits in a narrow pass.

"The only reason we are here," said one of the men, "is that we were lucky enough to beat them to it. Everywhere you go except right in the largest cities, you will see deserted farms, houses burned, livestock stolen, and, in many instances, the decaying, headless bodies of their owners are left lying about.

"The bandits are in such large numbers and so scattered over the interior that to resist them is useless. We Americans had to give up everything to them when they came to the settlements, no matter how well armed we might be."

Sanburn, the place where the refugees say some of the alleged atrocities occurred, is in the State of Vera Cruz, thirteen miles northwest of Santa Lucretia. It is on the Vera Cruz and Isthmus railway, across the Isthmus of Tehuantepec and is listed as a railway and telegraph station.

MADERO LIEUTENANT ARRESTED BY POLICE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEXICO CITY, April 23.—With the arrest early today of Alfredo Robles Dominguez, formerly one of Madero's trusted lieutenants, the secret police assert that a conspiracy against the government, in which various locally-prominent individuals were concerned, has been frustrated.

One of the objects which the conspirators are alleged to have had in view was the assassination of the President. The police have not divulged the identity of others who are said to have been concerned.

Robles Dominguez was treasurer for the Madero revolutionists, and was imprisoned by President Diaz for several months because of his activity in the cause. Later Madero put him in charge of the Maderista forces in the Federal district.

Huitzilac, State of Sonora, which was evacuated by the Federal forces two days ago, was recaptured yesterday, according to official information received here today. A considerable force of rebels still is in the vicinity of Huitzilac.

Federals are reported defeated at Musquis, Coahuila, by Magonistas.

RAILROAD MEN OFFER TO AID GOVERNMENT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) April 23.—One hundred engineers and conductors, former employees of the national lines of Mexico, called at Ft. Sam Houston today and through Brig.-Gen. Duncan, proffered their services as railroad men to the United States government, should it be necessary to intervene in the Mexican situation and send troops across the border.

They told of hatred existing for all Americans and said the United States flag was hissed even in Mexico City.

ROCK ISLAND (Ill.) April 23.—A grand jury indictment was returned today against Mayor H. M. Schriver, charging him with assault with intent to inflict great bodily injury on John Looney, publisher of the Rock Island News. Schriver beat Looney in police headquarters after Looney had been arrested following the publication in his paper of an attack on the Mayor, and the incident played a part in the agitation that preceded the rioting here. Schriver's bond was fixed at $2000.

KANSAS WRECK STARTS FIRE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WILLIS (Kan.) April 23.—A north-bound Missouri Pacific freight train jumped the track and crashed into the depot here today. Peter Gayaddo and Frank Lopez, railroad employees, who were on the depot platform, were buried under the wreckage. Gayaddo was taken out dead. Lopez's injuries are fatal. The depot caught fire and the locomotive and eight cars were burned. The fire threatened to destroy the entire town, and the schools were dismissed. The women formed bucket brigades and assisted the men in fighting the fire.

FOLLOWS JUDGE AROUND.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, April 23.—"You seem to follow me every place I go," said Municipal Judge Vaverly to Julia Ryan, when she was arraigned before him for the third time in a few weeks on a charge of disorderly conduct. "Yes, judge," she replied, "I appeared before you here before and you told me to leave the neighborhood and I obeyed. I went to the west side. I was arrested there and met you again. Then you told me to move back on the north side. All I can say is here I am." "Well, I'll let you go again, but you must move away from the north side," said the court.

CONSPIRACY CHARGE STICKS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, April 23.—A motion to quash an indictment charging Pierre C. Beach with conspiracy in regard to alleged coal-land frauds in Alaska has been refused here by United States District Judge Landis. Beach was indicted with Albert G. Frost. George M. Seward and others about a year ago, following an investigation by the Department of Justice. The same motion as to Frost and Seward had already been overruled.

DOWIE'S GRAVE GUARDED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, April 23.—Mrs. Jane Dowie, widow of the late Dr. John Alexander Dowie, founder of Zion City, and general overseer of the Christian Catholic Church in Zion, having heard that a movement was on foot to remove the body of her husband from its grave to a mausoleum has engaged detectives to prevent the desecration of his grave. Wilbur Glenn Voliva, successor of Dr. Dowie in Zion City, announced lately, it is said, that he had planned the erection of a mausoleum near Shiloh Tabernacle, in which was to be placed the body of the former leader. It was his idea, he said, to arrange pilgrimages to the mausoleum annually on the feast of the Passover. The body of the former leader now reposes in a grave in a cemetery at Zion City, marked only by an unengraved tombstone.

AFTER UNEMPLOYMENT DATA.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, April 23.—Appeal for assistance in obtaining data pertaining to the question of unemployment last night was sent out by the committee appointed by the City Council to ascertain the causes and remedy for unemployment in the city. With each letter is submitted a list of questions for both employers and labor unions. Suggestions are asked from both as to means of reducing the number of unemployed. About 200 letters were sent to employers and 150 to labor organizations.

ZION PREPARES FOR RIOTS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ZION CITY (Ill.) April 23.—Fifty deputy sheriffs have been sworn for riot duty as a result of disturbances Saturday and today, owing to efforts by outside industries to find a foothold in Zion City. Followers of Wilbur Glenn Voliva, successor to the authority of John Alexander Dowie, have resented the appearance of employees of a telephone apparatus factory, which bought a site here. Crowds have menaced the trains which brought in the non-Zionists' work people. The use of tobacco by the non-Zionist operatives is said to be at the bottom of the antagonism.

ALLEGED LEPER WILL FIGHT.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CENTERVILLE (Iowa) April 23.—Herman Hirschfield of Bay City, Mich., who is held here as a leprosy suspect by order of the Michigan State Board of Health, last night said he would spend $100,000 to prevent the authorities sending him to a leper colony. Mrs. Hirschfield telegraphed her husband saying she would accompany him if he is forced to join such a colony.

FEDERALS ON MARCH.

Culiacan to meet the advancing columns.

San Blas, an important Sinaloa town, at the junction of the Southern Pacific of Mexico and the Kansas City Mexico and Orient line, is now threatened by a large band of rebels and it may be the next Sinaloa city to fall into their hands.

"ONE MORE NOTE, THEN INTERVENTION."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEXICO CITY, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Another curt note from Washington such as that sent a week ago by Assistant Secretary of State Wilson will mean war with the United States.

This feeling is encouraged by the brainiest men in the republic, editors and political leaders alike.

Mexicans know Wilson did not send the note of his own initiative and that it was undoubtedly gone over by Mr. Taft and his Cabinet, but they do not blame Mr. Taft.

Wilson is the man upon whom they heap their wrath and resentment.

Newspapers and public speakers refer to the language in the "Yankee insult" as "rude, harsh, uncouth, inelegant, abrupt, crude, boorish, vulgar, ill-bred, snobbish, coarse, brutal, unfit for ears polite, blackguardly," and a few other things not easily translatable.

Some express pity for Wilson, ascribing his "unfortunate style" to "ignorance of the usage of diplomatic amenities." But all are united in condemning the "money mad Yanquis."

The United States note has hurt their pride, outraged their sensibilities and caused them to look with a new hatred upon the "northern boors," who, they believe, are looking with greedy eyes upon their country and seeking a pretext to absorb it.

All classes—old followers of Diaz, adherents of Madero and those who would welcome Orozco—are ready now to shout for war against America.

They deeply resent the humiliation of being told they are not fit to govern themselves and that a strong military ruler is needed here to make them behave.

They know they were peaceful and prosperous under such a man for more than three decades, and that the new liberty given them under his successor has proved ruinous, but they do not like others to tell them so, or even to intimate such a thing. They are clamoring for a fight.

MEANS FIFTY YEARS' WAR, ASSERTS MILLS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Intervention in Mexico means fifty years' war," according to a statement made at the War Department today by Gen. Anson Mills, retired, who is one of the Mexican boundary commissioners of the United States and has almost constantly been in touch with developments on the boundary and in the interior of Mexico.

Gen. Mills told army officers of the general staff today that there was no reason whatever for the United States to think of intervening in Mexico, and that the immediate consequences of such action would spell prolonged trouble and complications which few persons here ever dreamed of.

"Let the Mexicans fight it out," is the slogan of Gen. Mills, reiterated to War Department officers today. "Let them fight as we were allowed to fight during our Civil war. Think of what would have happened if some foreign power had attempted to intervene in our war.

"If the army should enter Mexican soil it would be fifty years before it would come out. It would mean 250,000 men in the field, and even then it would be a useless process to subdue the country. We might take Mexico City with 10,000 troops, but what good would that do? Madero has Mexico City but there is still fighting in Mexico."

SHIP CARTRIDGES TO AMERICAN CONSULS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Two hundred thousand cartridges were shipped today from the United States Arsenal in this city to American Consuls in Mexico. Fifty thousands rounds of these cartridges are consigned to Consul Magill at Guadalajara, Jalisco; 100,000 to Consul Louis Hostetter at Hermosillo, Sonora, and 50,000 rounds "to some point southwest of El Paso," as stated by the army officers. They refused to divulge the exact destination.

In explanation of these heavy shipments of regulation army rifle cartridges into the territory of "a friendly power," officers here say the shipments are made because Ambassador Wilson recently sent back a heavy shipment of cartridges from Vera Cruz. The explanation is made that the Ambassador's action was because he did not wish "to take the risk of distributing such a large supply of ammunition among the different Consulates in Mexico."

Army men also say the ammunition going into Mexico is for the use of Americans in "remote and sparsely-settled portions of the republic," who may be compelled to defend themselves against "the attack of brigands."

At the present time the arsenal here contains more than 1,000,000 rounds of service ammunition, or about five times as much as was here at the time of the mobilization of troops in Texas a year ago.

SPECIAL TRAIN FOR AMERICAN FAMILIES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

JIMENEZ (Mex.) April 23.—To remove three American families from the zone of probable fighting, a special train has been sent to Sierra Mojada. These families, the only Americans remaining in the town captured last week after a battle of seven hours by Col. Flores Alatore, includes that of Charles Hickerson, his wife and seven children. The oldest is a girl of eighteen years. Hickerson has been unable to get nearer his family than Jimenez because the officers at headquarters prohibited non-combatants entering the line of the army while a battle is impending.

Foodstuffs, with the exception of fruit, are plentiful in town, which is garrisoned by men under Col. Alanis, and with the exception of the looting of one house during the fight, no disorder has occurred.

Gen. Salazar returned tonight from Chihuahua, where he conferred with Gen. Orosco regarding the operations against the Federals. Each day the supply of ammunition is growing, and the work of placing the rebel army in its position to the south continues. There are about 4000 men located south of here. The Federals have shown no sign of making immediate advance.

BANDITS HOLD SWAY IN REGION OF TEPIC.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TUCSON (Ariz.) April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Two thousand rebels passed Yago today marching against Tepic, capital city of the Territory of Tepic, where anarchy has reigned for a fortnight with ranches raided and looted and with numerous depredations.

Encouraged by the fall of Culiacan, the innumerable bandit bands operating throughout Tepic have concentrated their forces and now threaten to attack that city, while the small Federal forces in that district are moving toward Culiacan, capital of Sinaloa. The rebel command is said to be well armed with Mauser and Winchester rifles and to have three machine guns with plenty of ammunition for rifles and rapid firers.

At Mazatlan, Sinaloa, last night, the chief of police and several prominent business men were thrown into jail, the belief being that they sympathized with the rebels, the turn in this case applying to those who opposed Tirado. A house-to-house canvass has been made in Mazatlan in searching for arms in the hands of rebel sympathizers, followers of Justo Tirado, the assassinated leader, who overthrew Gen. Rentida's administration, espousing the cause of Madero, still being in control of that seaport.

REBELS ARE LOOTING CAPITAL OF SINALOA.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TUCSON (Ariz.) April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Learning that a Federal force was marching on Culiacan with the intention of attacking in an effort to recapture the capital of Sinaloa, rebel bands, followers of Chico Quinteros, until his execution yesterday, broke out again last night, looting business houses and residences, pillaging everything in sight, according to word received here today.

Advices to the offices of the Southern Pacific of Mexico state that Gen. Ramon Iturbe, who was appointed by President Madero shortly after the close of the Madero revolution to organize State troops in Sinaloa, and La Roche, a subordinate, are within fifteen kilometers of Culiacan with a force of from 300 to 400 Federals. As many rebels are declared to have left Culiacan to meet the advancing column and a battle is expected hourly.

WAR MUNITIONS FOR MADERO ARE SEIZED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MARFA (Tex.) April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Deputy United States Marshals today seized two machine guns, thirty rifles and 70,000 rounds of ammunition shipped from El Paso to the Mexican Federal garrison at Ojinaga. This is the second seizure of munitions of war at this point consigned to the Madero forces within the last three days, two machine guns, 50,000 cartridges and several boxes of war materials being taken on Sunday on orders from Marshal Nolte of San Antonio.

Ojinaga is the only Federal post in the State of Chihuahua still holding out against the rebels, and it is through that place the Madero government has been supplying its forces north of the capital with ammunition and guns, shipped across the border from Texas points.

United States Secret Service operatives, customs officials and army officers on duty here refuse to discuss this latest seizure except to say that such war materials could not go forward without a special order from President Taft. It is known here that agents of Gen. Orozco, the rebel leader, have been watching this latest consignment, tracing it from El Paso to Marfa, but it is doubted among Americans that this fact had anything to do with the seizure before it got into Mexican territory.

Scandinavian-American Steamship Was Four Hundred Miles Away When Titanic Rammed Berg.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

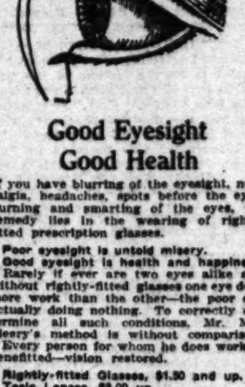
NEW YORK, April 23.—The Helig Olav of the Scandinavian-American line, which reached Hoboken last Wednesday, was 400 miles away from the Titanic on the Sunday night of the accident, according to Second Officer Frederick Mecklenburg, who was on watch that night.

Mecklenburg said today that the Helig Olav then was in latitude 41.02 and longitude 59.10, headed for this port. It would have taken twenty-six hours to reach the doomed ship, he estimated.

Wireless Operator A. F. Anderson said today that he received a wireless message from the Olympic at 12:30 o'clock Sunday night, saying that the Titanic had struck an iceberg, and that there seemed to be no danger. He never received a call for help, he declared.

FLOOD AT CAIRO RECEDES.

CAIRO (Ill.) April 23.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] After having been above the danger mark for thirty-three days, the Ohio River got back within its banks tonight when it fell below the forty-five-foot stage. Mills which at one time were under fifteen feet of water will be able to resume within a few days.



Good Eyesight Good Health

If you have blurring of the eyesight, neuralgia, headaches, spots before the eyes, burning and smarting of the eyes, the remedy lies in the wearing of rightly fitted prescription glasses.

Poor eyesight is untold misery.
Good eyesight is health and happiness.

Rarely if ever are two eyes alike and without rightly-fitted glasses one eye does more work than the other—the poor eye actually doing nothing. To correctly determine all such conditions, Mr. McCleery's method is without comparison.

Every person for whom he does work is benefitted—vision restored.

Milady's Toilet Table

By Mme. D'MILLE.

Of all the various means advised for removal of superfluous hairs from face or forearms I have found delatone paste the most effective and satisfactory. Mix a little delatone with enough water to cover the hairs; apply, and after two or three minutes wipe off, and the hairs will be gone.

Some cosmetics tend to darken and discolor the skin. Never use these. If you want a true complexion bleacher, instantaneous in effect, yet harmless and lasting, dissolve an original package of maystone in a half-pint of witch hazel and rub a little on the face, neck and arms each morning. Maystone will not come off or show like powder and keeps the skin soft, fair and youthful looking.

There always is danger of catching cold after washing the head. Dry shampooing makes hair beautifully lustrous and full of life. To make shampoo powder, put a cupful of cornmeal (or four ounces of powdered orris root) in a fruit jar and mix with it an original package of thermox. Sprinkle on head and brush out. This brushes out easily and takes with it all dirt, dandruff and excess oil.

As a result of backward spring and unseasonable weather, thousands suffer from colds. An old-fashioned remedy is Mother's Salve. In fifty years millions of jars have been used for the treatment of colds in head or chest, catarrh and ordinary cases of sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck and asthma.

BRIDGE GAME KEPT UP NERVE

Player Tells of Playing Until Titanic Was Sinking.

Brave Men Aided by Simple Ruse to Prevent Panic.

Band Music Was Key to the Terrible Situation.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, April 23.—A group of men passengers on the Titanic kept up a card game going for three-quarters of an hour after the steamer struck the iceberg, to allay the fears of women, according to George Bradley, one of the first-cabin passengers.

Bradley was playing bridge in a room far aft on the ship and felt only a slight shock from the collision.

Henry B. Harris was in another party in the same room. Bradley left and left his game to go on deck with Harris. Bradley said, found his wife, saw her safe in one of the boats and then came back to the room to which Bradley already had returned.

"He told me there was danger," Bradley said, "but for the sake of the women and children to make no stir. The orchestra struck 'Alexander's Ragtime Band,' and we went on playing cards.

"There was not a man in the game who did not realize the stake he was playing for; there was not a man who did not know what those musicians were playing for.

"They played on, played anything they had a mind to, and finally struck up 'Nearer, My God, to Thee.'

"Then we knew the time had come, and that it was no use to bluff any longer. People crowded around us and watched us play the game out, feeling that there could be no danger.

"When the old hymn sounded a different feeling possessed them. They knew that it was time to go if any one of us hoped for a chance to get off the ship.

"How any man was going to save himself none of that bunch knew. It was only a few moments on deck to realize that we were all too late for the lifeboats. 'The last ones were being lowered.'

Bradley said he ran between decks and managed to get into a boat as it was being lowered. The boat was not a bit crowded, he said, but it was not more than 100 yards from the Titanic when the steamer went down.

INSURANCE RUNS HIGH.

Estimated That Protection on Titanic, Including Life and Accident, Equals Fifteen Millions.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, April 23.—Insurance men estimate that the total losses to be paid by the various life, accident and marine companies as a result of the sinking of the Titanic will reach approximately $15,000,000. Two-thirds of this will fall upon the marine insurance companies. Several American companies which do all classes of business have been hard hit.

All the marine insurance was carried abroad, but the risk is distributed largely in this country by means of what the insurance men call "reinsurance"—that is, the company issuing the policy reinsured a part of its risk in other companies.

Insurance Field, a trade journal published here, asserts that "nowhere in the annals of insurance is there a parallel for the loss of insured life and property occasioned by the sinking of the Titanic." The journal makes the following estimates of the total loss:

Life insurance	$ 2,193,000
Accident insurance	2,213,000
Marine insurance (ship)	5,000,000
Marine insurance (cargo)	5,000,000
Total	$14,406,000

Chicago Scottish Rite Bodies Are Procuring Gorgeous Floral Offering for Titanic Heroes.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, April 23.—Fifteen hundred members of Oriental Consistory filed with bowed heads in Medinah Temple last night while they actuated in a proposition to join in forming the most beautiful floral tribute that Chicago might furnish in memory of the Titanic dead.

"Arrangements have been made," said Charles D. Warner, master of the Lodge of Perfection, "to place this floral offering with the White Star line to be taken on a ship and dropped into the sea as nearly as possible to the place where the heroes of the Titanic have found a grave."

A great wreath will be shipped to New York today.

The opinion was expressed that all the consistories in the United States will unite in this tribute, literally transporting a shipload of flowers to be cast on the sea.

"A definite list of Masons who perished has not been compiled," said Mr. Warner. "However, this act is not done by Masons for brother Masons. It is simply a tribute of Oriental Consistory to manhood."

The wreath will bear the inscription:

"At rest—Titanic."

RUSSIAN BOAT GETS CALL.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

AMSTERDAM (Holland) April 23.—Ice floes prevented the Russian steamer Birma, which left New York for Rotterdam and Libau, April 11, from reaching the Titanic in reply to the sinking liner's appeal for assistance. The Birma arrived here this morning. Capt. Stolpin said his vessel was 160 miles from the Titanic when he received the wireless call that the liner was in danger. The Birma turned toward the spot, but had to make a roundabout course owing to the presence of enormous icebergs. When the Birma reached the scene of the wreck word that the Titanic's boats had been picked up, but that the liner had sunk.

The Birma received the first call for help from the Titanic at 12:32 o'clock Monday morning. Capt. Stolpin immediately proceeded at full speed in the direction indicated, meanwhile warning boats for reacue work, but when at 8 o'clock in the morning the Birma reached the scene, she found only a few bergs. At the other side of an immense ice field she sighted a vessel which turned out to be the Titanic.

CLERGYMEN DIE HEROES.

Go Down to Their Deaths on Titanic, Whispering Words of Comfort to Other Passengers.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, April 23.—Winnowed from among many pathetic stories of the Titanic catastrophe today was a tale of two clergymen who went down with the Titanic while ministering to the stricken passengers.

One of the clergymen was the Rev. Thomas R. D. Byles of Westminster Parish, London, who was on his way to officiate at the marriage of his brother in Brooklyn, and the other a German priest whose name is unknown.

Father Byles was in the first cabin and the German priest in the steerage. Both ministers had celebrated mass in the steerage Sunday morning. The story of their deaths was related today by three women survivors of the Titanic, Ellen Mocklare, Bertha Moran and Miss McCoy.

When the liner struck the iceberg, they said Father Byles came down the steerage passageway with hand uplifted, commanding the people to be calm and giving them absolution and his blessing.

"He led us to where the boats were being lowered," said Miss Mocklare, "he meanwhile saying his prayers and helping women and children into the boats. He whispered words of comfort and encouragement to all. The passengers were deeply impressed by his self-control. Twice he refused to enter a boat to save himself."

SUGGESTS SUNKEN LEDGE.

Shipping Paper in New York Raises Point that Titanic Perhaps Hit Rocks Instead of Ice.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, April 23.—The suggestion that the Titanic struck a ledge of rock and not an iceberg is made in the current issue of the Nautical Gazette, a weekly shipping paper. The possibility of such an accident is urged because the ship struck in the same longitude as the half-submerged Virgin Rocks to the north and possibly in the same spot where the Naronic foundered in 1893.

The Titanic, it is suggested, being the deepest ship of the seas, might have hit a rock that other ships have passed over safely. The Gazette says that at least a survey of the place should be made by the United States government. Under the head of "What did she strike?" the Gazette says:

"A strange possibility arises from the coincidence in proximity of position of the Titanic and the Naronic disasters. The position where the Titanic met her doom was latitude 41.46, longitude 50.14.

"This is south of the Grand Banks, but in just about the same longitude as the dangerous semi-submerged Virgin Rocks to the north of the banks. While the banks of Newfoundland are supposed to be caused by the sands from the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the action of the gulf streams, the existence of the Virgin Rocks and even the proximity to the surface of the Georges shoals, nearer the coast, shows that even in this distant part of the Atlantic here may be submerged ledges of rock never hitherto discovered."

Our family have all tested its virtues, and even the baby of four asks for it when he has a pain from indigestion.

REWARDED—NOT BRIBED.

Duff-Gordon Merely Told Crew He Would Make It All Right if They Did Their Share of Rowing.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, April 23.—A. L. Solaman and C. E. H. Stengel, who were rescued from the Titanic in the boat in which Sir Cosmo Duff-Gordon and his wife, Lady Duff-Gordon, also escaped, said last night that the boat really was the captain's dingy and that instead of being nearly empty it was loaded to the gunwale with twelve persons.

In answering a statement made by Robert Hopkins, a seaman on the Titanic, that offers of a handsome payment had been made to the seamen by a "millionaire" on the boat if they would lose no time in leaving the Titanic, they declared that Sir Cosmo Duff-Gordon after the Titanic had sunk, had told the men that he would make it all right with them if they would do their share of the rowing and keep a sharp lookout for another ship.

They said the offer was merely a reward to the crew of the boat and not a bribe to escape from the Titanic.

When the boat reached the Carpathia, they added, Sir Cosmo gave each of the men either a banknote or a check.

WOMAN SURVIVOR WEDS.

NEW YORK, April 23.—One of the survivors of the Titanic disaster, Mary Roth of London, was married today to Daniel Oles in St. Vincent Hospital. As children the couple had played together in London, and Oles came to this country to start in business. When he succeeded, he sent for his sweetheart. Mrs. Frederick W. Vanderbilt was among the many prominent persons who witnessed the ceremony.

Santa Monica.

LOS ANGELES WOMAN LEAPS FROM PIER INTO THE SEA.

SANTA MONICA, April 23.—The municipal pier was the scene of a near-suicide this afternoon, when Mrs. James E. Lavelle of No. 2215 Garnett avenue, Los Angeles, threw herself from the pier into the sea. She walked slowly from the shore toward the deep water end of the structure. When about 1000 feet from shore she suddenly climbed over the guard rail and leaped into the breakers. Fortunately her jump was witnessed by fishermen who were on the pier and with promptness they threw her a line and life buoy. Much to their surprise she grabbed the rescuing buoy and clung to it until assistance could reach her. The woman was but little the worse for her act and was taken to a sanatorium for medical treatment. She at first gave her name as Anna Gardner, which seems to have been her maiden name, and later gave her true name. She said it had seemed to her as if life no longer held any hope for her and in a fit of despair she sought to destroy herself. She said she was living apart from her husband, but has a sister and mother in Los Angeles.

ON WAR FOOTING.

Santa Monica is on a war footing tonight, for the first time during recent years. Her new military company E of the California National Guard, the baby military organization of the State—just organized to a strength of sixty-three enlisted men and two officers—indulged in its first inspection. Brig.-Gen. Wankowski was present with Col. Schreiber and their conclusion after the conclusion of the inspection was that the company promises to acquit itself with credit, should occasion arise.

Lieut. Fuqua, U.S.A., spent the afternoon inspecting the rifles, uniforms and other paraphernalia with which the company has but within a few days been equipped. Much of the equipment is old, having been in storage for two years, since the disbanding of the Anaheim organization, and as a result of Lieut. Fuqua's rigid inspection several wagon loads of moth-eaten blankets and great piles of blue uniforms have been condemned. These will be at once replaced with new ones, the remark of the lieutenant being that if the Mexican flurry develops into something really serious the local company would be ready to get into action instantly. Beyond this chance remark he declined to discuss the Mexican situation or the prospect ahead of the California National Guard for service along the southern boundary or over the line.

These lands grow winter vegetables, garden truck, deciduous fruits that pay the highest possible profits per acre. These are proven facts. Oranges have been grown on these lands for 25 years—one orange grove is two miles long. Lemons bring as high as $7 a box. Winter tomatoes grown here bring high prices in Los Angeles.

—Independent incomes are now being made from acreage in this tract. Such people as Mr. Frank Wiggins, Mr. Stoddard Jess, Althouse Bros., California Vegetable Union, California Fruit Growers' Exchange, A. B. Wollaber and others, have made profitable investments here.

—The settler on these lands has the opportunity to take advantage of the Owens River water, can have electricity, can have natural gas within a year, will ride to Los Angeles in electric cars in 90 days and is connected with Los Angeles by two magnificent boulevards.

OUR NO CASH PAYMENT PLAN MAKES IT EASY.

It is as much our purpose to help the purchaser put in his crops and other improvements, as it is to sell the land. Our no cash payment plan means that actual settlers, who will spend $2000 or more, in imediate bona fide improvements, will not be required to make a cash payment for one year. Such an easy way to buy acreage has never been offered you before. We can do it because we know the value of the land. If you want to get well started on your way to an independent income—strike now—invest in these lands.

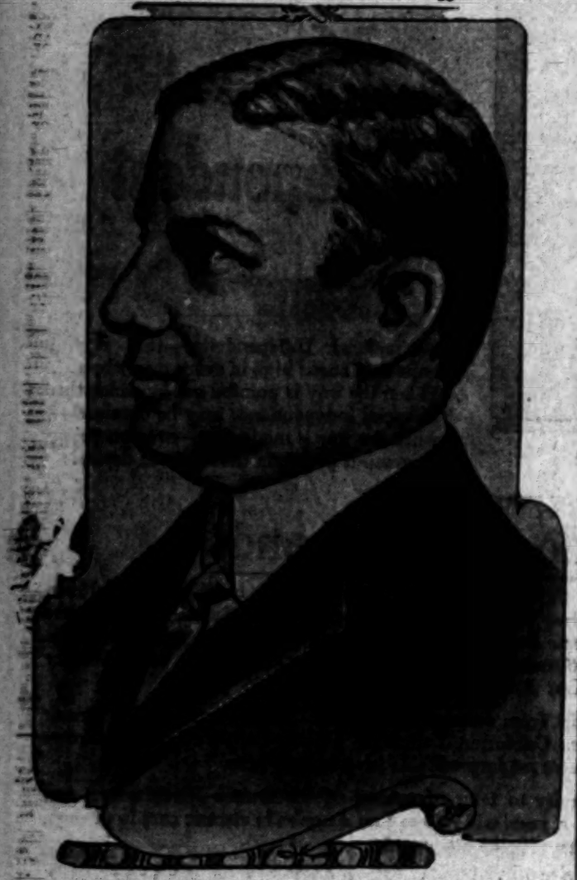
Highest American Official.



Philip A. S. Franklin,

Vice-president of White Star Line, who, with J. Bruce Ismay, yesterday asked the Senate investigating committee to allow them to return to New York, but the request was peremptorily refused.

TITANIC INQUIRY.

will be no hippodroming or commercialising of it. I will not permit it."

An amateur photographer managed to slip past the guard later, but was ejected summarily when he sought to get a snap of the scene.

J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the International Mercantile Marine, and Vice-President P. A. S. Franklin of the White Star line, urgently requested the committee to permit them to return to New York.

In the executive session the committee declined to allow either to leave Washington until he is no longer needed. Mr. Ismay was to have been recalled to the witness stand today, but may be recalled tomorrow, though this has not been determined.

It was decided to call no more passenger witnesses until all the British witnesses are heard.

WILL CHANGE LAWS.

Members of the committee were today convinced that the hearing would require many days. In the opinion of Senator William Alden Smith, the chairman, and many of his colleagues, so much has already been learned from the examination of but a few witnesses that it is incumbent upon them to get all possible information from every person who can enlighten the committee.

That the facts already disclosed point out inadequacy in marine regulation, they are convinced, and that the whole story, when told, will form the basis for new maritime laws and lead to international conferences entirely revising ocean steamship transportation they do not doubt.

The committee had planned to recall to the witness stand today Fourth Officer Boxhall of the Titanic, who revealed the startling fact yesterday that an unknown ship was sighted about five miles from the Titanic long before she went to the bottom. This was the first time anything had been told of the ship, which failed to catch the distress signals and steamed away leaving the Titanic to her fate.

When the inquiry was resumed, however, it was announced that Boxhall was ill, and could not be heard further at this time. J. Pittmann, third officer of the ship, was then called to the stand.

Owing to the great confusion caused by the rush of the crowds to the hearing and the constant interruptions during the questioning of witnesses, the Senate Committee determined today to exclude the general public. To accomplish this the hearing was transferred to a smaller room in the Senate office building. Only witnesses, those particularly interested in the inquiry, and reporters were admitted.

The change caused disappointment to thousands, most of them women, who crowded about the corridor leading to the marble caucus rooms.

There were loud protests and hundreds remained about the building clamoring for admittance.

TELLS OF BOAT DRILLS.

Third Officer Pittmann told of his experiences during seventeen years on the seas.

"Were you present during the trial tests of the Titanic?" asked Senator Smith.

"Yes, sir; I was on the bridge most of the time."

The witness said the tests consisted of steaming in circles and in performing other evolutions and in adjusting compasses.

"Were there any trials for speed?" he was asked.

"No, sir; I believe they have no such tests on the White Star Line."

"Tell the committee the circumstances of the departure from Southampton."

"We left Southampton at 12:15 p. m. Wednesday, April 10. Nothing extraordinary happened except breaking the moorings of the New York caused by the backwash from our starboard propellor. We got clear and proceeded to Cherbourg after a half-hour delay."

The witness said boat drills always were held at Southampton and in Queenstown. The Titanic's drill in Southampton, he said, consisted of lowering and lifting two boats.

"The drill was to satisfy the British Board of Trade," he said. "We lowered the boats, sailed around the harbor and then returned to the ship."

The witness said it was customary aboard ship to have boat and fire drills every Sunday. In the Southampton drill, Pittmann said that approximately eight men went in each boat.

"Then only sixteen men participated in this drill?" suggested Senator Smith.

"Yes, sir."

"Was there any fire drill on the Titanic after she left Southampton?"

"No, sir; none."

PITTMANN SAW NO ICE.

"Were you on the bridge Saturday or Sunday preceding the accident?" asked Senator Smith.

"Oh, yes; part of the time, Saturday afternoon from 12 to 4," said Pittmann.

"See any icebergs?"

"No, sir."

"Did you hear anything about ice Saturday?"

"No, sir."

"Did you hear anything about a wireless message about icebergs?"

"Yes, I did, either Saturday night or Sunday morning when Mr. Boxhall put it on the chart." Pittmann replied.

"Did you talk with Boxhall or Murdock or Lowe regarding the proximity of the Titanic to ice?"

"I did not, sir."

"Did you talk to the captain?"

"It's not my place to talk to the captain?"

"Did he talk to you about it?"

"No."

Asked if he saw any ice on Sunday, Pittmann said he did not. The fact that the temperature was lower, he said, would not indicate the proximity of ice. The witness said virtually the only way to discover the proximity of icebergs was to see them.

"Then you are convinced there is no other way of telling?" asked the Senator.

"There is no other way. Some may hold that there are numerous ways, but they have never been demonstrated."

TEMPERATURE TESTS.

Senator Smith asked Pittmann if he knew the temperature tests of the water were made every two hours on the Titanic's voyage from Southampton.

"Yes, sir; it was the custom."

"It was more than a custom, was it not? Was it not an attempt to discover the nearness of ice?"

"Not that I know of, sir."

"Did you see the quartermaster on the Titanic test the water?"

"No, but I saw him preparing to do it several times," replied Pittmann.

"You say the fourth officer reported ice Saturday night and marked it on the chart with a cross. Was this mark on the chart on or near the ship's course?"

"As near as I recollect, it was north of our course."

"Did you see any ice Monday?"

"Yes. When I was in the lifeboat going to the Carpathia I saw several icebergs. There may have been half a dozen of them."

"Were these bergs high above the water?"

"About fifteen feet above the water."

"Did you hear anything about a warning by the Californian that ice was in the vicinity?"

"No, sir."

"You heard nothing whatever, either, from Second Officer Lightoller or the captain, when you were on the bridge that night?"

"No, sir."

LOOKOUT FOR ICE.

The witness said the Titanic had been keeping a special lookout for ice on the fatal Sunday. He said it was done because Capt. Smith had been "warned" ice was near.

"Who warned him?" inquired Senator Smith.

"I don't know, sir."

"Well, who told you that he had been warned? Were you told that before the disaster or afterward?"

"I cannot remember who told me, and I think it was after the wreck."

"Can you tell what speed the ship was making Sunday evening?"

"About twenty one and one-half knots an hour."

"Was that pretty good speed?"

"No, nothing to what we expected her to do."

"How much did you expect?"

"We thought she could reach twenty-four."

"Were you trying to reach twenty four?"

"No; because we did not have the coal for that."

Pittmann said he was on the bridge from 6 to 8 o'clock Sunday night and then had gone to his berth.

Asked again about the iceberg warnings, Pittmann said he did not hear about Lightoller's warning to Murdock about ice near the ship.

"We talked about it among ourselves Sunday night. Lightoller remarked that we should be near ice about his watch."

"Were you all agreed to that?"

"I didn't say anything about it. I wasn't interested in it. I can't remember who was present. I heard the remark passed. That was all."

Senator Smith inquired on what basis the witness figured the Titanic was making 21½ knots an hour. Pittmann said by the log and by the revolutions, which were about seventy-five.

"Did the ship travel faster than that at any time prior to the accident?" he was asked.

"No, sir; I think not."

The witness said he left his cabin about 11:50 o'clock Sunday night just after the collision.

VERY LITTLE IMPACT.

"There was very little impact," he said. "I was half-asleep and half-awake and I wondered sleepily where we were anchoring. I walked out on deck after three or four minutes and saw nothing.

"Then I returned, lighted my pipe and dressed leisurely, for it was near time for my watch. Just as I finished dressing, Mr. Boxhall came up and I asked what was the matter. He said: 'We have struck an iceberg.'

"I went on deck again and met Sixth Officer Moody. I asked him if he had seen the iceberg and he said 'No,' but there was ice on his deck. To satisfy myself I went forward and saw ice.

"Then I walked back and saw a flock of firemen coming up. I asked what was the matter. They said: 'There's water in the hatch.' I looked downward and say water flowing over the hatch.

"Then I went up on deck and met a man in a dressing gown, who said to me: 'Hurry, there's no time for fooling!' Then I went to the boats."

"Did you know who that man was?"

"Not then; I do now."

"Who was he?"

"Mr. Ismay. Later this man told me to get the women and children in the boats. I lowered one of them. Mr. Ismay came to the boat and helped me. I put in quite a number of them and a few men. Then I called for more women, but there were none to be seen. Then I stepped back on the ship again and Officer Murdock told me to get in the boat and row around to the after gangway. I thought that was the thing to do, because I expected to bring all of the passengers back to the ship again."

There were five members of the crew on the lifeboat commanded by Pittmann, who testified that he carried forty of the passengers. He said his boat did not have lights, although the regulations of the British Board of Trade compelled it.

Pittmann said the women behaved "splendidly," and that all of them wanted to help in rowing to keep themselves warm. He said his boat was some distance from the Titanic when she went down.

CRIES OF DISTRESS.

"How did she sink?" asked Senator Smith.

"She settled by the head and then suddenly she got on end and dived right straight down."

Pittmann was asked if he heard any cries of distress.

"Oh, yes."

"What?"

"Crying, shouting, moaning."

"In the water?"

"Yes, from the water."

"Did you hear any explosion?"

"Yes, sir; four. They sounded like big guns in the distance."

"What were these explosions?"

"I think they were the bulkheads, sir. The explosions followed the dive of the ship almost immediately."

"Do you believe the boilers exploded?"

"I do not, and I was near enough to the ship to know."

Pittmann said when the watertight door lever on the bridge was operated those on the bridge did not know whether the doors were closed or not.

"Do you think the watertight compartments were already locked securely?"

"Yes, I do; the locks were operated from the bridge by the officer. I didn't see him lock the doors, but Boxhall did. I saw the doors operated at Belfast and they worked perfectly."

"Did you, while you were lying on your oars, see any lights aside from those on the Carpathia and the other lifeboats?"

"Yes. We saw a light on the horizon—a white light. We did not follow it. It might have been one of our own boats."

Senator Fletcher asked if a notice of icebergs was put on the bulletin board in the officers' quarters.

"I think not," said Pittmann. "All I remember is the indication of icebergs placed on the chart by Officer Boxhall."

The witness said they had the exact position of the iceberg at the time and that it was some distance from the Titanic's course. The information, he said, came in a Marconigram "from some ship."

"Do you know whether any ship log books were saved?"

"None, sir. We had something else to think about besides log books."

Senator Fletcher brought out the fact that when the collision occurred the Titanic was going at the greatest speed attained during the trip, even though the ship was entering the Grand Banks and had been advised of the presence of ice.

"You say you were going at 21½ knots an hour at the time of the accident?" inquired Senator Fletcher.

"Yes, sir. We left Southampton under about 20½ knots, which was increased to 21 and later to 21½," said Pittmann.

"Then when the Titanic crashed into the iceberg it was going at top speed?" inquired the Senator.

"I suppose so, sir."

"Do you believe that if the Titanic had had searchlights these might have revealed the proximity of the icebergs?"

"I think so, possibly," said Pittmann.

"Was there a fire in the coal hold of the Titanic after leaving Southampton?"

"That's the first I've heard of it," said Pittmann.

"Do you know of any reason why the speed of the Titanic was not reduced after the warning of ice?"

"No, but it is not customary to reduce speed."

"Do you know of your own knowledge of orders being given to draw the fires from the boilers?"

"No, sir;"

Pittmann said the ship reversed its engines immediately after striking the berg and was brought to a standstill. She remained practically stationary until she went down.

The life and death struggles of the victims of the Titanic disaster were pictured by Pittmann.

"I heard no cries of distress until after the ship went down," he said.

PASSENGERS PROTESTED.

"How far away were the cries from your lifeboat?"

"Several hundred feet, probably, some of them. I told my men to get the oars out and pulled toward the wreck that we might be able to save a few more. The persons in my boat demurred. They said it would be a mad idea."

"Did any one in your boat urge or appeal to go back toward the wreck?"

"No, not one."

"Did any woman urge you to go back?"

"No."

"Who demurred, the men with the oars?"

"Oh, no; they obeyed my orders, and all the passengers said it was a mad idea to go back, that we should add another forty to the list of drowned. Then we took in the oars and lay quiet.

"Describe the screams."

"Don't, sir, please! I'd rather not talk about it."

"I'm sorry to press it, but what was it like? Were the screams intermittent or spasmodic?"

"It was one long, continued moan."

The witness said the moans and cries continued an hour and that he made no effort to go to the rescue.

"You drifted near the drowning persons and made no effort to give them aid?" asked Senator Smith, in surprise.

"Please, sir, don't!" pleaded Pittmann. "I can't bear to recall it. I wish we might not discuss the scenes."

"I have no desire to lacerate your feelings," said Senator Smith, "but we must know whether you drifted there without offering aid. Answer that and I shall press you no more."

"I did, sir," answered the witness.

"Did you ever hear anything of a boat known as the Hellig Olav?" suddenly asked Senator Smith.

"No, I did not. There may be a boat of that name," said Pittmann.

The Olav docked in New York April 17, and is reported to have encountered an iceberg near where the Titanic sank. It has been suggested that the Olav may have been the boat whose lights Fourth Officer Boxhall saw, and which he ineffectually tried to signal with distress rockets.

LOOKOUT TESTIFIES.

At this point the witness was excused, and Frederick Fleet called to the stand. Fleet, who was the lookout in the crow's nest of the steamship Titanic, testified that on Sunday night some time after 10 o'clock he reported a black mass of ice ahead to the officers on the bridge. How long this was before the collision the lookout could not say.

Fleet told the committee that there were no lookout glasses in the Titanic's crow's nest after leaving Southampton. If he had had glasses, he said, he could have seen the iceberg enough sooner to have escaped it. He said glasses were furnished the lookout from Belfast to Southampton, where they were taken away.

Fleet said he took his watch at 10 o'clock Sunday night. Sailor Leigh was with him in the crow's nest, and the man he relieved told him to keep a sharp lookout for small icebergs.

"Did you see any ice?"

"Yes, at seven bells (11:30 p.m.) I reported a black mass ahead."

"How long before the collision did you report ice ahead?"

"I've no idea."

"About how long?"

"I could not say."

"What did you do when you saw the iceberg?"

"I sounded three bells and then telephoned to the bridge that there was an iceberg ahead," replied Fleet.

He got a prompt response to his ring, he said, and the report was not delayed. Shortly after the incident he and Leigh were relieved.

"Was it five minutes or an hour before the collision that you saw the iceberg?" demanded Senator Smith in exasperation.

"I don't know, sir," said the witness obdurately.

"I wish you would tell the committee whether you apprehended danger when you sounded these signals."

"All I have to do in the nest is to ring the bell, and if we think there is danger we telephone," said Fleet.

BERG "PRETTY CLOSE."

"Then you did think there was danger when you rang the bell?"

"I thought the berg was pretty close, but it didn't seem so large when I first saw it."

"How large then?"

"About the size of two big tables. But it got larger as we went along, and when we struck it, it was about fifty or sixty feet high above the water."

"After you gave that telephone signal was the ship stopped?"

"No, sir; she did not stop until after we struck the iceberg, but she started to go to port after I telephoned."

"Where did the iceberg strike the ship?"

"On the starboard bow, about twenty feet from the stem," Fleet answered.

Fleet said that when the collision came there was little impact and "just a sharp, grinding noise."

Fleet then told of the launching of lifeboat No. 6, which he and Quartermaster Hichens took charge of until picked up by the Carpathia. Three male passengers and twenty-five women were in the boat.

"We had orders to pull for a light off the Titanic's port bow," said Fleet, "but we couldn't get to her. At one time she was abreast of us, but she slipped by."

"Were there any other lights ahead when you were in the crow's nest before the collision or after it?"

"No, sir; we didn't see the light off the port bow until after we were in the lifeboat. The lookouts who relieved Leigh and me are said to have reported the light of a vessel."

"What was the color of the light you were pulling for?"

"White."

PUECHEN TELLS OF ALARM.

Senator Smith called to the stand Maj. Arthur Puechen of Toronto, a passenger on the Titanic, who was ordered to man one of the lifeboats by Second Officer Lightoller.

Puechen was the first passenger witness to appear before the committee. All ten of his friends with whom he was traveling lost their lives in the wreck. The major told of the trip and said:

"There was no mention of fire and we were all pleased with the trip until the crash came. After 11 o'clock I went to my stateroom. I scarcely was undressed when I felt a shock. I thought merely that a large wave had struck the ship.

"I put on my coat and went up on deck. I met a friend who said: 'We've struck an iceberg.' After a few minutes I went to other friends and said it wasn't serious. Fifteen minutes later I showed Charles M. Hays of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railroad the ice. Then I noticed the boat was listing. I said to Mr. Hays: 'She's listing; she shouldn't do that.' He said: 'Oh, I don't know. This boat can't sink.' He had a good deal of confidence and said: 'No matter what we have struck, she's good for eight or ten hours.'

"I went back to the cabin deck and met men and women coming up looking very serious. I met my friend Beattie and asked him what was the matter. Beattie said to me: 'The order is for the lifeboats—it is serious.' I couldn't believe it at first, but went to my cabin and changed to some heavy clothes."

The witness said when he got on deck the boats were being prepared for lowering on the port side.

"The women came forward one by one, many accompanied by their husbands. They would only allow women. Men had to stand back. No men passengers got in that boat."

"Did you see any man attempt to get in?"

"No. I was surprised that the sailors were not at their posts, as they should have been. I have seen fire drills and the action of the sailors did not impress me.

"When we got to the next boat a quartermaster and a sailor were put in and the boat then was filled with women. We called out for more women and some would not leave their husbands."

Maj. Peuchen said that in the lifeboat the quartermaster in charge made a woman row while he held the tiller, steering for a light, which the major declared did not exist so far as he could see. The quartermaster refused to turn about and attempt to pick up survivors, said the witness.

"Did the women row in the boats?"

"Yes, and they were plucky about it, too. They worked with a will. One helped me until she became ill from the hard work and was forced to cease."

MRS. CLARK A HEROINE.

"Do you know who those women were?"

Maj. Peuchen said Miss E. A. Norton, Acton Lane, London; Mrs. Walter Clark, Los Angeles; Mrs. Lucien M. Smith, Huntington, W. Va.; Mrs. Cavendish, New York; Mrs. Walter Douglas, Minneapolis, and Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Burnham, Denver, were among others in the boat, many of whom handled oars.

Maj. Peuchen said the impact was so slight that some of the passengers were not awakened. He said no alarm was sounded. Two young women, he said, whose stateroom was close to that of Col. John Jacob Astor, were awakened by Mrs. Astor, who had them on deck.

"Did you see Mr. Ismay that night?" asked Senator Smith.

"I think I did. He was standing on the port side of the boat deck about an hour after we struck. I did not see him again until he came aboard the Carpathia."

The major said there was still room in some boats which left from the port side, and he could not understand why more men were not taken off.

"The Carpathia steamed all around the scene of the wreck and we did not see a single body," the major said.

"It seems strange to me, as I should think the life belts would have held up the bodies, dead or alive, for four or five hours."

He said he was certain none could have lived in the icy water more than an hour.

"Several who were on the upturned boat and were rescued who had their feet in the water," he said, "kept themselves alive by clutching each other. Their feet were frozen."

Maj. Peuchen read a statement in order to make clear his position, as follows:

"I do not criticise Capt. Smith, but I do criticise the policy and methods pursued by the company, for I feel sure that in this case caution would have averted a terrible calamity."

Publishers of Western Empire Magazine Offer Their Greatest Opportunity—In Foothills Near Los Angeles.

LOS ANGELES, April 23.—The opportunity of this hour is offered in what is the tenth land-banking and home-securing project managed by the publishers of the Western Empire Magazine, in the Chamber of Commerce Building.

Four hundred acres have been secured between Glendale and Crescenta, at the junction of the three most beautiful residence valleys, and an abundant supply of water already developed. In conjunction with the Glendale and Eagle Rock Railway Company those who are interested in the new section should be developed by immediate population, these 400 acres will be opened through a public syndicate known as the Verdugo Home Buyers' Club, consisting of several hundred families and investors.

Every member of the project, either as investor or home maker, participates immediately in the land profits derived from transforming the bare acres into beautiful home sites. We have proven in our past nine projects that you can easily make the land profits at this syndicate earn you a home site in the protected balmy foothills. Our booklet gives full details of this magnificent undertaking and vital information to investors and home buyers about the true source of land profits and how to participate in them. The booklet is free.

The auto trip to the land will prove a revelation to you, as it is a naturally formed town site to which three magnificent little residential valleys are tributary, making a future predetermined similar to Pasadena or Monrovia and comparable in scenic grandeur to Redlands. You must see this spot; you will see it some time later anyhow, and today the opportunity is poen, but of course the syndicate books will close soon and then you'll have to buy on the retail basis.

No free rides—fare 50 cents round trip.

Call for booklet or write.

Over $200,000.00 will be paid to the 11,000 or more Los Angeles Investment Company stockholders on May 15th. This is the regular quarterly cash dividend of the biggest dividend-paying corporation in its line in the world.

For years and years this Company has been a money-maker for its stockholders. Its dividend record from operations in the real estate and investment field is unequalled. Fairness, honesty and economy have been the foundation stones of its remarkable success.

The Company holds today over 3200 acres of land developed or ready to develop—all choice property in or adjacent to Los Angeles. On a recent appraisement made by Robert Marsh, W. W. Mines and C. F. W. Palmer, three leading realty men, it was shown that this real estate was carried on the Company's books at over $3,400,000.00 under its value. Based on the ownership of land, the future success of this Company depends on the success of Los Angeles. And that is sure.

With the continued growth of this marvelous Southwest city, with the ever increasing population and rising land values, an investment of $100 in Los Angeles Investment Company stock is today as good an investment as it was 16 years ago.

Bank Holds "Money Back" Fund

The Globe Savings Bank of Los Angeles has over $100,000.00 ready to buy Los Angeles Investment Company stock from those who wish to sell. This is the Guarantee Fund. It has invariably returned, on demand, to every stockholder in the Los Angeles Investment Company, his money in full. To date this fund has purchased over $1,000,000.00 worth of stock, buying every share offered to it. During the panic of 1907, the Guarantee Fund paid cash for every share of Los Angeles Investment Company stock handed it for sale. The money is ready—$100,000.00. If you want your money back take or mail your stock certificate to the Globe Savings Bank.

No investor in the Los Angeles Investment Company or in any of its securities has ever failed to have his investment returned to him in full on demand. This is a record of over 16 years.

A Dividend for You

Every share of Los Angeles Investment Company stock purchased before the close of business, Tuesday, April 30th, will receive the sixty-fifth quarterly cash dividend, payable on May 15th—Wednesday. One dollar starts you. Begin today.

If you had started with $10 when this Company was organized in Los Angeles sixteen years ago, and had added only $10 each month, you would be worth today, with dividends reinvested, $45,868.88. You would be able to draw $3,250.00 a year in dividends and you would have an investment increasing $4,650.00 a year in value.

There's a big lesson in that for you—read that statement twice, then act.

Celebrated Specialists DRS. SHORES Twenty Years Experience

EVERY sick person is vitally interested in knowing the exact nature of their disease, and the probabilities of a permanent cure. It is presumed that if you are sick you are taking medical treatment. Does your doctor tell you frankly what your trouble is, or does he evade your questions? Does he know how to treat your troubles and give you relief? Or does he experiment with first one thing and then other? Are you getting results from his treatment or do you stay the same or get worse? Answer these questions for yourself—look at the matter in a strictly business light. You are paying for a cure; but what are you getting for the money? Make no mistake. If you want to know all about your trouble—what it is, if and how it can be cured, what it will cost—DRS. SHORES & SHORES offer a FREE medical examination, and free advice, to all who apply THIS WEEK. Begin treatment now and get cured.

WE TREAT ALL CHRONIC DISEASES.

Drs. Shores not only treat Catarrh, but they treat Nervous Diseases, Kidney and Liver Diseases, Bladder Troubles, Heart Diseases, Rectal Diseases, Nervous Debility, Skin and Blood Diseases, Asthma, Consumption, Chronic Bronchial and Lung Troubles, Sciatica, Rheumatism, Hay Fever, Neuralgia, Hysteria, Deafness, Ear Diseases, Goitre, Epilepsy, La Grippe, Varicocele, etc., and all forms of Nervous, Chronic and Private Diseases that are curable. Modern Offices, up-to-date appliances and treatment, Electricity, etc.

Dr. A. J. Shores Dr. G. W. Shores

CATARRH, DEAFNESS AND EAR NOISES.

Why not try the treatment that cures? We have published many testimonials from well-known and reliable people who have been cured of Catarrh, Asthma, Deafness and Ear Noises. If you suffer from any Chronic Ailments, why not come and see the Doctors who cure?

Blight of a Bad Breath.

Do people shun you because you have an offensive breath? Certain forms of catarrh, commonly called "cases" or dry catarrh, have a very offensive odor.

LIVER

Troubles, Constipation, Sallow Complexion, Nausea, Lassitude, Sick Headaches, etc., quickly and cheaply cured.

Kidney

Troubles, Pain in Back, Burning or Smarting when urinating, Puffiness under the Eyes. Heed these warnings. Bring a sample of urine and have it tested free.

Chronic Diseases a Specialty

Drs. Shores have spent many years in the study and treatment of Catarrh, Chronic, Nervous and Private Diseases of Men, Women and Children. They have treated over 100,000 cases in the past twenty years, an experience rarely ever granted any specialists, and have gleaned therefrom information that is invaluable to sick people. They would not attempt to treat Scarlet Fever or Diphtheria at any price, not because they don't know how, but because they have not given it the thought and constant study that other doctors have, and, in short, it is not in their line of specialties. Every moment is given to the study of Catarrh, Consumption, Chronic, Nervous and Private Diseases. There is where they excel, and there is where they can serve you better than most anyone else. Don't be a permanent invalid.

They know what causes Catarrh. They know how to cure it. They know what causes Stomach Trouble. They know how to cure it, instead of merely relieving it. They have studied the Liver, the Kidneys, the Ears, the Throat, the Lungs, and Private Diseases, and they know what to do for these troubles. Drs. Shores are regular Graduates and Licensed Physicians and are Strictly Reliable.

Highest Salaried Man in His Line in the World Tells Club Members the Real Secrets of the Success of Publicity — Weekly Luncheon's Features.

That it requires no state occasion to attract the full membership of the Advertising Club of Los Angeles, was demonstrated at that organization's weekly luncheon at Levy's yesterday, when more than 200 of the Bigger Business Boosters sat down at noon to enjoy their meal while addressed by half a dozen clever speakers.

On the mental menu were Capt. Fredericks, Dr. Brougher, W. E. Chamberlain, A. E. Flower of San Diego, E. E. Berg of Fresno, and Thomas Balmer of Chicago, student of advertising and director of advertising for the Woman's World, a magazine of 2,000,000 circulation edited by Herbert Kaufman, a regular Sunday contributor to The Times. For good measure, S. W. Botsford, president of the club, and William G. Adams of Coulter's, chairman of the feast, offered a side line of bright business gab.

Balmer is credited with being the highest-salaried advertising man in the world. When he had talked for fifteen minutes his auditors knew why.

When Balmer opened his advertising agency in Chicago twenty years ago he was alone in that city in his line. Chicago now has a club of forty of the brainiest men in the business, representing eastern publications, alone. That is one of the reasons that Balmer chose as his subject, "The Past, Present and Future of Advertising." He did not give a historical sketch. He is not the type to worry a lot about ancient history. He talks in epigrams that are like headlines printed in red ink. When he states a fact it resembles the sort of knock-out punch that a white hope ought to have. When he opens his mouth an idea leaps into light.

"Success," he said, "is a quality and not a quantity. Discontent is the only sane order of mind. A man who will devise one plan and stay by that alone, never thinks again from the time he adopts the one idea.

"No newspaper or magazine ought to accept the advertisement of a quitter. A man who is only going to do 25 per cent. of the advertising his business requires and who will carry it only half of the time necessary to reap the accrued results is on his way to the dead letter office. An advertiser has a right to demand circulation, and he ought to take no word for it other than the figures in the case.

"Business failures are made by insufficient capital, incompetency, and inattention. The same three conditions presage the failure of the inefficient advertiser. Wise advertising takes cognizance of competing forms. Wise advertising avoids duplication. If the advertiser would not repeat to his audience, the newspapers of a community would get as much out of him and he would get more out of the public. Advertising addresses impossibilities, possibilities and the dead sures. It ought to stick to the possibilities.

"Nothing is more fallacious than the frequent misstatement that the public pays for advertising. The cost of advertising belongs to the working capital of every business because wise advertising cuts the overhead charges by a bigger percentage than is required to pay for it. National advertising shows that 74 per cent. of advertising is quality and not quantity.

"The men who once sold goods with a drink and a cigar are now mostly dead. Goods are sold today by facts presented by trained minds."

Dr. Brougher said he believes in advertising religion with a smile instead of a long face, and that it is always legitimate to create an appetite for a good thing.

Capt. Fredericks said California already has enough laws to enforce honest advertising, if these laws are obeyed.

Flower, as president of the San Diego club, said the advertising men there have already elected seven delegates to accompany the big Los Angeles delegation to the annual national convention at Dallas, May 10.

Berg recommended Raisin Day, which is next Tuesday, to the generosity of local boosters.

Chamberlain offered a running fire of comment serving as safeguards to the man who wants to advertise honestly and get results. He thinks it bad business for a firm to use as its head-liner a large percentage of discount too often, as no house can live long if it sells goods at enormous cut rates, and the public must be credited with knowing as much.

SEARCH FOR ACCOMPLICE.

No Clew Found by Police Pointing to Identity of Man Who Helped Would-Be Car Robber.

Up to a late hour yesterday the detectives had not secured the slightest clew that would assist in the identification or apprehension of the accomplice of B. L. Dickover, a West Washington street car robber.

When they became satisfied that the man did not work alone, a dragnet was thrown out for his partner. Dickover, who was transferred from the University to the Central Police Station yesterday, refused to discuss his case except to reiterate a statement made shortly after his arrest Monday night that he attempted to derail and rob the car because he was in need of money. The identification bureau has taken the man's measurements and is now investigating to learn whether he has a record in another city.

D. Rogers is the motorman and H. Ruempolham the conductor of the car Dickover attempted to derail. The car was east-bound on West Washington street when Rogers saw a long piece of pipe lying on the rails near the La Salle avenue intersection. Just before he brought his car to a stop he heard eight or nine pistol shots. It is the belief of the police that they were fired by Dickover's accomplice in an effort to intimidate the car crew and passengers. Dickover was not armed.

Ignoring the shots, not knowing then whether they were intended for him, Rogers got off his car and was in the act of removing the pipe when a man, who afterward proved to be Dickover, appeared at his side, pushed him away, and picked up the obstruction himself. The man rushed to the rear end of the car and attempted to assault the conductor. The latter fought back, and, assisted by several passengers, overpowered him. He was held on the car until the University police could be notified.

Although a corps of patrolmen and plainclothesmen searched the vicinity of the attempted hold-up for several hours after Dickover's arrest, no trace was found of his accomplice. The man will probably be arraigned in the Police Court today or tomorrow.

Dickover refused to explain to the detectives why he attempted to derail the car before trying to rob the crew and the passengers.

PRESSMAN SLAYS HIMSELF.

Despondent Because He Could Not Get a Position Harry Miller Shoots Himself in Head.

Forsaking hope of obtaining employment as quickly as he desired, Harry Miller, a cylinder pressman long out of work, shot himself through the head with a 45-calibre revolver at his home, No. 134 North Avenue Eighteen, last night after convincing himself that the last mail carrier had left no encouraging answers to his applications for a job in a printing office.

Early in the evening Miller telephoned to a large publishing house and inquired if there was any chance for a pressman and upon being informed that there were no openings just at this time, the despondent man informed his wife that he was going out to take a short walk. Returning to his home an hour later, Miller told his wife to go to the dining-room and that he would follow later.

As soon as he found himself alone Miller took the gun in his left hand and shot himself above the left ear, the bullet ploughing through the brain and tearing a hole on the right side of the skull more than an inch in diameter. He was hurried to the Receiving Hospital where it was announced that medical skill was impotent to save his life.

Despite the terrible injury to the brain centers the dying man lingered for more than two hours before the breath finally left the body. Miller was about 35 years old and is survived by his widow.

BEATEN BY ROBBERS.

Contractor Refuses to Give Up His Cash But Loses $150 in Currency.

Refusing to give up his valuables when halted by held-up men, Charles Tucker, a contracting painter living at No. 1184 West Thirty-ninth street, was beaten into unconsciousness at the corner of Thirty-ninth street and Vermont avenue late last night and was subsequently robbed of $150 in currency.

Mr. Tucker had just left the All-Day and Night Bank where he had drawn the money to meet some accounts early and was on his way to his home when he was accosted by the robbers, who demanded his cash. In the fight which followed one of the thieves used his revolver as a club and severely wounded the contractor. Upon regaining consciousness two hours later Mr. Tucker was taken to the Receiving Hospital where his injuries were dressed. He was unable to give a description of the robbers.

MASSACHUSETTS MEETS AGAIN.

The Massachusetts Society held its first meeting of several months last night in the Walker Theater building, with an attendance of sixty. Addresses were made by The W A Lamb and others.

THIEF ROBS A JAILER.

Daring Sneak Enters Home of Henry Ditzen and Takes Considerable Money and Jewelry.

Contrary to the generally accepted notion that the thieving gentry were averse to practicing their profession upon members of the police department, burglars entered the home of Henry Ditzen, assistant jailer, No. 1006 Bartlett street, last night and stole money and jewelry valued at more than $100.

Entrance to the house was effected while Mrs. Ditzen was at the Central Station conversing with her husband. The intruders took their time in ransacking the rooms.

A child's savings bank containing about $8 together with a number of valuable rings were taken from a bureau. An old fashioned German seal ring which had been in the Ditzen family for nearly a century was not overlooked.

Arrangements had been made to take the officer's new summer uniform but the thieves apparently thought better of the idea and later tossed it to one side while making their escape through a bedroom window. Should the criminals be captured it is safe to assume that their lives at the City Jail will not be made particularly pleasureable.

AUTO MASHERS UNDER BAN.

Police Arrest Two Men Caught Flirting and Rigorous Order Is Issued to Patrolmen.

Determined to stamp out "automobile mashing" and to prevent women from being insulted while walking along the streets, Police Commissioner Akey assisted by Policemen McMann and Henderson of the University station, arrested two occupants of a touring car at the corner of Vernon and Central avenues last night while they were trying to induce two young women to go "joy-riding."

Resenting the remarks made by the rowdies, the women called for help and the driver of the machine was ordered to halt under penalty of being fired upon should he try to get away.

At the University Station the prisoners gave their names as B. L. Mills, a chauffeur, and Louis Stanley, who declined to give his address. They will be arraigned in police court by Commissioner Akey this morning at which time the young women will appear against them. Later in the night orders were issued to arrest every man caught talking to women with whom they were unacquainted and an effort will be made to jail every offender who violates the law in this respect.

ENTIRE COUNTY HONORS DEAD.

Ventura Man Is Given Signal Deference When Eight Priests Join in His Funeral Service.

OXNARD, April 23.—All of Ventura county today paid tribute to the memory of James A. Donlon, former president of the First National Bank, and prominent figure in county affairs. At the funeral, held at 10 o'clock this morning, 2000 people crowded the Santa Clara Catholic Church to its limit, and crushed together in the street outside.

All stores in the city were closed until 1 o'clock, and from every building here, and at Ventura, flags floated at half mast, in honor of his memory. Eight priests officiated viz.: Fathers J. S. Laubacher, J. O'Hara and Leo Grasse of this city; Fathers Clyne and Oleson of Vallejo, Father Prezenza of San Luis Obispo, Father Grogan of Ventura, and Father Tela of Santa Paula.

Acting as pallbearers were J. A. Driffill, Justin Petit, Frank Petit, M. McLaughlin, T. A. Rice and William Arnell. The funeral was the largest ever held in the county.

CHIVALRY NOT EXTINCT.

F. Redway, a circus performer, acted the chivalrous knight today when two Santa Paula men endeavored to force their attentions upon two bare-back riders with a circus that appeared here. The Santa Paulans, who gave their names as Dave Browning and Harry Trenton, appeared at the dressing-room tent and tried to flirt with the "queens of the arena." Becoming bold, they insisted, and Redway, who had just returned from doing a clown act, seeing the men, after telling them his opinion of them, gave them a good trouncing, single-handed.

DICKENS IMPERSONATIONS.

Dressed as characters from the works of Dickens, and giving short sketches from various scenes in his novels, members of the Oxnard Woman's Monday Club today gave one of the most interesting programmes in its history. A large number of the club women were present, and among the best impersonations were Mrs. Ed Hearne as Little Nell, Mrs. E. M. Woods as Nell's Grandfather, Mrs. Allan Backus as Nicholas Nickelby, Mrs. Korts as Mme. La Farge, Mrs. Ray Farrell as Dick Swiveller, Mrs. O. O. Emmons as the Marchioness, Mrs. J. Diefenbach as Sergt. Buz-Fuz and Mrs. McGrath as Fannie Squeers.

SAN BERNARDINO FOR TAFT.

Republicans Vociferously Cheer Every Mention of President's Name. Roosevelt Man Discards Button. Away.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN BERNARDINO, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Enthusiasm was contagious at the Taft rally which packed the opera-house tonight. The name of William Howard Taft was cheered to the echo, and before Hon. Samuel Shortridge got half way through his inspiring address he had so completely won his audience, that one man wearing a Roosevelt button put it in eclipse, and leaping on his chair cheered wildly with the other citizens present.

This was built a thrilling incident in a meeting which was full of evidence of the power which Shortridge had over his hearers. It was not the power of any mysterious spell, merely the power of the truth, which convinced and won many to the Taft standard.

Sharing honors with Shortridge were C. C. Chapman of Placentia, and Mrs. Ella Westland, of Upland, Taft delegates-at-large to the Republican convention.

Mrs. Westland was formerly a newspaper editor, and in her address tonight she displayed all the skill of one versed in the public platform. Her's is the first political address ever made in public by a woman in this county. Her's was a talk to the growers of citrus fruits. She made a strong appeal for Taft on his tariff record, showing her audience how he had stood for protection of their $50,000,000 industry, by a tariff which the Democrats and insurgents headed by Roosevelt were seeking to tear down.

The meeting was the most rousing political gatherngi held here in many years.

FIND SMOKE, OPIUM ODOR.

Chinese Doctor's Establishment Is Raided and Ten Pounds of Dope Confiscated—New Campaign.

Suspected of maintaining an opium joint in connection with his medical establishment, Dr. H. Ching, No. 716 South Hill street, was arrested by Inspectors Boden and Talbot last night, charged with smoking and having opium in his possession.

Several weeks ago the place was raided and a quantity of opium pills were confiscated. On Ching's promise to obey the law he was released.

The raiders found a complete opium outfit and the place was filled with fumes, indicating the pipes had been in use a few minutes before. Hidden in the cellar of the house was about ten pounds of yen shee, valued at $300, together with a large quantity of opium extracts. Ching was taken to the Central Police Station, where he deposited $250 cash bail for his appearance in Judge Williams's court this morning.

Warrants also were obtained yesterday for the arrest of a number of Chinese doctors who recently reopened medical establishments in defiance of the law and the State Board of Pharmacy has planned to arrest the illegal practitioners on a different charge every day until they cease business. This step will be taken to prevent the doctors from giving a small bond and continuing practice while the case is pending the courts.

The Chinese assert the business has been so profitable they could well afford to forfeit bail or pay an ordinary fine.

Under the new plan the violators of the law will be called upon to put up $250 cash for each day they remain in business and Inspector Boden hopes by this means to force them to comply with the law.

LIVED HERE THIRTY YEARS.

Woman Dies After Long Residence in Southern California—Saw This City's Great Growth.

Mrs. Loudskie P. Vosburg, wife of James O. Vosburg, No. 1201 Hoover street, died early yesterday morning after a residence of over thirty years in Southern California. Beside the widower, Mrs. Vosburg leaves a son, George W. Vosburg, who lives at the Strathmore apartments.

Mrs. Vosburg was born sixty-nine years ago in Skaneateila, N. Y. She came to California with her husband and son in 1881, settling near what is now Sierra Madre. Vosburg bought a bare cattle range, and planted oranges and grape vines, at one time working 250 acres.

The family lived on the ranch twenty-three years, when Vosburg's health broke down, and they removed to Santa Monica. They took up their residence in this city two years ago. Mrs. Vosburg was taken ill a month ago, and had been gradually growing weaker. The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Awful lot of excitement and mighty little doing. That's how it looks to us. Just the opposite system to that you find here. We're long on systematic handling of everything. You don't see anything in our store but a lot of beautiful, exclusive new fabrics, and some courteous salesmen waiting to show them to you. But upstairs, in the big shops, there's a hurry and hustle and rush, which shows that Men-Who-Know are ordering clothes. And no wonder, with such specials as we are offering.

Shock.

SEPARATED BUT IS PROSTRATED.

Wife of Arrested Clubman in State of Collapse.

Family Will Not Help Object of Grave Charges.

District Attorney May Issue Other Complaints.

The young wife of H. W. Barlow, debonair clubman and broker who was arrested yesterday upon a complaint charging him with felony embezzlement, lies prostrated by the shock at the mansion of her father, C. C. Bragdon, at No. 75 North Grand avenue, Pasadena.

Although an embezzlement complaint was issued against Barlow Monday afternoon, his wife first learned of it yesterday morning through reading the account published exclusively in The Times.

A few minutes after Mrs. Barlow read it, her father returned to the house and found his daughter in a state of collapse on the front porch. He hurriedly summoned aid and she was taken to her room suffering severely from shock and nervousness.

She left her husband over a year ago, and, taking her 3-year-old daughter, went to live with her parents.

During the past year Barlow has visited his wife and child once a week, but never remained very long. He has made his home in this city since his wife left him.

SUFFERING AND MISERY.

C. C. Bragdon, father-in-law of the accused broker, stated yesterday that he knew nothing about Barlow's financial manipulations other than what he read in The Times. He said that Barlow had caused his wife and her family great suffering and misery by his strange actions and mode of living and that he could expect no assistance from his wife's family.

The Barlow-Bragdon wedding was one of the social events of 1906, owing to the high standing of the bride and the business prominence of Barlow, then one of the leading stock brokers in this city.

He was a member of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange until three years ago, when he was expelled and his membership sold to liquidate debts of several thousand dollars. While a member of the exchange Barlow amazed his fellow-brokers by his daring in financial transactions. Three years ago the brokerage firm of Barlow and Bragdon failed. J. R. Bragdon, a member of the firm, is Barlow's brother-in-law. He is now engaged in the brokerage business in Pasadena.

LOST A FORTUNE.

Friends of Barlow say that he has been drinking heavily of late and neglected his business. He has desk room in an office in the I. W. Hellman building. Barlow is reported to have lost over $200,000 in stocks in the past six years.

He was arrested yesterday morning at his office upon a complaint charging him with the embezzlement of stock valued at $135.

Up to a late hour yesterday Barlow was unable to secure the $2500 bail fixed by Justice Summerfield and was busily telephoning from the County Jail to his friends to provide bonds. The preliminary examination will be at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. The complainant is J. A. S. Furlonge, an investment broker.

TORN TO LITTLE BITS.

Such Is Fate of Henderson Appointment to Public Service Commission Presidency.

Mayor Alexander found too much opposition to the appointment of his private secretary Henderson, to be president of the Public Service Commission, and yesterday he tore the letter to the Council, announcing the appointment, into little bits. The storm of opposition even reached into the City Council, and the Mayor had to heed it. Henderson is now slated to remain as the Mayor's private secretary.

"I don't know who to appoint," the Mayor said, the last thing yesterday afternoon before going home. "I haven't any idea."

Notwithstanding this he had Fire Commissioner Stockwell in conference for an hour. Stockwell declared that he is satisfied with his present place and does not want to change, although he knew his name had been mentioned in connection with a place on the Public Service Commission board.

"Stockwell is doing well where he is," the Mayor said, when asked whether he intends to appoint the fire commissioner.

As the matter now stands, Commissioner Davidson will vote for Commissioner Del Valle for president, Del Valle will vote for Davidson and Wellborn and Graham will vote for whoever the Mayor says. Graham said yesterday that he is not a candidate: "I am the only member of the commission, I believe, who is not a candidate," he declared, "and consider myself as what you might call the public; I'm looking on."

Former Senator Del Valle, the oldest member of the board in point of service, admits that he is a candidate for the presidency. He has the support of two members of the Council in his aspirations, and it is up to the Council to confirm whomever the Mayor may name. Hence, there is some talk of trying to prevent the confirmation until the new member of the commission to be selected shall be satisfactory to the Council. The board met yesterday but did nothing.

Come by Freight.

CALIFORNIA'S MISSIONS TO ATTEND SHRINE WEEK.

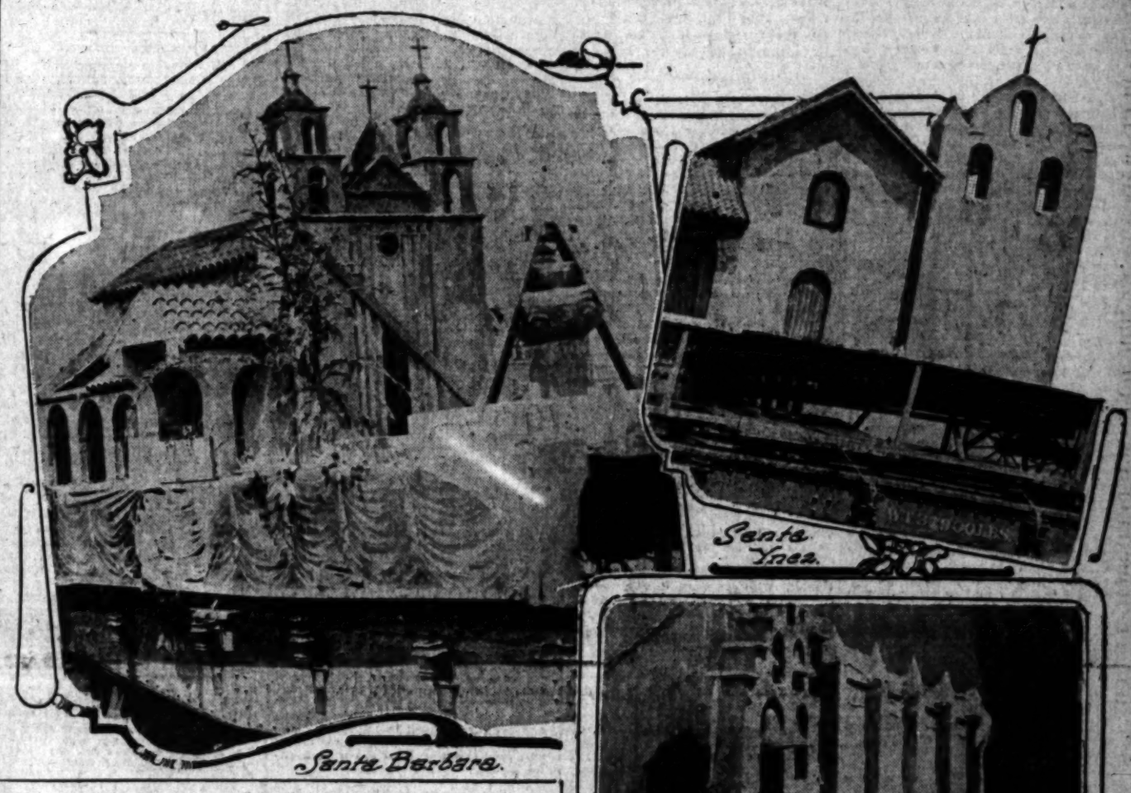
THE most remarkable trainload of freight ever received in the local yards of the Santa Fe Railway, or, perhaps, any other railway yards, arrived here yesterday morning.

It consisted of two strings of flat cars, on each of which stood a wheeled truck. On each truck stood one of California's famous missions. Or, at least, a miniature of each of the missions, reproduced as accurately as cunning artists, under the direction of one intimately familiar with every architectural detail of California's missions, could contrive. Designed by Henry Kabierske and shipped here from San Diego, where they were built, these floats will play an important part in the great Mission Pageant, which will be one of the notable events arranged for the entertainment of the visiting Shriners during the week of May 5.

For all that they are built of frail plaster and mission tile, artificially "aged," the floats arrived here in a remarkable state of preservation, considering that they were shipped in the open and that their "specials" ran almost on regular freight time. Hardly a pane is broken from the tiny windows, hardly a bell displaced from the beautifully reproduced campaniles. Such slight damage as was done will be repaired in the interim before May 9, the day of the pageant.

The realism of the spectacle will be greatly enhanced by groups of Polytechnic High School students and descendants of California families of mission days, who, in historic costumes, will accompany the floats in the parade.

The following missions are represented by the floats: San Diego de Alcala, San Luis Rey, San Juan Capistrano, San Francisco de Asis Dolores, San Carlos Borromeo, San Antonio de Padua, San Gabriel Arcangel, San Luis Obispo de Tolso, Santa Clara, San Buena Ventura, Santa Barbara, La Purisima Concepcion, Santa Cruz, La Soledad, San Jose de Guadalupe, San Juan de Baptista, San Miguel Arcangel, San Fernando Rey de Espana, Santa Ynez, San Rafael de Arcangel and San Francisco Solano.



Shipping California's Missions by Freight.

Two trainloads of trucks, each bearing a reproduction in miniature of one of the old missions, arrived in this city yesterday from San Diego. They will appear in the Mission Pageant, which is to be one of the notable spectacles of Shrine Week.

Beds Taken from Thirteen, Sleep on Floors.

Despite the veil of almost impenetrable secrecy that has been thrown around the Detention Home in an effort to suppress the facts regarding the conditions known to exist, evidence was unearthed by the police juvenile officers yesterday confirming the charge that wholesale escapes have not been checked in spite of the adoption of Russian methods in dealing with the youthful offenders.

To prevent scandal from becoming public, children of tender years have been loaded down with manacles. Girls have been thrust into bare rooms

BLESSING IS PERPLEXING.

Woman Receives Deed to Five Lots in Kansas, Supposedly Left by Father, but He's Alive.

The mail brought to Mrs. Mary E. Burch of No. 529 Wall street yesterday an abstract of title to five lots at Emporia, Kan., and a notification from the Cloud County Bank of that city that she has succeeded to the estate of her father, James McCombs.

A fortune unexpectedly dropped into her hands ought to have brought joy to Mrs. Burch, but it brought only perplexity. In the first place as an obstacle to acknowledging the gift her father is John Holms and is alive, a resident of this city.

Mrs. Burch consulted Attorney McKelvey, who was as much puzzled as she. The name and address are correct, and a search through the city directory failed to show another Mary E. Burch, who might be the rightful owner of the estate.

McKelvey will open correspondence with the Emporia bank at once to get a line on the unique bequest.

FIVE HUNDRED AUTOS WANTED FOR CHILDREN.

PLEASE fill out this coupon and mail it to May Day Joy Ride Editor of The Times:

I will contribute the use of my automobile for the May Day Joy Ride on the afternoon of May 1 and will be able to carry ——— children.

Dear Reader: If you own an automobile or have the price and the heart to rent one for a day, this open letter is to you.

As you know The Times last year inaugurated an annual May Day Festival for the children of the poor.

The plan was to give a joy ride on May Day in the nature of a grand excursion to the sea. It took better even than the Times had hoped. The joy of the children who were given the freedom and entertainment of the day was beyond all anticipation and quite beyond description.

There was another feature on which the Times had not counted but which made one of the day's big realities. It was the genuine happiness of those who contributed to the happiness of the children. The contagion of joy spread rapidly among all connected with the pleasant event. For some whose generosity made a day of gladness possible for more than a thousand children the pleasure received lingered like a fragrance which persists in memory. They never rode in their cars again without a peculiar satisfaction in remembering the joyful shouts of the children on their way to and from the beach.

This May Day Festival puts the pleasure of the day where it belongs, into the lives of children whose days are all too cheerless, but who have a great capacity for gladness. It offers grownups an opportunity to share the joys of the children in a festival that fundamentally belongs to them. It is the best opportunity that could possibly be offered, not even excepting a circus. It is superior to a circus for it gives the children a whole glorious day of freedom and riotous living and does not limit its pleasures to a few hours under a hot dusty canvas where the red lemonade is really only a sorry acid and the cornucopias are a sad delusion and a snare.

Bless you, at Venice the cornucopias will be full to overflowing with ice cream of a quality that the pure food commission would not blush to approve, the lemonade is made of the fruit of the tree and the all-day suckers are the sort of candy which fills childhood's dreams twenty-five hours of the day.

What is more, all Venice will exert itself in a joyous spontaneous effort to entertain the cheerful little savages which generous Los Angeles people will hurl upon the city by the sea on that inspiring day. The residents

No Titanic Here.

TO SAFEGUARD BOATS IN SOUTHERN WATERS.

AROUSED by the terrible loss of life attendant upon the sinking of Titanic, the county grand jury will take up tomorrow measures to safeguard passengers on boats plying in local waters. While the jurisdiction of the county inquisitors does not extend beyond the confines of the county, the excursion steamers that make the trips to the various island resorts, San Diego, etc., can be made the subject of supervision, according to an opinion rendered yesterday by Deputy District Attorney Hanna.

"I am aware that there is a Federal inspection of vessels touching at Los Angeles and other Southern California ports," said he, "but in the light of the recent disaster in the Atlantic, it seems the part of wisdom to see if our own boats are properly equipped. The season is fast approaching when Angelenos take trips up and down the Coast and to Catalina Island. We want to find out if the steamers are supplied with enough lifeboats, rafts, and other equipment. A bad collision or fire might entail the loss of hundreds of lives right in midchannel if the boat were not adequately equipped."

Subpoenas were issued yesterday for the attendance of ship-owners and sailors at San Pedro, Long Beach and other points, persons supposed to know about the craft that enter and depart from this port. It may develop that Federal inspectors will attend in order to give the result of their experiences. The session may last several days

FEDERATION CLUB LUNCHEON.

Bloody Action.

GIRL MAKES A DATE ON MASHER'S NOSE.

WHEN a "fresh" young man entered the Angelus yesterday afternoon and tried to flirt and talk with Miss Patricia Hogan, in charge of an auto livery desk, he was quickly discouraged by the blue-eyed girl.

Everything happened with such apparent spontaniety that even those close at hand fail to give an accurate description of the episode. A rising beauty, the flash of an arm, the speeding of a missile, surprised looks from the bold masher, a deep cut beneath his eye, flowing blood and a hasty retreat, with an irate young lady in pursuit, were features of the flashing picture.

According to Miss Hogan, the same young man several times before stood about and ogled her. He followed her to the car and tried to force himself on her attention. Finally, he made the effort which terminated so suddenly in his exit.

"I was busy going over accounts," said Miss Hogan, who since the happy happening has been many times congratulated, "when the creature attempted to get my attention. Finally I asked him whether he was awaiting an automobile and when he made an insinuating remark in reply, I decided to teach him a lesson.

"The first thing at hand was a small date stamp used on checks, and I threw it at him. My aim was so good that it struck him on the nose and under the eye. I am sorry the weapon proved so effective, since it may have given him a scar for life, but I think, at the same time, he will probably not molest a girl the next time."

Persons who were in the lobby saw the affair, and when Miss Hogan stepped from the desk toward the man, who was groping wildly at his face and the blood that was streaming from the cut, they started toward him. Seeing this, he dashed out of the Spring-street entrance and around the Fourth-street corner. There he was lost in the crowd.

"I would have complained to the police," said Miss Hogan, "if he hadn't precipitated matters. As it is, he may escape the publicity of arrest and turn out a better man."

The affair—at least the sight of the blood—shook Miss Hogan's nerves and she went home for the remainder

Public Service: City Hall, Courts.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Chief Building Inspector Backus asked the Board of Public Works to appoint a commission to thoroughly revise the building ordinance.

The city granted permission to the Municipal Newspaper Commission yesterday to invest $13,500 in a printing press and stereotyping outfit.

The lowering of the street surface of the Broadway tunnel was provided for by action of the City Council yesterday.

Because he had made no effort to secure his lawful interest in the estate of his father or his sister, Judge Rives of the Probate Department of the Superior Court declared yesterday that a forlorn wanderer needs a guardian.

At the City Hall.

WOULD REVISE BUILDING LAWS.

INSPECTOR OFFERS NAMES FOR A COMMISSION.

Says that Ordinance Contains So Many Complications that It Is Absolutely Confusing and Should Be Simplified—Taken Under Consideration by Public Works Board.

Chief Inspector of Buildings Backus yesterday sent to the Board of Public Works a recommendation that the building ordinance be completely revised. He says that by reason of the many amendments which have been adopted from time to time the ordinance has become absolutely confusing.

He suggests that a commission composed of architects, engineers and contractors be appointed by the Board of Public Works to take up this work, and suggests the following names: A. F. Rosenheim, Octavius Morgan and R. B. Young, architects; A. C. Martin, engineer, and contractor; C. L. Peck, engineer, and J. H. Bean, contractor.

The board discussed this matter at length yesterday and took it under advisement.

WANTS A PRESS.

MUNICIPAL PAPER'S TROUBLES.

The municipal paper is in trouble. It wants a press or its manager says it will lose all its advertising. This tale of woe was told to the City Council yesterday forenoon by Commissioner Dunlop, when a request was made for authority to sign a contract binding the city to pay $12,500 for the old Herald press and stereotyping outfit. Dunlop told his story of how the first edition of the municipal paper was so poorly printed that all the advertisers kicked and he said that with another such like it the paper would lose its advertising support. He said it took two days and two nights to get out the edition and that the situation was simply impossible. The matter was referred to the Finance Committee and yesterday afternoon the Council granted the authority desired. The press must be paid for out of the freak newspaper fund.

ORATORY DODGED.

BUT COMMITTEE WILL LISTEN.

When the communication from the Alembic Club, asking the city to abolish the chain gang for city prisoners, was presented to the City Council yesterday, several men were present anxiously awaiting opportunity to speak on the matter. The Council avoided a deluge of oratoty by referring the communication to the Public Welfare Committee and asking all those interested to appear before that committee at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

FOR LOWERING TUNNEL.

GRADE ORDERED ESTABLISHED

The city engineer yesterday was authorised by the City Council to establish the grade of North Broadway, between California and Temple streets. This clause was placed in the midst of a long list of proposed street improvements, and it went through without a word of discussion to indicate its special purpose—the lowering of the street through the Broadway tunnel so as to make it more accessible for team traffic.

After Trading-Stamp Nuisance.

Councilman Betkouski yesterday told the City Council that the city is threatened with an initiative petition unless some action is taken to eliminate the trading-stamp nuisance. He presented a document asking that a tax of $12,000 a year, payable in advance, be required of every person giving or selling trading-stamps. The Committee on Legislation and the City Attorney will wrestle with this.

Would Tax By-Sample Sellers.

In response to an appeal made by the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association to the City Council yesterday, the City Attorney was authorized to prepare an amendment to the license ordinance requiring the payment of a license fee by all persons not residing within the city, who sell goods at retail here by sample.

For a Double Track.

Councilman McKenzie yesterday introduced before the City Council a resolution asking the Pacific Electric Railroad to double track its line on Avenue Sixty-four, in justice and fairness to the residents of that vicinity, and as a matter of economy. It was pointed out that the company has been operating a single-track line on Avenue Sixty-four from Robles street to the northern city boundary, a distance of about 1800 feet, and thence to the Annandale Golf Club, and an infrequent service, while the territory is well settled. The city has ordered the paving of Avenue Sixty-four as a portion of the good roads boulevard to Pasadena, and the property owners are anxious that the double track be laid before the paving is done.

Several property owners appeared before the Council yesterday, and their appeal was made by Ernest Braunton, who stated that rather than have the paving proceed with the single track in the street the proposed improvement would be protested and allowed to await the time when the two tracks were laid.

City Hall Brevities.

E. F. Spencer sent a petition to the City Council yesterday asking that an ordinance be passed prohibiting the erection of "spite" fences. The matter was referred to the City Attorney.

City Treasurer Hance has been allowed a bond clerk for two months at a salary of $90 a month.

Plans have been sent to Chief Building Inspector Backus for his approval for a proposed fire engine house on Western avenue, between First and Second streets. The fire department outhay fund now has $15,000 awaiting its use.

The City Council yesterday adopted an ordinance providing for the widening of Front street, San Pedro, from the south line of Third street to the westerly end of the Interurban Railroad.

Special Counsel Hewitt of the Board of Public Works stated yesterday that it is possible that hereafter the consent of the State Railroad Commission will have to be obtained when streets are opened across railroad lines in Los Angeles. He has taken the matter up with the commission.

The Council yesterday authorized the closing of a lease on the Arrow Theater, Hamburger building, for the use of the Board of Censors of moving pictures. The city is to pay $75 a month for the use of the theater during certain hours.

RICH BY RIGHT. YET PENNILESS.

COURT DECLARES WANDERER HAS NEED FOR GUARDIAN.

Is Picked Up on Dusty Road While Walking to Santa Monica and Court May Appoint His Befriender to Office—Made No Effort to Collect His Legacies.

Although he was heir to a fifth interest in his father's estate and was entitled to a quarter interest in the estate of a sister, Cyrus L. Vandervoort trudged toward Santa Monica about a year ago, blankets rolled on his back, practically penniless and hopeless, until Eugene G. Vestal, president of the National Phosphate Company, drove along in his auto.

Vestal offered the stranger a lift, heard his story covering years of roaming the country and the alleged neglect of his wealthy sisters, and promised to help him in his efforts to obtain his fortune. Vestal was a witness in the Probate Court yesterday when Vandervoort opposed the petition of his sister, Mrs. Rosa E. Hunt, to be appointed his guardian, alleging he is incompetent to manage his affairs.

When Judge Rives learned from the evidence that Vandervoort had made no effort to recover his fortune he stated the wanderer needed a guardian, and that the appointment lay between Vestal and the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank. He regarded Vestal's actions in the light of a Good Samaritan, paying him a tribute for his disinterested friendship.

According to Attorneys Steely and Nesbit, who represent Vandervoort, the latter was provided with an income when his father died about twenty years ago in Wisconsin. He never received a penny of this, they allege, the money having been in the custody of his sister Rosa's husband. The latter is now dead, and it appears that the money was spent in the expenses of the estate.

Della, one of Vandervoort's sisters, died two years ago, leaving an estate worth about $25,000. Vandervoort was induced by another sister, he alleges, to turn over the deed covering his quarter interest to her, and thus obviate expense in a court proceeding. He later brought suit to set aside the deed, but before the case came to trial a settlement was effected, amounting to $3250.

Judge Rives continued the hearing until court records can be obtained from Wisconsin in regard to the estate left by Vandervoort's father.

FORGETS WIFE AND NEW BABY.

The attention which he paid to a captivating nurse employed to care for his wife and new-born baby led A. Victor Huson, chauffeur for a retired capitalist, to the divorces court yesterday, and won for him a stinging rebuke from Judge Monroe. The charge was desertion.

"This man has treated his wife disgracefully," declared the court. "A few days after the baby was born he was running around with the nurse, drinking beer and neglecting his wife and child. I think he wants the divorce worse than his wife does. Aside from his attention to the nurse he seems a good sort of young man."

The case was continued for a further hearing until October, when Judge Monroe said he will grant the decree asked for by Mrs. Huson. Huson admitted he had fallen in love with the nurse. His wife's attorney was instructed to see that Huson pays $40 a month for the support of his family.

DECIDES KNOTTY POINT.

SINGULAR CHARGE DISMISSED.

Judge Wilbur decided a knotty point yesterday in the case of Archie E. Smith of Alhambra and Jennie Malcolm. They slipped away and were married last July. He was 17 and she about the same age.

Their dream of love was interrupted three weeks later by Archie's father, who separated them, and August 9 Judge Willis annulled the marriage.

The decree, however, was not signed until February. Meantime, Archie and Jennie met, and he was arrested later for contributing to her delinquency. After an interesting hearing conducted by Deputy District Attorney McCartney, Judge Wilbur decided that the marriage of minors under the age of consent is void. He further found that the evidence did not sustain the charge of delinquency, and Archie was discharged.

OLD MORAL UPSET.

HONOR LIMPS AMONG THIEVES.

The audacity of James Tarpley, aged 10, and Louis Meyer, 9 years old, in entering the home of Anna Eldred, No. 431 Court street, and stealing $80 in gold was only equalled by the cunning of Louis, who later got all of the swag.

The lads were in the Juvenile Court yesterday. It was related that after dividing the gold, James buried his portion, trusting to Louis's honor. Louis, however, keeping a wary eye on James, dug up the loot and made away with it.

Being so small and yet so precocious Judge Wilbur was puzzled how best to set them back on the right path. He finally sent them to the Juvenile Hall.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

AWARDS JUDGMENT. Maybelle Oliver was awarded judgment for $1500 in Judge Finlayson's court yesterday against E. H. Haltenberg for injuries received October 1, last, when she fell at the latter's apartment-house. The accident was due to the fact that the house had been raised, thus elevating the steps down which Maybelle was going. She asked for $5000 damages.

SETTLE IN COURT. The widow of Ozro M. Cole, who was killed in the power-house of the Pacific Electric at Pasadena, December 12, last, received $3075 in settlement, in the Probate Court yesterday. Cole was an operator and received an electric shock. He leaves three children. Mrs. Cole was appointed by Judge Rives as executrix of the estate.

IN THE INFERIOR COURTS.

Man Drives Lame, Pigeon-Toed Horse With Disastrous Results. Was Against Conscience.

W. M. Paine was haled before Police Judge Rose yesterday, charged with having driven a pigeon-toed horse that was very lame.

"I was driving that horse against my conscience," declared Paine.

"And probably against your pocketbook, too, I guess," said the court.

A letter from a veterinary surgeon stating that the animal is useless in its present condition resulted in Paine being fined $5 or five days.

He a Regular Pirate.

H. Peterson, a sailor, was sent to Jail for thirty days by Judge Chambers yesterday for having run amuck in a barber shop on Wilmington street, near San Pedro street, with a knife. When Sergeant McDowell arrived the sea rover had everybody in the establishment standing at a safe and respectful distance.

It was testified that Peterson reeled out of a saloon and reeled into the barber shop. With a yell and a flourish of his knife he said he was going to "scalp every landlubber aboard." A negro knocked the knife out of the sailor man's hand. Then everybody "stood around" until the cop arrived. Peterson made no excuses.

Capper Is Capped.

Mike Smith, a "stoolie" for a South Main street auction, was given a fine of $60 with an alternative of sixty days in jail yesterday by Judge Chambers. Plainclothesmen Wedge and Ammon testified that although Smith disclaimed any interest in the auction, he has been spending almost all his time in and around the store.

"Smith would induce a man to bid in a certain article, telling him to meet him on the outside, where he would buy it from him at an advance," Wedge testified. Smith would never materialize. Then he would act as a capper when a cheap watch would be substituted for a good one. Smith would bid a cheap time-piece up to several times what it was worth and tender a check in payment. The auctioneer would refuse the check and give the watch to the next highest bidder."

Thirteen Times Too Often.

An insatiable desire to return to his native city, Boston and the numeral thirteen, played equally important parts in the brief criminal career of J. E. Terry, arraigned before Police Judge Chambers yesterday by Detective Browning.

Terry was employed by George F. Tilden, a restaurateur, at No. 217 South Spring street. In an effort to hastily collect enough money to take him back East, Terry robbed the cash register thirteen times.

He was caught the last time and admitted the other thefts. He stole about $65, and made a restitution of $54. Because of that, Justice Chambers only fined Terry, and gave him ample time in which to liquidate.

A Friendly Encounter.

Jesus Mejalla used a large rock and a butcher knife about fifteen inches long to rob a fellow countryman, according to testimony adduced at his trial yesterday in Judge Chambers's court.

Mejalla grabbed Jose Garcia's watch as the latter left a saloon by the rear, and when the man turned to see what had happened, knocked him down with a rock, which struck him back of the left ear. Bending over his prostrated victim, Mejalla drew the knife, and holding it over the man's throat, coolly and slowly proceeded to rob him.

Garcia and Mejalla were friends once. Mejalla was sent to jail for twenty-five days.

Work or Jail for Him.

Joe Taylor, recently released from San Quentin, where he served a couple of years for burglary, was haled before Judge Chambers yesterday. Taylor, with two other "graduates," returned to Los Angeles in the hope of making "a piece of change" during the Shriner convention. The other men "floated" when given the word, but Taylor refused. He wouldn't even hunt for work. Judge Chambers imposed a suspended sentence of two months.

Promises to Behave.

H. H. Lewis, a messenger boy arrested Sunday by members of the Metropolitan Squad for selling liquor without a license, changed his plea to guilty in Judge Chambers's court yesterday, and was given a suspended sentence. The boy, after spending two days in jail, promised the justice to behave in the future. When his room at No. 347 South Los Angeles street was searched a quantity of beer and whisky was found.

THEIR PARENTS ARE ANXIOUS.

Two Seventeen-Year-Old Girls Disappear From Home and Are Traced to Santa Monica—Police Search.

Two girls, thought to be enjoying themselves at the beaches, are missing from home and their parents have asked the police to assist in their apprehension.

One is Dora Gallup, 17 years old, whose home is No. 716 Echandia street, and the other is Anna Schaflin, also 17, No. 625 North Boyle avenue. They were traced to Santa Monica, where they were seen Sunday. They left home Saturday together.

Miss Gallup is 5 feet 4 inches tall, of light complexion, brown hair, blue eyes, and was dressed in a black-and-white skirt, black silk waist, red sweater and large white hat trimmed with roses.

Miss Schaflin is the same height as her companion, of medium complexion, dark brown hair, brown eyes, wore a tailored suit, red sweater and a red turban hat.

The Oil Industry.

HUGE GAS WELL OUTPUT GROWS.

Enough to Light Three Cities Like Los Angeles.

West Coast Will Develop in Fullerton Field.

Coalingans Abandon Portable for Standard Rigs.

The gas well of the Standard Oil Company, known as No. 16, which came in recently with a great flow of ...minent, has increased its output to 74,000,000 cubic feet daily. This increase followed a sanding up accident in the well.

The hole was cleared late last week. It is estimated that the gas from this well alone would furnish light sufficient for Los Angeles, and at least two other cities of similar size. Los Angeles requires 20,000,000 feet of gas, while the flow of the new gusher is estimated at 74,000,000 feet daily.

Efforts were made to turn the flow of this well into a pipe line but this effort resulted in a back pressure that ended the hole. When the hole was reopened it was found the gas flow was increasing at an alarming per cent. and the latest reports from the field are that the well is beyond control.

Increased development work on several of the leases near Maricopa is expected to begin soon as the result of recent visits to the field of representatives of several companies. D. Hamilton, of San Francisco, one of the principals in the Baltimore Oil Company, inspected the property that company has under control. The company has a new well that came in with a good flow several days ago. Hamilton was so pleased with the results obtained there that it is reported his company will begin other developments at once.

Among other companies planning new development work near Maricopa are the Sunset Extension and the North-Midway Oil companies.

Coast Buys at Fullerton.

The entire properties of the Industrial Oil Company in the Fullerton fields have passed into the hands of the West Coast Oil Company. This deal was rumored for sometime, but the facts have just been made public.

The entrance of this new company in the fields means, it is said, a wide campaign in development work. The West Coast is now in this field, having previously confined its operations to the north. Its purchase of the Industrial properties is said to be in line with its policy of expansion and rapid development of available territory. All the details of the deal have not been made public as yet, but the transfer has been completed and the new owners are now in possession. The reported purchase price was about $[illegible],000. The Industrial properties in this field consist of between forty and fifty producing wells, with several drilling. On the Industrial property the new owners acquire a territory which, while it has never shown anything in the way of sensational production has been uniformly dependable for returns. More than that, only a small proportion of its reserves, so far, have been developed, and they are believed to be good for many years to come as steady and profitable producers.

In Coalinga Field.

The well being drilled by Cheney & Perkins on section 2, 21-14, Coalinga, about 100 feet south of the Washington Coalinga wells, has been drilled to a depth of 349 feet in 6-inch casing. In driving the casing through a hard shale formation about six or eight feet of the bottom joint collapsed, making it impossible to go on with the drilling. The hole was being drilled with a portable rig and as it was necessary to pull the casing the operators did not believe the rig strong enough to handle the job. It has, therefore, been decided that the portable be removed and a light standard rig be erected. The material is now being hauled and the derrick will be ready to commence. As soon as finished the casing will be pulled, the drive joint removed and the string replaced in the hole. The drilling will then be resumed. The oil sand will be tapped a short distance below the present depth of the well, it is announced.

G. H. Holbrook, Jr., and William Hughes, officials of the Zier Oil Company, arrived in Coalinga yesterday and have paid a visit to the property. They have ordered that two more wells be put down immediately and it is probable that more development will be made on the property in the near future.

Oil Notes and Personals.

Paul Kocher, secretary of the Mt. Poso Land and Oil Company and the Bowmann Land and Oil Company, has returned to his headquarters in Bakersfield after a business trip to San Francisco.

A. C. Hortenson, of the Well Capper Company, is now making a tour of the Coalinga field.

Directors of the Boychester Oil Company at a recent meeting levied an assessment of 1½ cents on outstanding shares of the company.

An assessment of three cents a share has been levied on stock of the Kern-Midland Oil Company.

Many prospective investors are visiting the west side fields of Kern county, coming from Taft being that the interest has been so great that all hotels and rooming-houses are taxed to capacity.

NO FRAUD SHOWN.

Justice Young yesterday dismissed criminal charges against F. J. Smith, a jeweler, who was charged with having fraudulently purchased money when he knew he was bankrupt. The action was brought at the instance of O. C. Clark, the complaining witness. Several continuances were granted, but when the complainant did not appear yesterday, Judge Young dismissed the complaints. District Attorney Graham approved of this procedure.

NON-PROVIDING CHARGED.

Deputy District Attorney Joos issued a complaint yesterday against Frank Lloyd of this city, charging him with failing to provide for his wife, Ethel Lloyd. The complaint was filed in the Justice Court.

Solving the Big Problem of Cleanliness In Business Institutions

The Soap and Towel Revolution

Business houses of the highest class are fast discarding the roller towel and cake soap.

One glance at the soiled strip of linen and the soggy, slimy cake of soap, is enough to prove that they do not promote real cleanliness, and that they may transmit disease.

Every user leaves some of the dirt from his hands and face clinging to the cloth towel and in the lather of the soap, and this dirt is passed on to others. And who will say that skin diseases are not transmitted as readily as dirt is transferred?

These are matters which have set men to thinking, with the result that cleanliness and the preservation of health are now really provided for by concerns which regard the comfort and welfare of employees as important assets.

Make the surroundings of a group of people cheery and healthful, and provide the means by which each one may "clean up" with his individual towel and soap, and you have added a stimulus to good work which will actually pay in dollars and cents.

The problem of cleanliness, comfort and efficiency is easily solved with

Beau Brummel Liquid Soap
and
West Sanitary Paper Towels

Instead of the wet, dirty cake, there is a handsome glass Dispenser filled with a liquid which forms a fine, cleansing lather, which makes the skin clean and soft. One tilt of the Dispenser gives enough soap for a wash.

Then the hands and face are dried on a sheet of fine absorbent paper which absorbs the moisture as perfectly as the finest linen towel—and the paper is afterwards thrown away. Every user gets a towel which has not been touched by anybody else.

Such an equipment as this is easily installed, and it is economical. Two hundred towels are in each roll, and one gallon of the soap is sufficient for seven thousand washes.

If you, who are reading this advertisement, are interested in the betterment of the conditions on your premises, or if you are going to build, investigate the value of Beau Brummel Liquid Soap and West Sanitary Paper Towels.

THE "CONSPIRACY."

For some time a pamphlet has been on sale which pretends to reveal an alleged conspiracy with regard to the aqueduct. The real conspiracy is the inflammatory misrepresentation which seeks to make selfish capital by engendering class hatred and exploiting it.

SOMETHING TO CONTEMPLATE.

Thirty unwashed vagrants seized a freight car and compelled the train crew to carry them to Bakersfield. We shiver to think of what might have transpired had they captured a Turkish bath or a natatorium.

EVERYBODY'S CHANCE.

Everybody has a right to share in the May Day joy. May Day belongs to children and The Times is really conferring a benefit upon owners of automobiles in organizing its big excursion to the sea for the pleasure of the children of the poor. Every prosperous man owes it to himself to make a special thanksgiving occasion of this opportunity.

MUCH ABUSED.

The Southern Pacific in Mexico is about to remove its employees from Mazatlan by ship. For at least four years Col. Epes Randolph has literally fought the way of his railroads through a land that will be enriched for railroad service and that is quite worthless without it. The reward of Col. Randolph and his company for their remarkable development has been one long season of abuse and disturbance. The right spirit would have been one of protection to the railroad by Federals, rebels and Yaquis, since the road is of great benefit to the whole people.

HEARTILY WELCOME.

John Muir, the savant of the trees, has come to Los Angeles to make his home, after having traveled 25,000 miles to study two trees and one plant. Muir is a king of naturalists, and Los Angeles is highly honored to have this fine old scientist as a resident. His consummate pains at his age to make first-hand observations of three growing things bespeaks the sort of good faith which makes for greatness. The part of the three trees in the research reminds us somewhat of a tiny sparrow which once made up its mind to fly to Babylon and honed that the city had made all necessary preparations for its coming.

LOST LEADER.

Many Republicans have voted for Roosevelt because they remember that which he has forgotten—his noble record. Others broke down on their lost leader with pitying contempt and say to him, in Shakespeare's words—

"Hast thou not spoke like thunder on my side?
Been sworn my soldier; bidding me depend
Upon thy stars, thy fortune, and thy strength?
And dost thou now fall over to my foes?
Thou wear a lion's hide! doff it for shame,
And hang a calf's skin on those recreant limbs."

INVOLUNTARY.

A Seattle millionaire who has been sent to the Federal penitentiary for two and a half years has asked to be assigned to garden work. If his request is granted, the healthy exercise he will get in that time will probably lengthen his life longer than the term of his sentence. The point is that a man should not wait to get a penitentiary sentence before he begins to take care of himself. Almost any man could save himself extravagant and bitter experiences by voluntarily facing the conditions which confront him. The strong never wait to be forced into doing what is best for them. Intelligence and virtue are both voluntary. Limitations make the world a prison for all others.

RAISIN DAY.

Next Tuesday is raisin day and it will hurt Los Angeles none whatever to enter heartily into the spirit of the occasion which is designed, of course, to profit Fresno county by liberally advertising its chief product. What citrus fruits are to Southern California, raisins are to Fresno county and the San Joaquin Valley. A rich stretch of two hundred wonderful valley mileage is devoted entirely to the culture of the raisin grape. People in the south should remember that in the mind of the easterner the raisin is closely associated with the orange as a California treasure staple. To advertise raisins advertises California, so that every section in the Golden State has a true share in the benefits of raisin day.

LITTLE FINGERS.

Every father and mother in Los Angeles will join with sincere sympathy in the grief in two homes where children have been burned to death this week. In or case a 4-year-old babe and his twin brother were playing at making an Indian campfire with matches in the middle of the floor. Busy baby hands are always up to something. It is this endless curiosity which makes the great school of experience. This propensity not only claims sometimes as its sad toll the lives of precious little people, but its mortality often extends to grown-ups in their most profound and useful researches. Nothing, however, so hurts the heart as the death of a child under circumstances which seem unnecessary, but which no foreseen care ever seems able to ward at.

THE AQUEDUCT AND GRAFT.

The Mayor apparently has backed up. It looks as though he had placed his ear in close proximity to his garden patch and heard rumblings in the ground that induced him to abandon his latest proposed move to place his little creature, Henderson, in an important place on the Public Service Commission in order that the great aqueduct fund and its forces might be utilized to the limit by the City Hall political machine. It seems to have come to the Mayor's understanding that, following the appointment of Graham, this would be one step too far and would cause a revolt.

But the mischief has been done. The Public Service Commission has been politicalized, if we may coin a word. Boss Graham and Bill Bryant, who long have itched to get their clutches on the aqueduct millions and its patronage, have "been and gone and done it." For several years Graham and Bryant have been known to be in pursuit of this game, and at last they have brought it down. The Times reporters have heard them grate their teeth and hanker for Mulholland's scalp—and now we shall see what they will do.

The turning over of the aqueduct to spoils-hunters is an outrage. It would have been worse if the political parasite, Henderson, had been barnacled onto the institution, but the situation is bad enough as it is. The Times has swallowed a good deal from this administration; the people have suppressed their indignation; disgusted men supported Alexander in the last campaign and "took their medicine"—but the bold, unblushing effrontery of this scheme to make the aqueduct a vermiform appendix of the City Hall political corpus will not go down.

For years the water department has been the pride of Los Angeles. It has been pointed out as a conspicuous example of successful municipal ownership—of a great municipal work done on a purely business basis. It has been the admiration of the United States, as well as a magnificent source of revenue to the city.

Taxpayers have repeatedly said: "Oh, if our other departments could only be conducted like the water department!" Its management has been absolutely free from politics; it has been a business management. But now it is to be handed over to the politicians, we are told, and its tremendous opportunities for the payment of political debts are to be utilized.

Bad and disappointing as was the appointment of Boss Graham, The Times still hopes the worst will not come to pass, and that the Mayor will not reward a man who has simply done his dirty work for him when nobody else would do it, by placing him on the Public Service Commission.

THE DUTY OF THE HOUR.

The Times does not accept the unpatriotic doctrine that the American flag does not follow the American dollar, nor the yet more cowardly doctrine that it does not follow the person of the American citizen for his legitimate protection in whatsoever part of the world he may travel or sojourn.

The argument that Americans in Mexico can save their persons from assault, imprisonment and death by fleeing the country, and that as for property, they took their chances of losing it when they invested American dollars in Sonora or Baja California, should bring the blush of shame to the cheek of him who makes it. There is not a power in Europe that does not, under the law of nations, claim and exercise the right to protect the persons and the property of its subjects in their legitimate rights in any quarter of the world. If the local government of any power is unwilling or unable to protect the person or property of a law-abiding Englishman in the exercise of his lawful right of domicile there, and those rights cannot be promptly secured by diplomacy, they will be secured by the fleets and armies of England, if necessary. Are we less powerful or less regardful of our national honor and dignity than Great Britain?

Take the case of an American copper mining company conducting operations in Sonora close to the line. A regiment of Orosco's bandits threatens to burn the smelters and kill the Americans who are conducting the mining operations, unless the mining company will pay a large sum of money to the insurrectos. The Madero government confesses its inability to protect the property of the company or the lives of its employees. There is an adequate force of United States troops at the line half a day's march away. Between them and the threatened Americans the insurrecto army is encamped. Railroad and telegraph lines have been destroyed by the bandits. But they could not destroy the wireless. Its message is flashed to the commander of the United States forces, is repeated to Washington and reaches President Taft ten minutes after it is sent from the threatened American camp, with a request for orders.

What should those orders be? Should the President reply, "Every principle of justice and every consideration of expediency" demand that our troops shall not set foot upon the sacred soil of Mexico, for that would be intervention. Let the Americans at the copper camp be murdered and their property destroyed. It will be deplorable, of course, but to save them by armed intervention would be a calamity."

Or should he reply to the general in command at the line, "March your forces at once for the protection of American life and property. If your progress is obstructed by an armed force assure its commander that your purpose is only to garrison and defend the beleaguered mining camp of Americans, and if he offers armed resistance to your progress—why, go ahead, anyhow."

The conditions suggested are not fanciful. They exist in a dozen places in the Mexican border States. They are not remote, they are immediate. The statement that to meet them as they should be met would be "to fling the army of the United States across the border at the dictates of interests that would exploit Mexico and its people" is an untruthful, an unpatriotic and a cowardly statement. To refrain from doing our duty because the doing of it might indirectly inure to the advantage of President Taft in aiding his re-election is a reason so unspeakably contemptible that few even of his most bitter opponents will advance it. It is safe to say that even Col. Roosevelt would not advance it. He would be much more likely to organize a brigade of rough-riders and lead them against the bandits of Chihuahua and Sonora.

The Impending Crash.

UNCLE WALT.

The Poet Philosopher.

I stand for all that's good and pure and this, our country, can't endure if you should turn me down; beneath my coat and vest and things I have a handsome pair of wings, and in my grip a crown. Unless you choose me as your guide you're pretty sure to wander wide in morass, fen and swamp; but if you choose me for your chief I'll lead you from this gloom and grief to splendor and to pomp. All other candidates who beg your votes and try to pull your leg are wolves in sheep's array; on Virtue I have placed my brand; True Worth is eating from my hand, as horses eat their hay. I am the Peepul's only friend; if I'm defeated there's an end to all their earthly hopes; the government our fathers built will get the cleaver to the hilt, and tumble through the ropes. If I'm defeated anarchy will sweep this country of the free, our homesteads be laid waste; the husbandman will wade in blood, the clergyman throw gobs of mud, the printer eat his paste. The rivers all will backward flow, the garden sass refuse to grow, there'll be no prunes or figs; the blighted trees will wilt and die, the cows and wells will all go dry, the hens will hatch out pigs. To dodge this dire catastrophe you'll simply have to vote for me and help along my boom, for I alone can be the shield, the sword and buckler you must wield to shun this awful doom!

WALT MASON.

[Copyright, 1912, by George Matthew Adams]

WHEN ROOSEVELT WAS SILENT.

[San Francisco Star:] How much has the beef trust contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?

How much has the paper trust contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?

How much has the coal trust contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?

How much has the sugar trust contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?

How much has the oil trust contributed to Mr. Cortelyou.

How much has the tobacco trust contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?

How much has the steel trust contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?

How much has the insurance trust contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?

How much have the national banks contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?

How much have the six great railroad trusts contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?

In the Presidential campaign of 1904 the above pertinent questions were asked by the New York World.

Mr. Roosevelt never answered these questions, but more or less information has been obtained from other sources.

We know that the three great life-insurance companies contributed $150,000 of their policyholders' money to the Roosevelt campaign fund.

We know that the Standard Oil Company gave $100,000.

We know that the beef trust, according to the admission of its own officers, contributed.

We know that Mr. Harriman, after his visit to the White House, returned to Wall street and raised $260,000.

We know that one of Mr. Morgan's partners helped collect Roosevelt campaign money in New York and another in Pennsylvania.

Berlin May Tax Cats.

[New York Times:] A tax on cats is the very latest thing in Berlin. The city treasurer is reaping an additional $300,000 a year as the result of raising the dog tax from $5 to $7.50, and the financial officers of the municipality have just learned that there are no legal objections to imposing a tax on cats.

It is estimated that there are 100,000 cats in the Kaiser's capital, and if the proposal to establish a tax of $2.50 apiece be carried out the municipality's treasury will be substantially enriched.

ROOSEVELT'S PURPOSE.

[The Argonaut:] It is a matter of common belief—it most certainly is the Argonaut's belief—that the nomination of Roosevelt would be fatal to the party this year. Any Democrat, we believe, would beat him.

The more Mr. Roosevelt's campaign is studied, the less worthy it appears in the view of the Argonaut. He has apparently lost all sense of the dignities involved in a Presidential candidacy. For the first time there has been through him introduced into a Presidential campaign methods hitherto limited to ward politics. No promoter of a circus ever more closely studied the public appetite for spectacular effects or more completely adapted himself to it. The marvel is that methods and utterances so obviously calculated for demagogic effect should fail to disgust and shame all men of education and of a decent sense of the properties. And Mr. Roosevelt's purposes appear as bad as his manners. That he can hope to be elected to the Presidency is hardly believable, for he must know that there are multitudes of Republicans who would vote for any Democrat who might be nominated as against him. He aims, we think, not at an election, but at the defeat of Mr. Taft, who now appears as the object of his consuming hatred. He is willing, if by it he may accomplish Taft's defeat, to break down and destroy the party through which his own promotions have been gained. The spirit of selfishness combined with hatred of a one-time friend appear now as his controlling motives. It is truly a pitiful descent from high and patriotic pretensions.

Burbank's Way.

[Luther Burbank:] I have heard of thornless blackberries having been discovered in North Carolina and along the eastern coast, but unfortunately the berries were not of any use for food. I have also grown so-called but not by any means thornless ones forty years ago. Electricity was also known for thousands of years, but it was worthless until developed. Steam was also useless as an aid in performing the labor of mankind until someone made it useful. It is the same with the thornless blackberry. It is now productive, delicious to eat, large and in every way valuable for food, and absolutely smooth like the twig of an apple tree. There are seedless apples in existence today, but none of them are of any commercial value. There was once a so-called stoneless plum, but it was not larger than a large bean and was not fit for human food. The bush was an ill-shaped thorny one and the fruit absolutely useless. Now there are, growing on my farms, splendid prunes and plums which are stoneless. Nature gives us a hint and it is man's business to carry out the work to produce results.

Tobacco and Insomnia.

[The Century:] The dominant characteristic of tobacco is the fact that it heightens blood pressure. The irritant action by which it does this sometimes leads to still more harmful results. Its second action is narcotic; it lessens the connection between nerve centers and the outside world. These two actions account for all the good and all the bad effects of tobacco. As a narcotic, it temporarily abolishes anxiety and discomfort by making the smoker care less about what is happening to him. But it is a well-known law of medicine that all the drugs which in the beginning lessen nerve action increase it in the end. Thus smoking finally causes apprehension, hyper-excitability and muscular unrest. Here this inevitable law seems to give contradictory results. Every physician knows that an enormous amount of insomnia is relieved by smoking, even if it is at the expense of laziness the next day; at the same time every physician knows that most excessive smokers are troubled with insomnia.

The Same Fool Question.

[Cleveland Plain Dealer:] The husband and the wife were starting for the theater. As usual the husband was kicking because the wife spent such an awful time dressing.

"What delayed you this time?" he growled, as they left the house.

"Seeing the children to bed," she responded, quietly.

"What's the nurse for?" snapped the man.

"The nurse is for our convenience—yours and mine, but especially mine," she answered, evenly. "But the boy certainly takes after you. He asked the same kind of a fool question, just as I was kissing him good night."

"Fool question, eh? Well, what was it?"

"I asked him if he had said his prayers. And he said no. And I asked him if he didn't want God to take care of him during the night. And he answered, 'What's the nurse for?'"

A Business Conference.

[Kansas City Journal:] The bookkeeper came out looking mysterious and called for the office boy.

"What you been doing?"

"Nuthin'."

"The boss wants to see you right away. I guess it's the bounce for yours."

"Nix," declared the office boy. "I know what he wants."

"What does he want?"

"He wants to know what new players have been signed."

SCIENCE PROGRESS.

Radium in Cancer.

[New York Times:] Considerable interest has been aroused by the news that when the Queen visited the Middlesex Hospital Dr. Lazarus Barlow demonstrated to Her Majesty a discovery which he had made in his research work in connection with cancer.

This new fact is that radium has been found in cancer itself.

When the first observations were taken a few weeks ago, considerable doubt was thrown on their accuracy, as the quantities found were so exceedingly small. The latest results have been placed before the Queen. The details are rather technical, but of such great interest as to be worth publishing.

Dr. Barlow took twenty-seven samples of primary carcinoma, eight of secondary carcinoma and two of sarcomaton. These are all malignant, and known to the world as cancer. For comparison's sake he took a whole series of healthy tissues from the liver and lung. These were, of course, taken after death.

To make certain of the rate at which any radium emanation evaporated, seven of these specimens were boiled with hydrochloric acid and set aside for four weeks in sealed flasks and examined again. The normal tissues showed no trace of radium, but where cancer was present, electrical methods were sufficient to detect, and not only to detect, but to measure the quantity of radium present. The quantities found were all very minute. The dried carcinoma tissue after the fat had been removed from it contained a percentage which almost rose to two and three-quarter parts in ten millions.

It should be mentioned that none of the patients in whose cases radium was found had been treated medically with radium in any way or form.

New Artificial Silk Material.

[Memphis Commercial-Appeal:] German chemists are reported to have succeeded in utilizing fibrous animal refuse—such as the flesh of dead horses—for making artificial silk. Treatment with acids disintegrates the flesh into its ultimate fibers, and these are given a silk appearance, with great durability, by a kind of tanning process. The threads produced, greatly resembling those of the wild silkworm, are about two inches long. They may be vulcanized like true silk, and can be made air-tight and water-tight by immersion for a couple of hours in a caoutchouc bath under a pressure of four atmospheres. The material seems to promise something cheaper than silk for balloon envelopes, insulation, etc., though attempts to spin the fibers into thread have not yet been successful.

Theories About the Martians.

New Law of Gravity.

[The Pathfinder:] An important report on the subject of gravity is soon to be issued, by the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, based on investigations in this and other countries. The conclusions reached constitute virtually a new law of gravity. This is that the earth, considered in whole and in part, is in a state of stable equilibrium; namely, the continents and mountains are not held up by the rigidity of the earth's crust, but they project above the average level because the material underneath them is lighter or of less mass than the average. For the same reason the oceans and valleys are depressed not by accident nor pressure, but because the material under them is of greater mass or more solid than the average. This view puts the subject of earth crust formation in an entirely new light.

Breadwinners.

[Atlantic Monthly:] In America not more than 14.3 per cent. of the whole female population is engaged in gainful occupation, as against 61.3 per cent. of the male. Moreover, even this 14.3 per cent. becomes still much smaller when only the native whites of native parentage are considered, as the average for the whole country results from the participation of the negro women. In Germany the percentage of the workingmen is the same as in America, 61.1 per cent., but the percentage of working women is 30.4 per cent. Almost 10,000,000 women are breadwinners in Germany. There are three and a half million women engaged in industrial work and business, as against ten and four-fifths million men, and especially characteristic of the German situation seems the fact that 738,000 women are independent owners and heads of establishments. One and three-tenths millions are laborers in factories. In the textile industries, for instance, the women are in the majority—400,000 women, as against 371,000 men. In the clothing industry, 228,000 women stand, against 97,000 men.

CONSERVATION.

[Life:] Magnate: Have all the important coal and iron mines been grabbed and duly trustified?

Secretary: They have, sir. Every one of them.

Magnate: And have we gobbled up all the valuable railroad rights of way?

Secretary: We have complete control of that situation, sir. Our lines reach everywhere. Competing lines would be absurd and impossible to finance.

Magnate: Are any water power sites left?

Secretary: Not one. We have them all.

Magnate: And are the terminal sites and harbor facilities securely in our clutches?

Secretary: All that there is a cent of profit in, sir.

Magnate: Is there any public land left to be distributed?

Secretary: Practically none, sir.

Magnate: Very good. Give an interview to the press at once saying that I am unalterably and unqualifiedly in favor of the conservation of natural resources and the use of the public domain for the benefit of the public-at-large.

"WOMEN AND CHILDREN FIRST."

"Greater Love Hath no Man Than This"

Titanic's fragments hurtle through
The scene of death accursed;
Rings then the cry of heroes true:
"Women and children first!"

They come—the strong of soul; the best
The famed and the obscure;
The women of patrician grace;
The righteous, the impure.

The price? Thy men give up their lives
Thy well-beloved will save!
Aye, weep ye, sisters, daughters, wives
For you no stilling wave.

For you the pain through yearning years
The unavailing cry
Of the soul's bitterness; the tears
The fond heart's broken tie!

For them the ended watch; the [illegible]
Celestial; the burst
Of welcome from supernal [illegible]
"Heroes and conquerors first!"

lois in the line of Fischer produc- [illegible] for the reason that it presents the company in a totally different [illegible]. Not a member has a part even resembling anything done in the two previous bills, or likely to be done in the shows to follow.

It's an army story, and its two acts are at a southern gentleman's plantation, and the headquarters of a northern commanding officer. The conflict is [illegible] of melodrama which is [illegible], and the action hangs together unusually well. Without the music, by the late Julian Edwards, it would do not badly as a play. The music is genuine music. The orchestra, the concerted numbers—as, for instance, a quintette built around "Suwanee River"—the solos, the choruses and the finales all have the touch of scholasticism, originality, a refined and lofty conceiving that don't write much music [illegible] nowadays. It's not great music anywhere, but it is all good in any place, but it is all good and there is not a phrase of [illegible] jingling junk from first to last. As much cannot be said for the mild dialogue!

Miss Guinan, as Kate Pemberton, has the first genuine singing part of her local engagement. The quality of her voice is revealed exquisite in color, of ample volume and apparently unlimited range. Vocally, her solo numbers are the best things in the show. Miss Guinan's first costume, one of the vast and Elizabethan affairs which costumery tell us was in fashion at that period, is far from [illegible], but her second, a dainty [illegible] frock, with its accommodating [illegible] of quaint bonnet, modest [illegible] and bower-hiding bouquet, is fascinating, maidenly and [illegible].

The surprise of the show, it seemed to me, was the deep and rich contralto [illegible] of Laura Oakley. Miss Oakley has [illegible] made any pretense of singing, [illegible] much about singing, in [illegible] her voice, even without training, is of absolutely majestic [illegible] and quality, and comes [illegible] the ensembles like a genuine [illegible].

Miss Urban loses none of her [illegible] by becoming the wicked [illegible] Robert. In fact, Jane's [illegible] suit makes up for a lot [illegible] that the pantalets de- [illegible] dramatic assumption in [illegible].

Summer Tea Party.

The first summer tea party of the season had for its hostesses yesterday afternoon at the Ebell Clubhouse, Mrs. Edward J. Price and her daughter, Mrs. David Emery Bradley. The rooms were fresh with the early summer blossoms, together with quantities of wild mustard, which added that necessary touch of the outside world.

Miss Charlotte Cox will be married today to James Donahue, the service to be read in St. Vincent's Church, this morning. Mrs. Harvey Cox, mother of the young bride, was hostess last evening at a dinner party given in her apartments at the Hartmann. Morgan and Miss McCrae, also of this city, who left for Europe a month ago. Miss Severson will also visit her sister, Mrs. S. Nellis, who lives in Paris, and may continue her music studies in that city another winter. Miss Severson is a singer of note, and has appeared in charitable and social affairs in this city.

Farewell Courtesy.

Mrs. Alletta E. Wilson of No. 1217 Arapahoe street left on Monday morning for an extended eastern trip, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Ann E. Teague, of Ventura. As a farewell courtesy Mrs. Wilson's daughters, Mrs. Sumner J. Quint and Mrs. Ezra William Ober, kept open house informally on Sunday afternoon, and about forty relatives and near neighbors called to say good-by to the two guests of honor.

Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Teague will visit in Topeka, Kan., for several weeks with Mrs. Wilson's sister, Mrs. Rousseau A. Burch, and then, after a short visit in Boston, they will spend the summer with relatives in their old home in Maine.

Late in the summer Mrs. Wilson will be joined by her daughter, Miss Mollie Byerly Wilson, who will be returning home at that time from her five years of vocal study in Leipzig and Berlin. Mrs. Wilson accompanied her daughter abroad and spent a year there with her, traveling over the continent and the British Isles, and after seeing her well established in her musical studies, returned to her home in Los Angeles. It is reported that Miss Wilson has been doing excellent work.

Miss Wilson and her mother are planning to make their return trip via the scenic Canadian Pacific route, stopping at various points, and will make a short visit with Miss Wilson's sister, Mrs. Frank Honeywell, of Berkeley, before reaching this city early in the fall.

UNDER EASTERN STAR BANNERS.

ANNUAL O.E.S. BALL IS A BRILLIANT EVENT.

Eight Hundred Members of Order Follow Westlake Chapter in Grand March—Seventeen Local Bodies Represented by Patrons and Matrons Bearing Insignia.

Led by Westlake Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, and comprising 800 representatives of seventeen local chapters of the order, the annual Eastern Star ball was ushered in by a brilliant grand march at the Goldberg-Bosley assembly rooms last night.

The function was in many respects among the most pretentious yet given by the 3000 local members of the order. For the first time in its history the grand march was made notable by the patrons and matrons of the several chapters carrying aloft the banners and insignia of their body. Each banner carried the name of the chapter and the date of its organization. That of Westlake Chapter was carried by Patron W. F. Adams and Matron Mrs. Ella H. Fleck, who led the march.

At least 300 couples were on the floor to enjoy the evening's programme of dances. For those who did not care to dance, card tables were provided and the occasion otherwise made enjoyable.

Among the grand officers present were Grand Conductress Mrs. Ella L. Adams, District Deputy Grand Matrons Mrs. Emma S. Boyd, Mrs. Maggie King, Mrs. Christina Artell and Mrs. Sophie Bruce, and Past Grand Matron Mrs. Rosa J. Burns.

The following committees were in charge of the event:

Programme Committee—W. F. Adams, E. A. Emmons, James J. Burke; Dance Committee—R. B. LaFountaine, E. R. Mennell, H. M. Hurd, Louis B. Mariette, Bert E. Dequine; Escort Committee—E. F. Tucker; Nathan Berry; Door Committee—W. H. Chandler, W. F. Adams; Badge Committee—Mrs. Clara M. Gilbert, Mrs. Anna W. Morris; Card Committee—Mrs. Allie S. Hamper, Mrs. Grace Pritchard, James F. Greenough; general chairman, Mrs. Ellen J. LaFountaine.

WHERE DID HE GET 'EM?

A man giving the name of George Wilson, but refusing to tell where he lives, was arrested on suspicion yesterday by Patrolman Baines as he was trying to dispose of a valuable set of furs. The man will be held sufficiently long to enable the police detectives to investigate. The furs will be held in the hope if they were stolen in this city the owner will call at police headquarters.

For a Difficult Corner.

If there is, in your garden, a corner which does not seem fitted for any of the usual plants or flowers, try growing verbenas there. These charming blossoms are likely to be forgotten, in the multiplicity of modern plants, but they are most delightful and when once established, will yield a profusion of both bloom and fragrance—if you select a fragrant kind—throughout the entire year, in California.

Practical and Pretty.

"See what treasures I have found for temporary use!" exclaimed one of my friends who is spending the winter here in apartments.

She is generously disposed and is one of the few who can make a home anywhere, forming a center for friends, even when merely "stopping" in a place. Every time I go there she has added some touch of hominess to her apartment, and is proud of the result. "I enjoy poking around and finding bargains with which to make the little home cozy," said she, "and it is better than to bother the poor landlady to buy every little thing that one wants." Think what a gospel! Fretful tenants beware of such insidious doctrine. This time it was a "treasure" of plated spoons, forks and knives that she had found. "I often need more than the quota which goes with a small flat," said she, "and I discovered these for just a few cents apiece, in one of the big stores," and she displayed some really handsome articles in the gray finish which is so popular in silverware. "They may not last always," she said playfully, "but they will certainly outlast my visit to your sunny country, and perhaps I may bury them in someone's back yard and dig them up when I come again." Truly her bargains looked as nice as any table ware of the better class, and will answer every purpose of something much higher in price.

A Peep at a Resolve.

The other day I had a peep into the advertising listing book of one of the big stores, and I could not but be interested at the "New Year's Resolution" which was written in a clear hand at the beginning of the book. It was this: "We resolve to make each day better than last year and to tell nothing but the absolute truth in ads. and windows." And it was signed by the general manager of the house, by the sales-manager and by the advertising manager. It seems to me that such a resolution as that, while it was privately made and in a book which is of course "none of our business"—really concerns you and me and everybody who may have occasion to visit stores. I have seen advertisements which were not truthful and I have also seen windows which "told stories"—haven't you?

The Arbitrary Dame.

Fashion says peplums, tunic blouses, panel tunics—for summer wear. If you are slender, you need have no fear; but if you are over plus—please beware!

In general, it may be said that sleeves are becoming somewhat larger.

In the matter of color, white is far above colors for spring and summer wear, both in wash fabrics and costume materials.

Sheer linen and cotton tissues, having small motifs or fancy borders in open-English eyelet embroidery, are very charming.

Although richly colored gowns are very popular, large numbers of smart women are adopting the black gown, in serge or silk.

Attractive novelties are the new fringed ribbons, the thick raveled effects being particularly charming, as well as the looped fringes.

With all light suits, white-topped and taupe-topped shoes are the more fashionable. They are worn together with bright-colored silk stockings.

Nowadays our dresses must not only be the dreams of loveliness as regards color, but the draperies must equal the colors in richness and splendor.

WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS.

An All-Day Meeting.

The Gaipin Shakespeare Club will hold an all-day session at Cumnock Hall on Saturday, April 27. In the forenoon the certification class, which has completed a three year's course, including the comprehensive study of at least twenty of Shakespeare's plays, will present scenes from the "Merchant of Venice." The class consists of Mrs. H. B. Ellis, Mrs. Charles S. Hall, Mrs. W. H. Mayne, Mrs. George H. Kress, Mrs. Charles Clark, Mrs. N. E. Silverwood and Miss Caroline Abrams, Miss Hazel Bly, Miss Caroline Ferris, Miss Gladys Wilhelm, Miss Caroline Etchmendy, Miss Helena Brooks and Miss Maud Maynard.

After a luncheon given to the members and their guests, an afternoon meeting will begin at 2:30 o'clock, to which all lovers of Shakespeare are invited. Mrs. Andrew S. Lobingier and Rev. William Horace Day will be the speakers of the afternoon.

Dramatic Programme.

The drama section of Ebell Club will meet at 10 o'clock, Thursday morning, in the clubhouse. The day is in charge of Mrs. E. L. Swaine, who will give a resume of "The Earth," a new play written by J. B. Fagen. Miss Helen Louise Kimball will read selections from the play, after which will follow discussion, led by Mrs. E. C. Bellows. Mrs. Mila Tupper Maynard will lecture.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

Navigation Board.

RIVERSIDE, April 22.—[To the Editor of The Times:] We have read so much concerning the terrible disaster to the steamship Titanic, but have not observed any practical suggestions how to regulate steamship traffic to avoid such disasters in the future. I suggest a Navigation Board, appointed by the general government, who's duty shall be to direct the general course any steamship shall take, their speed limit, and the time they shall take for any given voyage. We have an Army Board, Navy Board, and any number of boards to inspect and direct I fail to hear of a Navigation Board, that directs all steamships. They have a speed limit for autos, but what strong arm directs steamships? They are left to the will of the captain, and competition I say, bring all the steamship companys under one strong supervision; don't allow them to risk precious lives among the icebergs. What good does it do to risk so much, just to break a record.

TEARING-UP CASE BEGINS.

Hearing of Assistant Engineer of Board of Public Utilities Opens. Are Rates Public Documents?

A. T. Stewart, the assistant engineer in the office of the Board of Public Utilities, who last Thursday destroyed papers belonging to the two local electric companies and was arrested, was given a hearing before Justice Forbes yesterday. The legal point whether the rates and tables furnished the board by the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation and the Southern California Edison Company were public documents was argued by Attorney Stewart, a brother of the defendant, and by Deputy District Attorney Hammon. The case was continued until this morning for further argument.

The main witness was Thomas Foulkes, president of the board. He stated that on Thursday, C. W. Coiner, an expert on rates, called at the board's office to get the tables prepared by the two electric companies. Foulkes says he told Stewart to get the papers and bring them to him.

"To my great surprise," said the witness, "Stewart refused to do so. He said he had promised the two corporations that their figures would not be turned over to the expert. I told him that the papers belonged to the board and that he must not oppose my authority."

The witness went on to tell of the dispute which ended when Stewart rushed back to his own office with the papers and locked the doors. Later, when Foulkes opened the door with another key, he found Stewart throwing the papers out of the window and a lot of documents scattered upon the floor. He said he took the matter up with the District Attorney, who told him he would issue a complaint charging the destruction of public documents.

Patrolman Robinson, who was summoned by telephone to quell the near-riot in the Board of Public Utilities office, said he went into the alleyway and collected the pieces of paper the defendant had torn up.

Other employees of the office testified.

FIRST AID TO VICTIMS.

Autos That Knock Down and Injure Woman and Boy Also Rush Them to Homes.

Two physicians, at almost the same hour, but in different parts of the city, accidentally ran down two persons yesterday. In each instance the physician rushed his victim home. A careful examination showed that neither was badly injured. In neither instance was the doctor to blame.

Mrs. Horgan, 40 years of age, No. 1331 South Burlington avenue, stepped directly in front of Dr. Lazard's machine at Twelfth and Main streets as she alighted from a street car. She sustained a bruised hip.

Eugene Jasper, a boy, who lives at No. 717 San Julian street, got under Dr. Ehrlich's auto at Second and Main streets. The physician knew the boy and took him and his broken wheel home. The lad was bruised.

In each instance the physicians reported the accidents to the Central Police Station by telephone.

EXETER.

EXETER, April 23.—The usual grist of speeding autoists were ground through the justice mill here yesterday, and twenty-five of them from all parts of the State faced the judge and were fined varying amounts from $7.50 to $10, the total arrests enriching the city to the extent of $150. Several of those arrested were local men.

What's The Matter With Your Baby?

The young mother—and many an old one, too—is often puzzled to know the cause of her child's ill nature. The loudness of its crying does not necessarily indicate the seriousness of its trouble. It may have nothing more the matter with it than a headache or a feeling of general dullness. It cannot, of course, describe its feelings, but as a preliminary measure you are safe in trying a mild laxative.

Nine times out of ten, you will find it is all the child needs, for its restlessness and peevishness are perhaps due to obstruction of the bowels, and once that has been remedied the headache, the sluggishness and the many other evidences of constipation and indigestion will quickly disappear.

Don't give the little one salts, cathartic pills or nasty waters, for these will act as purgatives, and they are too strong for a child.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup-Pepsin has been found to answer most perfectly all the purposes of a laxative, and its very mildness and freedom from griping recommend it especially for the use of children, women and old folks generally—people who need a gentle bowel stimulant. Thousands of American families have been enthusiastic about it for more than a quarter of a century.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington st., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

PHILIPPINES AS FORTUNE MAKERS.

VISITING DOCTOR DESCRIBES ISLANDS' OPPORTUNITIES.

Says American Investors Are Overlooking One of Most Remunerative Fields in World—Thirteen Million Acres of Soil that Can Be Leased Cheaply—Figures.

Conditions politically and physically affecting the Philippines were graphically portrayed to several friends at the Van Nuys yesterday evening by Dr. John R. McDill, chief surgeon of the new government hospital from its opening until a few weeks ago. He resigned his position to return to the United States and accept one more remunerative.

Dr. McDill went to Cuba and later to the Philippines as a volunteer, operating surgeon in the field for the United States army and five years ago was appointed professor of surgery in the University of the Philippines, and shortly after to the highest position in the hospital.

In his chat he told particularly of the present Chinese situation.

"As long as Yuen Shi Kai is at the head of the only real trained troops, some 60,000, the unrest which has arisen in the emancipated nation can be checked," he said. "Upon the formation of his Cabinet and the success and terms of floating the reorganization loan, every hope and fear for the ultimate outcome of the present civil strife is based. Dr. Sun Yat Sen, first President, or rather pro-tem chairman, represents the educated and progressive class, which consists of about 50,000 persons, and is only as leaven for the rising republic."

According to Dr. McDill, Manchuria will always remain in the hands of Japan and Russia, because of their joint control of the railroads. Of Hawaiian affairs, he said grave fear is felt for the passage of the anti-sugar tariff.

The sugar and mission interests declare they will be ruined if the free sugar bill becomes a law. One thing is certain to them and that is a division of their present 20 per cent. profit on the product, if the tariff is removed.

"Politically the Filipinos are viewing their future more seriously and calmly than heretofore," said Dr. McDill. "They are trying to get on the common ground of the element in the United States, favoring a larger participation in self government, which, in a decade to them, would probably mean independence under an American protectorate.

"American investors are overlooking one of the most fertile and remunerative fields in the world. There are still 13,000,000 acres of uncultivated soil, which can be leased at 10 cents an acre for twenty-five years, or bought for $2 an acre, which will produce anything that will grow in a tropical or temperate climate. In addition there are 25,000,000 acres of merchantable timber, consisting of some of the finest hardwood in existence and which is obtainable through concession. The money from these grants is put into the improvement of the roads."

"As for mining, it is a fact that the entire country is mineralized. Conservative and skilled mining men are developing some fine properties. The Filipinos take little interest in the development of mineral resources and up to this time it has been impossible to induce any of the young men to take up mining engineering and help to bring this industry to the front. Gold-bearing alluvials and true fissure veins have been discovered and are paying large dividends in a number of instances. The application of the mining and land laws of the United States should be extended to the islands in place of the present system of patents.

The health conditions in Manila and the provinces are as good as in the larger communities of the United States. The quality and amount of scientific research work done by the College of Medicine and the government laboratories has attracted favorable comment from all parts of the scientific world."

Dr. McDill will leave today for Washington. He will go to Europe and will visit the leading clinics in various countries previous to returning to America to live.

USEFUL CAREER IS ENDED.

Clerk of Department Two of Superior Court, Organizer of Probate System, Dies at Hospital.

William Lamb Warren, clerk of Department Two of the Superior Court, died at the Clara Barton Hospital yesterday morning, after an illness of seven months.

Although his death was momentarily expected, it came as a shock to his fellow clerks and attorneys who pay tribute to his executive ability in organizing the present probate system. He leaves a widow, but no children.

Warren was born at Westbrook, Me., in 1843. Previous to coming to Los Angeles in 1887, he was engaged in the woolen manufacturing business. In 1889 he was appointed clerk in Department Six of the Superior Court, under Judge McKinley. The bailiff was Peter Reel, now day elevator man at the Courthouse. Warren served as clerk to Judges McKinley, Clark, Shaw, Gibbs and Rives.

As a graduate of Yale in 1865, he brought to his duties an organizing mind and a keen intellect. He served as clerk almost continuously until last October, when he was stricken with his last illness.

When little hope was held out for his recovery, Warren's brothers, George L. and Fred E. of Portland, Me., came here and attended him to the end. Besides these he has a sister, Mrs. Ellen L. Mayhew of Westbrook. Warren was a thirty-second degree Mason, and a Knight Templar. He was a Past Master of Temple Lodge, Westbrook. Upon coming to Los Angeles he became a member of Los Angeles Commandery.

The funeral services will be held at Warren's late residence, No. 787 South Union avenue, probably tomorrow. The remains will be shipped to Maine. The Courthouse will be represented by C. G. Keyes, former County Clerk; Thomas Lancaster, deputy Sheriff; C. B. Glase, assistant clerk, and Brainerd Clark, decree clerk of Department Two, as pall bearers. Judge Rives adjourned the Probate Court yesterday afternoon in honor of Warren's memory.

of Venice have already taken action in the premises and have provided a swing of entertainment including every rich amusement at that popular resort. They will issue tickets to every little loiterer within their gates and these tickets will offer the wee people every sort of thrill yet invented to satisfy the craving of an insatiable American public for sensations. Grown-ups who can prove that they are the authorized escorts, chaperons and bodyguards of from one to six healthy youngsters will be allowed the privileges of the day.

Now, listen closely to what we are about to say. We need machines and lots of them. Last year the people did nobly. They came forward with 250 automobiles and 1200 children went dizzy with happiness as a result. We were able to take care of the children in every charitable institution in the city. This included all of the hospitals, orphanages, day nurseries and the like. But we did not reach as many poor children in the public schools as were easily available. We could have filled 500 machines and that is what we would like for this year. If you have a machine, let us know now that it is available that day. If you can contribute the machine and yourself so much the better. You will know that your automobile is in safe hands if you drive it yourself and you will not miss the fun.

You really cannot afford to miss the one really and truly picnic of the year. You owe this to the less fortunate than yourself out of gratitude for your own prosperity, and you owe yourself the best day of vacation you will get in the whole year.

Write or telephone as soon as you can that we may count on you for an automobile or for the price of one for the day. Rent or borrow a machine and come along. It is the best procession that will speed the Venice highway for another year. It is the joy-ride emphasized and regenerated. Get in while the getting is good.

The Wonderful Acousticon Doing Wonderful Things for the Deaf.

Duty to self and friends, to those who surround one, should impel every deaf person at least to investigate the wonderful workings of the wonderful Acousticon and see for one's self just what it can do.

There is absolutely no expense attached to this, for a complete trial of the instrument is free of all cost. No fees for examination or trial. You cannot buy the instrument unless it does actually help you hear.

Another feature of the Acousticon which makes it desirable is the fact that its use need not be noticeable. It is a little device, worn as part of one's dress, altogether inconspicuous, and leaves the hands entirely free.

Thousands of satisfied users all over the country have sent their voluntary testimonials and letters of thanks to the inventor of the Acousticon for the help that it has proven to them every moment of every day.

It would be a good plan to clip out this notice so that you will have the address, and then at your leisure call or write for the free information and trial without cost of this device which enables the deaf to hear. The GENERAL ACOUSTIC CO., 530 Security Building, Los Angeles.

...ust forced to sleep on floors to pre...nt them from running away, the police assert.

Acting on the initiative of Chief Sebastian, orders were issued last night by Leo W. Marden, chief probation officer, forbidding the police to send any more girls to the institution except in extreme cases where the law makes this step mandatory.

"We have waited for more than three years for a real detention home and we are now worse off than ever," said Marden when asked for an explanation of the frequent escapes from the institution. "Neither the superintendent nor the matron is responsible for the present conditions as much as they are not allowed to place bars on the windows.

Before leaving the city a few days ago Chief Sebastian declared that there was little use of arresting juvenile offenders when they were sent to an institution absolutely without restraints of any kind and where the prisoners had been in the habit of opening windows for the reception of visitors at night.

OCULAR EVIDENCE

To corroborate the tales about recently asserted to have been adopted to prevent further escapes, an investigation was made by the police last night with the result that ocular evidence was adduced showing that heavy irons had been placed on the ankles of children imbued with a desire to get away from the institution. Of the seventy inmates in the home last night, thirteen were compelled to sleep on the floors, not only because there were insufficient beds but because it was believed that girls might use the beds as a means of climbing to the transoms and so freeing themselves from the deadly monotony of the place.

It was also learned that Meredith Cox, a young child living with his parents at No. 3214 East Second street and who first had escaped from the $75,000 "home," and subsequently had been recaptured, was held a prisoner with his feet manacled. Members of the police department saw him with one or both feet around the room during an examination of his ankle where the flesh had commenced to turn black owing to the stoppage of normal circulation.

In addition to being beaten for disobedience, those who had escaped or refused the police anything derogatory regarding the management of the institution were punished, the police stated, by being forced to undergo a terrible torture known as the "bucks." This punishment consists in forcing a child to balance the weight of his body on the balls of his feet and raise and lower the body with each beat of the clock until he falls exhausted. Those who refused to submit to this brutal punishment were subjected to "paddling," the officers assert.

CHILD ORDERED RELEASED.

A bright little lad giving the name of Carl McIntyre, No. 154 South Hicks street, who appeared to be not older than six years, was discovered terrified with vicious boys of more advanced years because he had been in company with his three older brothers when one of the latter is alleged to have stolen a bicycle. He was ordered released by the probation officer.

When the Detention Home was located in the old building on North Alameda street, orders were issued to send no more girls to the place, owing to the impossibility of their being thrown into temptation by visitors who gained access through the windows. At that time Chief Sebastian and the probation officers were assured that con-

The Camera Tells the Story of Progress at El Segundo

From a Barley Field to a Thriving Industrial City in Seven Months---

Wonderful Transformation Made Only Eight Miles from City Limits

Seven months ago a quiet, peaceful stretch of farm land—today, a vigorous young industrial town—the home of the Standard Oil Company's great refinery, which, when completed, will be the largest of its kind in the world. El Segundo has not been a product of the real estate boomer—it is built upon a big, substantial foundation—nothing smaller than the great Standard Oil Corporation. But the town will not be dependent upon this industry alone for its future success. Scores of other industries will seek the cheap, permanent supply of fuel, terminal rates, free factory sites, shipping facilities and other industrial advantages offered at El Segundo. Wherever the Standard Oil Company has located, an important industrial city has been developed. Port Richmond, Cal.; Whiting, Ind., and Bayonne, N. J., are instances. Since the recent establishment of the Standard Oil Company's first Pacific Coast plant at Port Richmond, Cal., the following industries have taken advantage of cheap fuel, terminal rates and other advantages — steel works, pressed brick plants, furniture factories, stove foundries, gas engine companies, briquet plant, prest-o-lite company, pottery works, breweries, lumber, hardware, oil by-products, piling, can factories, pipe works, porcelain plants, Pullman Palace Car Company, etc.

A nation-wide campaign will be waged by the Chamber of Commerce and the El Segundo Land and Improvement Company for the purpose of quickly locating industries at El Segundo. What has happened at Port Richmond, Whiting, Ind., and Bayonne, N. J., will take place here. Real estate values will increase several hundred per cent. Those who invest in land at El Segundo now will reap a rich reward. We advise buying for a quick turn—buying to erect houses to be sold to employees—buying to erect houses for renting—buy and erect office and store buildings—buy and hold for future growth—buy and hold to sell to industries.

The photographs above were taken only this week. The camera tells the story. El Segundo is not a dream—it is a splendid, live, pulsating reality. The first building was erected last August—and today, seven months later, a water plant costing $30,000, with sufficient capacity for a city of 15,000 inhabitants, has been installed. Water has been piped to 168 acre home places. Over 12 miles of ornamental shade trees have been planted. Over eight miles of cement street curbing and sidewalks have been laid. Nearly a hundred buildings have been erected, ranging in cost from $25,000 down, including a bank, church, stores, warehouse, residences, etc. Two and a half miles of railroad have been constructed by the El Segundo Land and Improvement Company, and four miles have been laid by the Standard Oil Company, connecting with the Pacific Electric and Santa Fe systems. Telephone and electric lighting systems are in operation. There is a busy postoffice—a well filled school, and a wide-awake Chamber of Commerce. The Standard Oil Company is now constructing a 4000-foot concrete wharf, and one unit of the big refinery is now in operation, with a capacity of about 6000 barrels per day.

Go down and see El Segundo today. Go and see the nucleus of what will eventually be Southern California's most important industrial city. Take Del Rey-Redondo car from Hill-street station. Cars leave every 30 minutes. For specific information relative to business property, residence lots, acreage, industrial sites, business opportunities, etc., call on or write to The El Segundo Land and Improvement Company, owners, 561 I. W. Hellman Bldg., 124 W. Fourth St., Los Angeles.

As the committee of citizens known as the juvenile board refused to allow locks or bars on the doors and windows for fear of offending the sensibilities of the inmates, escapes began to be effected within twenty-four hours. A Way Out.

NEW OFFICE TO SOLVE PROBLEM.

REGISTER OF VOTERS MAY BE SCANDAL'S OUTCOME.

Intimated that Grand Jury Report on Alleged Improper Activities of County Clerk Will Recommend that Registration Be Taken Away from His Functions.

A recommendation for a severance of the registration of voters' department may be given by the grand jury when it makes its partial report tomorrow morning before Judge Hutton, according to intimations made yesterday, and County Clerk Lelande may be censured for his method of doing business and allowing his clerks to pass their time working for a political organization. It is hoped to create a new office, that of register of voters.

Contrary to expectation, the grand jury did not report yesterday. It met at 10 o'clock in the morning and deliberated until noon. It was then announced that the Inquisitorial body would not take up other matters until it makes its report tomorrow.

The representatives of the District Attorney were not in the grand jury room yesterday, preferring to leave any possible action entirely to the members.

In order to separate the registration department from the County Clerk's office, it is probable that more than mere legislative action is necessary. However, that matter can be looked up after the grand jury makes its report. That it has considered affairs in the County Clerk's office to be in a serious condition is evidenced by the time consumed by the jurors. It has spent a greater part of a week hearing the evidence.

The investigation was taken up at the urgent demand of several thousand tax payers, who, through their spokesmen, made their desire known. Long before the recent count of the voters of the county was completed, Lelande made a demand for more money from Supervisors and also asked for volunteers. He explained that there were more voters than was anticipated when the State Legislature made its appropriation.

Not only did the fund become exhausted but it became incumbent upon the Supervisors to devise means for getting out the necessary sample ballots. Acting upon the advice of Deputy District Attorney Hauna, the Supervisors let by contract the task of addressing and mailing more than 500,000 envelopes.

Indirect Proposition.

CITY HALL BUILDING LEVY BEFORE VOTERS.

THE proposal to sell the present City Hall as a preliminary to building a new one on the Temple Block site will not come up after all until after the special election on May 28.

The opposition, as had been expected, took advantage of the unavoidable absence of Councilman Andrews at the meeting of the Council yesterday, and succeeded in getting the consideration of the ordinance postponed. The Council chamber was crowded by friends and foes of the measure, as it has been whenever any phase of the City Hall fight has come up, and the enemies of the civic center regarded the delay as a point in their favor.

But it was only half a point at best, the friends of the plan pointed out, and they argued the people should have a chance to say something about it at any rate, so the question will be submitted at the special election on initiative ordinances to be held on May 28. It will be put to the voters, however, not in a direct form, but in an ordinance approving the levying of a 5-cent tax for the erection of a new City Hall. It was argued that a vote for the tax would be a vote for a new City Hall, and with that understanding the proposition was adopted, although Chairman Whiffen of the Finance Committee, who is opposed to a new City Hall for many years to come, voted against it to the end.

This out of the way, the Council went ahead and ordered the special election for May 28. Besides the proposed 5-cent tax for a new City Hall there will be three initiative ordinances on the ballot. The first is the tuberculin test, the second whether two Socialists shall be added to the Aqueduct Investigation Commission, and the third is whether the Board of Public Utilities shall be given authority to fix fares to be charged by electric city and interurban railways within the city limits.

For some of these, arguments are to be prepared and to accompany the ballots that will be sent to all registered voters. Health Commissioner Powers, for example, will make an argument for the tuberculin test for all dairy herds furnishing milk to Los Angeles.

S. C. Graham, new member of the Public Service Commission and president of the Good Government League, is to make the argument against adding two Socialists to the Aqueduct Investigation Commission. This announcement caused a smile, as W. F. Bryant, to whose efforts Graham owes his appointment on the Public Service Commission, was the principle backer of C. E. Warner, member of the Investigating Commission who attacked the aqueduct management in a special report. Warner, who was thoroughly discredited at the hearing before the Council on this report, is known to be working for the two additional Socialist members, and he is a close friend of Graham.

The Municipal League is to prepare the argument in favor of giving the Board of Public Utilities the authority to fix fares on electric roads within the city.

Prices Broken.

PLENTY OF POTATOES IN LOS ANGELES NOW.

WITH upward of 200 cars of California potatoes in storage in Los Angeles and with daily receipts from the outside districts, the market has been completely relieved of pressure. The demand for May, or until arrival of new stock in sufficient quantities, will be met with a plentiful supply.

Potato brokers said yesterday that there was no need of shipping potatoes into Southern California from Oregon and other States, because the home potatoes are in sufficient quantity to meet all demands. At the same time those who buy at retail are glad to see them come.

This was the cause, they said, of the sweeping reduction in prices Monday, when all varieties declined from 10 to 25 cents a hundred. This is considered the break in prices and it gives every indication that any scarcity, fancied or otherwise, has been overcome.

One large dealer said that the market is easy and will remain so; that there is a lot of stock on hand that will have to be used up before the arrival of the new crop in large quantities. He said that if anything, the shipment here of potatoes from Oregon and other outside States would tend to injure the market rather than help it. Consumers, however, do not agree with him on this from their point of view.

The new crop, according to reports from producing centers, is in good condition and the planting this year normal. Some planting has not yet begun, while in other places the crop is well along toward maturity.

New potatoes from the gardens have been in the market about ten days, selling at 6 and 7 cents a pound, which is considered but a fair price. However, the demand is beyond the supply. Predictions are a good potato year throughout California.

Quotations yesterday by the hundred weight were: Highland, $1.90 to $2.25; Salinas, $2.50 to $2.95; Lompoc, $2.75; Oregon, $2.25 to $2.50. Watsonville, $2.50 to $2.75; White Rose, local, $2.50 to $2.75; Idaho, $2.25 to $2.50.

MOUNTAIN ROAD TO BE REBUILT.

Pasadena Company to Spend Thousands in Work.

New Annexation Plan Now Being Considered.

Nine Hundred Children in a Festival of Song.

(Office of The Times, 32 S. Fair Oaks avenue.)

PASADENA, April 24.—A force of fifty men was assembled last night at the foot of the Mt. Wilson toll road, near Eaton's Canyon, and early this morning the reconstruction of the road will be begun. This road was originally blasted out as a path for a specially built narrow automobile by which the lenses and larger castings were taken to the Carnegie Observatory on the summit of the mountain. Since then some changes have been made, and a number of light automobiles have succeeded in gaining the top of the peak. The road is now to be rebuilt into one that will be traversible by any automobile.

Up to the present time, with the few exceptions referred to, the only means of reaching the summit of Mt. Wilson have been to go by foot or on horseback. With the improvement upon which work is to be commenced this morning the Pasadena and Mt. Wilson Toll Road Company expects to make it possible for any automobilists to go to the summit and enjoy the view without leaving their cars.

The grade does not exceed 10 per cent. at any point along the road, it is declared, but the turns will be extended to a radius of 75 degrees. The distance is about nine miles. Two miles will be cut off the approach by the construction of a half-mile of road connecting the main road directly with the Foothill boulevard. The Eaton's Canyon wash will be spanned by a bridge.

W. S. Wright, of No. 890 North Orange Grove avenue, a member of the board of directors of the company, said last night that the expense of putting the road in shape will be between $8000 and $10,000, although much more than this amount will probably be spent in making all of the conveniences for an easy trip up the mountain.

Whether or not the company will establish a line of automobiles to make the trip at stated intervals, and carry passengers, as has been talked of, has not been determined as yet, according to Wright. He stated, when asked if a toll will be charged, that that also is a point over which no arrangement has been effected.

F. C. Ross, president of the company, yesterday took active charge of the work at the foot of the trail. The men will there make their start and work their way up, completing the road as they go. Much damage that was done by the recent rains will have to be repaired. It is expected by the directors of the company that the road will be completed and ready for traffic by June 1.

Apropos of the announcement yesterday that the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors has instructed Supervisor Manning to post a notice at the entrance gate on the summit, where an admission is charged, that the fence must be opened within ten days, and that a fine of $10 a day will be exacted for each day the fence remains after the sign is posted, Wright, who is also attorney for the company, last night said:

"It will result in a test case. We will have to make a test of it, although I don't know when we will get around to it. They claim that the trail extends over the top of the mountain, and we contend that it just extends to the summit, and not on to the hotel."

MAY BE ANNEXED.

Whether the best solution of the water problem would not be for outlying territory to be annexed to Pasadena, and then, by arrangement with Los Angeles, Owens River water obtained for all sections through one system of pipes, is a question which the City Council now has under consideration. The subject was brought up yesterday, but no definite action looking to such an arrangement was taken. It will be discussed further by members of the City Water Commission.

CHILDREN TO SING.

A music festival that is to be carried out on a larger scale than anything of the kind that has heretofore been attempted is being arranged by school children of the city under the supervision of Miss Eleanor Bush, director of music in the public schools. The concerts will be given on the afternoons of the 9th and 10th inst., at Clune's Theater, and 500 children will appear on the stage in the opening chorus.

Over 900 grammar school pupils and kindergarten children will take part in the affair. There will be an orchestra of fifty pieces, also made up entirely of school children. They will play under the direction of Prof. Herbert H. Parker. Several boys and girls' glee clubs will sing, and there will be a maypole dance by the kindergarten tots.

The object of giving the festival is to afford parents and others an opportunity of seeing what work in music is accomplished at the public schools. Prof. W. H. Holland of the Wilshire school, has charge of all business arrangements for the undertaking.

CAMPAIGN IS ON.

The campaign to be waged over liquor regulations that are to be voted on May 14, is now in full blast. The Citizens' Association, which is championing the more liberal proposed charter amendment, is arranging a meeting to be held next Saturday night. The directors have already had a meeting and selected Harry Geohegan to take charge of the campaign. A committee will be named to assist with the work, and the city is being carefully canvassed.

The Prohibition Workers' League of the Sixth Ward, met last night at the home of Mrs. M. P. Reeder, No. 350 North Holliston avenue. The meeting was an open one and there was a large attendance.

HOTEL MAN LEAVES.

Col. G. G. Green, owner of the Hotel Green, who several days ago declared that Pasadena is too slow, and said that he is going to try to liven it up a bit when he returns in the fall, left yesterday for his eastern home in Woodbury, N. J. He invited Manager David B. Plummer of the hotel to visit him there and talk over plans for the next season before Plummer goes on to the White Mountains, in New Hampshire, where he conducts a hotel in the summer. A large number of friends assembled at the depot as it came time for the train to leave, to bid Col. and Mrs. Green good-by, and decorated their private car with flowers.

CITY BRIEFS.

Members of the Northeast Pasadena Improveemnt Association appeared before the City Council yesterday to protest against the proposed establishment of a tuberculosis sanatorium in that part of the city.

The wreck of the Titanic has not caused Pasadenans who contemplated trips to Europe this summer to change their plans. Among those who are booked for passage across the Atlantic are Miss Florence Dwight, E. N. Wright and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Clark, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Edwards, and Miss Wilamena Abeldgaard.

The City Council yesterday continued the Orange Grove-avenue paving hearing for a week.

Frank G. Hogan has been re-elected president of the Pasadena Polo Club, to serve for another year.

R. E. FitzWilliam, cashier at the Hotel Green, will leave next week for Catalina Island, to become clerk at the Hotel Metropole, there.

CHARITY BALL FRIDAY NIGHT.

WOMEN SEND OUT FIFTEEN HUNDRED INVITATIONS.

Vacation Home for Working Girls Is the Object of the Affair, and Beach and City Society Will Endeavor to Make It a Brilliant Success.

VENICE, April 23.—Invitations to the number of 1500 have been issued for the charity ball to be given Friday evening of this week at the Venice dancing pavilion, and it promises to be a brilliant affair.

Many prominent society women in Los Angeles, Hollywood and Santa Monica, as well as Venice, are taking a deep interest, which insures its social as well as financial success. The Vacation Home for Working Girls, for which this benefit is given, is just beginning its fourth year, its purpose being to provide a week of rest in the summer to tired women who cannot afford an outing of any sort. It has accommodations for twelve at a time and since it was started has averaged 140 each summer.

As most of the women who have enjoyed the hospitality of the home have been Los Angeles people, it is hoped the response from that city will be most generous. The price of tickets for those who have received invitations is $1 per couple, 50 cents for extra ladies.

The next city election, just ordered for May 27, will be the first to be conducted at this beach under the provisions of the new law, which gives the people whatever of benefit may lie in the initiative method of legislation. At this time the vote will be upon the adoption of a municipal ordinance restricting the number of Venice saloon licenses to two. Should the vote be favorable, there will in the future be but one saloon in the Windward-avenue zone. The other will be in the extreme northern end of the city.

One of the arguments urged in behalf of the annexation of Walgrove to Venice was that this would insure the residents of that section of the beach a 5-cent trolley car fare to all parts of the city, but, although annexation became a realty many months ago, the cheaper fare has not yet been granted. Last night the matter was considered by the City Trustees. A committee will labor with the Pacific Electric during the week and submit the result of its work at the regular session next Monday evening.

UNIQUE INSURANCE PLAN.

Watts Citizens Band Together and When One Dies All Put Dollar in Purse for Funeral Fund.

WATTS, April 23.—Watts has perhaps the only mutual life insurance organization in the State. It is known as the Watts Home Society, and was organized some three years ago with about twenty-five charter members. No attempt has been made to build up the membership until the present time, but now an effort is to be made to bring it to the attention of as many people as possible.

The society was promoted by J. H. Shave, he getting the idea from a place in Texas, where he formerly resided. There is no ritual or anything of that sort, but rather a pledge of honor as the binding tie. It is mutually agreed between the members that when there is a death of one of their number, the remaining members pay $1 to the secretary of the organization. If there should be a hundred members and one died, the beneficiary designated would receive $99. During the three years the society has been in existence, there have been three deaths, costing the members a total of $3 each. Membership is limited to 500 people. When that number of members has been secured, no more will be admitted until the number is reduced on account of deaths.

It has been suggested that as soon as the first society has 500 members, that a second be organized, as a separate institution. This keeps the expansion of operation down to a minimum and is easily covered by the admission fee of $2 per member. The present officers of the Watts Home Society are W. M. Kellogg, postmaster and merchant, president; Charles H. Dodd, Mayor of Watts, vice-president; J. H. Shave, secretary. The annual meeting is to be held May 4, when a new board of trustees is to be chosen.

Mayor Withdraws Offer to Audit Accounts.

LONG BEACH, April 23.—A telegram to Chief of Police Moyer late this afternoon, announcing the arrest at Benson, Ariz., of Elven Clem, aged 21, cleared up several mysterious thefts of automobiles in Long Beach the past few weeks. Two others of the gang, Murray Rucker of this city and Glen Haines of Los Angeles, were arrested in El Centro last night and brought to this city today by Constable Slanker of Pomona.

The Clem boy has waived extradition and will be brought back at once. He is said to have confessed his share in the thefts. Recently the auto of Councilman M. S. Rucker was stolen and later was found abandoned in Los Angeles. Shortly after, the car of J. K. Bigelow disappeared and it was learned the three boys had traded it for another, and the Bigelow car had started for Hermosillo, Tex. The auto of E. L. Wingard is also missing and this theft is also laid at the door of the trio.

BABY SUCCUMBS.

Irene Woods, the baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Woods, died this evening of injuries sustained last Friday when the baby, with other children, were playing about a gasoline lamp which had been thrown out into the yard.

One of the children struck a match to "light the funny lamp," and a moment later there was an explosion, scattering the burning oil over the Woods baby, burning it severely on the arms, face and body. Medical attention was given the victim and it seemed to improve until this morning, when unexpected and unfavorable symptoms developed and after much suffering, resulted in death late this afternoon.

WITHDRAWS OFFER.

Smarting under the criticism aroused last week by his offer to assist the auditor in checking up the books of city departments, including his own, made during his incumbency as Auditor, Mayor Hatch, just before the close of Council last midnight, withdrew his offer and asked the Council to employ somebody. Refusing to listen to the conciliatory words of his associates, the matter was referred to the Finance Committee to employ an expert accountant.

FOURTH ANNUAL.

The fourth annual gathering of the Oddfellows and Rebekahs of the Southern California Anniversary Association of the order will be held at Long Beach Friday in celebration of the ninety-third anniversary.

Capt. W. R. Merrick and Col. H. S. Brown of Los Angeles, president and secretary of the organization, estimate that there will be between three and four thousand members of the order to participate in the all-day programme, the literary and oratorical part of which occurs in the morning and includes addresses by Mayor Hatch, F. E. Pierce and Gen. W. H. Barnes of San Francisco, music by the band and whistling solo by Miss Gertrude Willey. At noon a picnic dinner will be enjoyed and in the afternoon there will be a parade, followed by the decoration of chivalry being conferred upon a class of ladies by Gen. Ritter, the highest decoration in the order. The day will close with a grand military ball at the Auditorium.

NOT SATISFACTORY.

The offer of the Pacific Electric to sell commutation books of 5-cent fares to Gaspur on the west side of the city, and to East Wilmington, is proving unsatisfactory to the Law Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, they asserting that the franchises under which the Pacific Electric operates in this city provide for a 5-cent fare in the city limits and also universal transfers from mainline cars to intersecting lines, and the City Attorney has ruled that the franchise makes no distinction as to interurban cars.

The Chamber of Commerce has asked that the city either pass a law demanding these two points, or else refuse, so that they may carry the matter to the State Public Utilities for adjustment. The mooted question has been before Councils at divers times in the past few years, but it remained for the present Law Committee of the Chamber of Commerce to insist upon the Council asserting the rights of the city in the matter as appears under the franchise provisions.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Instructions were received today by Capt. Borden of Company H, N.G.C., to enlist everyone who applies for membership, providing the applicants are unmarried. This is taken to mean that the State officials are preparing to be ready to send full regiments south, if required. Co. H. at present has a roll of sixty, and eight more were added last night, one being a transfer from a San Diego company.

The Chamber of Commerce today received word that the annual outing of the Woodbury Business College of Los Angeles would be held at Long Beach, May 3.

Rev. C. S. Mook,

And St. Mathias Episcopal Church of Whittier, which was last night changed from a mission to a parish.

NEW PARISH IS CREATED.

Bishop Johnson Visits Whittier and Converts Former Mission Into a Church in Full Fellowship.

WHITTIER, April 23.—The Rt. Rev. Joseph H. Johnson, bishop of the diocese of Los Angeles, came to Whittier for the second time this year for the purpose of administering the right of confirmation to a large class of adults, and also to institute the Rev. Charles Stanley Mook as rector of St. Matthias Parish.

For sixteen years past St. Matthias Church has been a mission receiving support from the Board of Missions, and on April 19, sixteen months after the Rev. Mook took charge, a meeting was held in the church, and articles of incorporation were drawn up, the meeting incorporated and the mission made a parish.

The church was elaborately decorated tonight and crowds packed the house.

Following the confirmation ceremony, an alms basin in memory of Rev. George Robinson, formerly in charge of this mission, was presented to the parish by Mrs. Truman Berry and a solid silver wafer box for the Holy Eucharist, was presented by William Irving, a member of the local chapter of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew.

The number of communicants of the church has increased more than 300 per cent. in the last two years, and 50 per cent. since May, 1911. The total number of communicants now is 115.

Much of the credit for the remarkable growth of the church is due to Rev. Mook, who has worked unceasingly, and also to the efforts of the local chapter of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, and the Daughters of the King, and other auxiliaries of the church, many of which have been organized since Rev. Mook has taken charge of the mission. The church also has a large vested choir.

The little church is one of the liveliest in Southern California, and has furnished the inspiration for institutional work which is now being carried on in this city. At a meeting of the vestry recently held, Rev. Mook's services were retained for another year.

Healthy Mothers

Women who bear children and remain healthy are those who prepare their systems in advance of baby's coming. Unless the mother aids nature in its pre-natal work the crisis finds her system unequal to the demands made upon it, and she is often left with weakened health or chronic ailments. No remedy is so truly a help to nature as Mother's Friend, and no expectant mother should fail to use it. It relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes pliant and elastic those fibres and muscles which nature is expanding, prevents numbness of limbs, and soothes the inflammation of breast glands. The system being thus prepared by Mother's Friend dispels the fear that the crisis may not be safely met. Mother's Friend assures a speedy and complete recovery for the mother, and she is left a healthy woman to enjoy the rearing of her child. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

San Bernardino.

VISITATION OF A STRANGE FOE.

Horticulturalists Puzzled by Uncatalogued Enemy.

Tendency to Reduce Southern California Product.

New Method Adopted May Regulate Social Evil.

SAN BERNARDINO, April 23.—[Special.] The peach and nectarine orchards in the north part of the valley are suffering from a strange visitation, the exact cause of which is not known. Horticultural experts from Berkeley will be appealed to if the examination which County Horticultural Commissioner S. A. Pease will be asked to make does not result in discovering the cause of the disease.

In the case of the apricot trees the leaves are full of small holes, bordered with brown, like rust spots. The fruit, which is about the size of a robin's egg, is brown on the upper side and has the appearance of having been stung by insects.

The peach and nectarines are even worse. The lower limbs of these appear to be dying. They are covered with an exudation which has hardened into drops on the underside of the limbs, like raindrops following a shower. On branches thus affected the yellowed leaves and small fruit are dead and dead. The injury seems to increase on the higher branches, and the extreme top of the trees seems as yet to be only slightly affected.

Those who have investigated state that if the blight extends over the entire part of the State as generally as it does in the northern part of the valley the apricot, peach and nectarine crops of the State are likely to be immensely reduced.

It is stated that, even should the cause of the ailment be readily ascertained, that the information thus obtained will come too late to be of any material benefit to the horticulturalists of this valley, whose trees are affected, as the fruit is already badly injured. The infection is found not to be confined to deciduous orchards in the north end of the valley, but in all sections of the valley these trees appear to have been touched by the disease.

NEW METHOD ADOPTED.

The City Council has directed City Attorney C. L. Allison to at once commence injunction proceedings against property owners in the redlight district, to restrain them from continuing to lease their property for immoral purposes. This step is taken in connection with the determination to close the houses in that section, which have been open for thirty days. It is believed that by means of this civil action the jury system can be discarded, and the end sought quickly attained. The injunction suits will be based upon the allegation that the redlight houses constitute a public nuisance. It is stated here that these suits will be the first ever brought in the State to stamp out a redlight section.

CHINO CONTEST.

Charles M. Craw and Levi Vredenburgh of Chino have filed petitions asking for recount of the ballots cast at the municipal election at Chino April 2. Craw's petition is directed against Carl Vincent Newman, while Vrendenburgh contests the election with James C. Reher. Craw and Vredenburgh ran against Newman and Reher for seats on the board of city trustees. Reher beat Vredenburgh by one vote, and Newman beat Craw by seven. Judge Bledsoe has set Monday, May 6, in Department Two of the Superior Court as the date and place of the recount. Attorneys Willis and Guthrie of this city represent the petitioners.

SUE FOR SALARIES.

The suit of C. M. Brown and five other former employees of the Redlands Golden Orange Company, against the corporation to recover $9000 alleged to be due as salaries, was commenced this morning in the Superior Court. Brown and the other plaintiffs were discharged on the ground that they were conspiring to build up a rival concern. Brown was general manager. He testified today that as general manager he had full authority to contract debts and to deduct from the earnings moneys to pay the debts and his expenses. The trial will continue through the week.

MILITARY PROWESS.

Company K, N.G.C., gave a public tournament tonight at the Armory to show to the people of the town the prowess they have acquired in military maneuvers. There were tent erecting feats, marches, wall scaling fencing, litter work, sketching, guard mounts and equipment races. The exhibition was attended by several hundred civilians. Owing to local feeling that Company K may soon be called into active service the number of spectators tonight was greatly augmented.

Capt. Byron Allen of Company K, N.G.C., has been ordered to regimental headquarters at Los Angeles Wednesday night to attend a lecture of the Boer war, by Capt. Fuquea of the regular army. It is believed here that at this lecture a conference will be held relative to the possibility of being called into active service owing to conditions in Mexico. All captains of Seventh Regiment companies will attend the lecture.

San Diego.

ARMED VAGRANTS HEADED FOR THE SOUTHERN CITY.

SAN DIEGO, April 23.—More than 100 I.W.W.'s, some said to be armed, are reported to be in possession of the camp ground at San Onofre, recently vacated by the district of the county patrol, which for three weeks was established there to keep the I.W.W.'s out of the county.

Although each county official of authority denied the rumor it was reported that another armed force would be sent to San Onofre to drive the invaders back to Santa Ana. Sheriff Utley denied that he had called for such a guard. Constable Harry Pace said he knew nothing of it. District Fred Jennings said so far as his official jurisdiction is concerned peace and tranquility prevailed. He said he had no reports of an insurrecting force.

Notwithstanding these denials, it is stated the same men who had been in charge of the former camp at San Onofre had been notified to prepare to go back there.

These agitators who were so eager to give testimony before the Weinstock investigation commission seem to be dodging a chance to tell the grand jury what they know about the outrages and police cruelties to their fellows. Prosecuting Officer Frank McCoy has furnished a list of fourteen of witnesses desired by the grand jury. Fred Moore and M. Robbins appear before the grand jury. They said he had been able to locate. Two of these were Matt Robbins and the others were Hummell and Julius Tum. Others sought are Thomas Killeen, David Brooks, James Rose Lahr, Fred Hyers, John J. Bonnet, James Carroll, J. Grand jury will assemble. Dist.-Atty. Utley stated that he received written requests from both Moore and Robbins demanding a grand jury investigation of the so-called vigilantes and the acts of the police department.

TOWN FOR SPEAKERS.

The Taft Club has arranged for two of the ablest women speakers of Southern California to address a big meeting in Germania Hall Wednesday night. Mrs. Seward A. Simons of Redlands, who was heard here in the Taft campaign campaign, and Mrs. Ida A. Westland, of Upland, a candidate delegate to the Chicago convention on the Taft ticket, will be the speakers. Charles M. Shortridge of San Bernardino will also speak. The club has undertaken a lively campaign committee on finances and a committee on VICIOUS INFLUENCE.

Itinerant ice-cream and hokey-pokey peddlers are demoralizing the morals of some of the public school children of San Diego, according to Superintendent Duncan MacKinnon. Boys and girls of tender age are learning to gamble for the tempting sweets, it is claimed. They shake dice, match pennies and risk their hoarded nickels at any game in the hope of winning a cone of frozen cream or paying the dealer double price.

So great has become the practice that Duncan MacKinnon, Superintendent of Schools, today appealed to the police to aid in putting a stop to what he fears may demoralize his pupils. Store-keepers who are permanently located in the vicinity of the city schools are not accused of encouraging this practice; it is the itinerants who carry their stocks in push carts or wagons drawn by horses who are said to be responsible. These peddlers make it a point to have their cagis and wagons containing attractively-arranged displays near the school grounds during recess and lunch hour each day.

ROBS CHURCH.

A burglar, whose crime leads the police to believe he is an anarchist who does not believe in any form of government, entered the First Congregational Church through a rear window last night, broke open lockers and desks, rifled the missionary fund, drank a bottle of communion wine, and when the destructive search for loot was completed the thief plastered the church sign with a rotten apple.

Evidence of the burglary was discovered by Arthur D. Judd, janitor of the church, this morning. He reported to the pastor, Rev. W. B. Thorp. The police in turn were notified. Mr. Thorp estimates that there was about $25 in the missionary collection. It was taken up during the services last Sunday. The contributors enclosed their offerings in small envelopes. These were placed, unopened, in one of the desks in the church. The desk was found broken open, one of the envelopes having fallen to the floor. A case of communion wine, used in the services, was also broken open. The case contained four bottles of wine. One of these had been opened and emptied. The unfermented liquor apparently did not suit the taste of the burglar, for the remaining bottles were left untouched.

JAPANESE WEDDING.

Arthur Y. Kaneko, son of U. S. Kaneko, who has been a well-known merchant here for many years, was wedded last night to Mary C. Kaneko, an adopted daughter. The ceremony was one of the most picturesque ever performed in Southern California. The First Methodist chapel was the scene of the nuptials, Rev. Otoe Soe, an ordained Japanese minister, performing the ceremony in the Japanese language.

Half a hundred guests, comprising Japanese and Americans, witnessed the interesting service. Frank Stokes, Jr., of Pasadena, a classmate of the groom at Berkeley, acted as best man. The little bride was winsome in a picturesque kimono of gray silk crepe, and was sandal shoon. The only American suggestions in evidence were the spray of orange blossoms caught in her hair and the bridal bouquet of carnations and ferns.

Following the ceremony, a banquet was served to 250 guests at the Golden State Hotel, owned and managed by the father of the groom. Frank A. Miller of the Glenwood Mission Inn proposed a toast to the bride and groom, and "to our neighbor, Ulysses Kaneko, and his good wife."

The groom graduated from the Riverside High School with honors, and from the University of California in 1910. His father has been frequently called to Japan to confer with officials with regard to questions of State. On one of these trips he and Mrs. Kaneko decided to adopt a little baby girl. Later they sent her back to Japan to be educated, and a few years ago she graduated from a girls' seminary. Young Kaneko fell in love with the adopted sister.

The ceremonies were elaborate and strictly in accord with Japanese customs. The guests were privileged to carry away with them boxes of Japanese confections and pastries, imported for the occasion.

PLANS OF RAILWAY MAGNATE.

The plans of Henry E. Huntington to make Riverside division headquarters for his inland trolley lines were referred to publicly for the first time here today. Mr. Huntington secured lands at the intersection of First and Main streets for extensive car barns and other buildings, which were to be constructed along lines harmonizing with Riverside's prevailing type of architecture.

The matter came up at today's meeting of the City Council, when the Mayor announced that he was in communication with Manager Paul Shoup of the Pacific Electric relative to vacating a portion of property in order to make uniform the connection of Main street with North Main by means of a subway. Unless the railway company is willing to move a section of track, about 800 feet of the roadway will be out of line and twenty-nine feet narrower than the highways to be connected.

Since the Pacific Electric has purchased Mr. Huntington's interests it is a question whether Riverside or San Bernardino is to secure the car barns. If the latter then the prospects of having the objectionable track removed are reasonably good.

TO SENTENCE FOUR.

Tomorrow will be a field day for the sentencing of prisoners in Judge Densmore's court. Of these John Watson, aged 60, will receive sentence for an offense against a little 7-year-old girl. Joe Augustine, convicted by a jury of being accessory in the shooting of Officer Higgins by an Italian; H. W. Kamashio, a Japanese convicted of assault with a knife on a countryman, and John C. Trenary, who this morning pleaded guilty to issuing fictitious checks, complete the quartette.

VISITING PYTHIANS.

Near-by cities sent 250 Pythians to Riverside last night to witness the degree team of Sunnyside Lodge of this city confer the rank of knight on a candidate. A banquet followed the ceremonies. This was the third in a series of five contests for a cup offered by Judge Bledsoe of San Bernardino for the lodge in the district best exemplifying the rank of knight, the third degree of the Pythian order.

TO EXTEND LIGHTING.

After considerable discussion the Board of Public Utilities decided last night to extend lines for lighting and power to the new Box Springs Sanatorium. This is the first time that the lines of the municipal plant have ever been extended outside the city, and there was a protest from some members of the board on this action.

It was also voted that no ornamental light poles and conduits can hereafter be erected in the city without permission from the Board of Public Utilities. It has been the practice of some subdivision boomers in the past to put up ornamental posts for lighting without arranging to have them connected up for lighting. Purchasers have in this way been "stung," and it is to protect them that the new order was made.

FORMER GOVERNOR TO SPEAK.

Ex-Gov. Gillett has been engaged by the Taft club to deliver an address at the Loring Theater on Friday night. The former Governor is well and popularly known here, and will be given a large and interested hearing.

SOCIAL PLANS ARE ALL AWRY.

SANTA ANA MAN HAS HIS HOPES FOREVER BLASTED.

Angeleno Establishes Business With High Purpose, but Sells Liquor Illegally and Is Compelled to Leave the County—Fifty Vagrants Out of Funds.

SANTA ANA, April 23.—E. L. Newman will be unable to take any part in the social or other activities of the Talbert Social and Athletic Association, the articles of incorporation of which were signed on April 13 and filed today. The reason he will be cut off from joining in the plans of the association is that he has but fifteen days in which to leave the county.

Newman went to Talbert from Los Angeles and bought a poolroom. He, L. A. Lawton and J. E. Brewer are named as directors of the social and athletic organization, the objects of which are stated in the articles to be for "social intercourse, athletic contests and the amusement and recreation of its members." Today Newman was taken into Justice Cox's court on a charge of selling liquor illegally. He pleaded guilty to two charges. In one case he paid a fine of $300. In the other a sentence of ninety days in jail was suspended, and Newman was given fifteen days to sell his poolroom and get out of the county.

Justice of the Peace Cox this morning saved his daughter, Miss Mary Cox, from burning. As she passed a stove her dress caught afire. Cox bunched the blazing folds of the dress, and with his bare hands beat out the fire. The young woman was not injured. Cox had his hands blistered.

Fifty I.W.W.'s in camp at San Juan Capistrano are out of funds, and have telegraphed to headquarters at San Pedro for money. The gang is undecided whether to go on into San Diego county, or return to Los Angeles. Someone from San Diego took word to their camp that the guards at San Onofre have been removed, and that San Diego has decided upon a new procedure. The unwelcome invaders are to be arrested, and put to work on county roads. The invaders are not looking for work on roads, or elsewhere, and they do not know what to make out of the report received.

Country Home Sites in the Foothills

LET SUBDIVISION SYNDICATE PROFITS EARN A MOST VALUABLE ACRE HOME PLACE FOR YOU.

LOS ANGELES, April 24.—Here in Los Angeles where the population is increasing continuously there is constantly added value to bare lands, and the transforming of them into beautiful bungalow districts is always highly profitable when the right locations are made.

Subdivision syndicates are usually handled on a private basis, but a public syndicate in which actual home makers and investors both mutually participate has long since been proven by us as the most satisfactory to all concerned.

You ought to make money and you can do so.

There are all kinds of depots on the road to success; just use a little horse sense and get your ticket for the right destination.

Are you going to go along, hoping some day you will have a little foothill spot of an acre or half acre—and as each day goes by and thousands of more homeseekers arrive here your hope grows more faint. Because each arrival helps to increase the price of land.

Read our booklet anyhow. It is so different.

Of course you want that acre in the foothills.

Of course you want it in the protected foothills—up above the fog and the damp night chill—where the spring, summer and autumn evenings can be spent on the front porch.—Ah! there is not much angel food like that left hereabouts and you know it.

We have a four-hundred-acre townsite within eleven miles of the Chamber of Commerce building. Over 1200 feet above the sea. Looks out through a pass in the hills, across Glendale and Los Angeles to Catalina Islands. Better than Altadena—equaling or surpassing Redlands and you haven't probably ever seen it.

We can show you how your profits in this, our tenth public syndicate, will earn you an acre, a half acre or a 60-foot villa plot—and just where your heart has yearned for.

Our autos are ready to take you out. Fifty cents round trip.

The DOCTOR'S ADVICE by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply to any case of similiar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Al." writes: "I should like a good reliable treatment for the hair and scalp. Something that will cure dandruff and stop falling hair, also cure an itching scalp."

Answer: The most reliable treatment for the scalp is sold in 4 oz. jars at any drug store and is called plain yellow minyol. It is superior to anything known for the scalp. It gives new vigor and helps the hair to keep its natural color. This will positively cure your dandruff and stop the itching of the scalp.

"Harry M." writes: "I am quite tall and do not weigh enough for my height. Am very nervous, and my skin is very pale."

Answer: You can readily increase your weight by taking three grain hypo-nuciane tablets regularly for several months. These tablets will also overcome nervousness, help digestion and assimilation and thus improve the color of the skin. Many report gaining 10 to 30 pounds with improved health in every way after a thorough course of treatment. The tablets are packed in sealed cartons with directions and are widely prescribed for your ailment.

"Poor Ann" writes: "Every winter I am troubled with slight attacks of rheumatism. I have tried many things but with no avail."

Answer: The best thing for rheumatism is made by mixing the following ingredients and taking a teaspoonful at meal times and again at bedtime: Iodide of potassium, 2 drams; sodium salicylate, 4 drams; wine of colchicum, ½ ounce; comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz. and syrup sarsaparilla comp. 5 ozs.

"Mrs. A. C." writes: "My little daughter has a very bad cold and cough which we do not seem able to even relieve. What shall I do?"

Answer: Purchase a 2½ oz. bottle of essence mentho-hazene and make a syrup according to directions given and your daughter will be cured within a few days. This is very pleasant to take and will drive the cold out of the system.

"Jane M." writes: "Kindly publish a remedy for dyspepsia. I feel irritable and cross and cannot sleep which I am sure is due to the stomach trouble. Please advise."

Answer: The following simple medicine will cure all your stomach disorders and if your food digests your whole system will be in a better condition. Get at any up-to-date drug store tablets triopeptina. These are packed in sealed cartons with full directions. They are pink, white and blue tablets to be taken mornings, noon and night.

"Sarah" writes: "Will you please repeat the formula for the tonic which you gave to 'Helen' some time ago? I am nervous, sleepless, and have no appetite whatever."

Answer: I shall very gladly repeat the tonic and I am sure that it will help you, as it has many other girls who suffer as you do. Get at any up-to-date drug store the following ingredients: Syrup of hypophosphites comp. 5 ozs. tincture cadomene comp. 1 oz. (not cardamon). Mix and shake well before using. This should be taken regularly and in a few weeks you will have a good appetitite and be well and strong.

"Myrtle" writes: "I have never tried anything to reduce my weight but if I could find a safe, harmless remedy I would try it. I am so fat that I am uncomfortable."

Answer: To avoid substitution purchase separately these two medicines: Aromatic elixir 5 ozs., and glycol arbolene 1 oz. Mix by shaking thoroughly and take a teaspoonful after meals for the first three days and thereafter double the dose. Continue this treatment for several weeks or until you properly reduce your weight.

"Guendaline" writes: "Kindly tell me what to do. I suffer with liver, kidney and stomach trouble. Am constipated and have slight attacks of biliousness."

Answer: For your stomach, liver and kidneys take three grain sulpherb tablets, (not sulphur). These little tablets are packed in sealed tubes and contain full directions for using. They will purify the blood and act directly on the liver and kidneys and if taken regularly will gradually effect a cure. I have found these to be the most reliable for all ailments that arise from chronic constipation.

"Wife"—Incontinence or bedwetting in children is usually cured by using the following in 15 to 15 drop doses in water one hour before meals: Tincture cubebs 1 dram; tincture rhus aromatic 2 drams; comp. fluid balmwort 1 oz. Mix well.

"Marsh" writes: "Can you recommend a good tooth powder which will whiten the teeth, remove tarter discolorations of tobacco, preserve the gums and prevent decay?"

Answer: Yes, I think the following home-made tooth powder is superior to any you can buy and it is endorsed by many dentists. Mix thoroughly the following and apply twice daily with brush. Five ounces precipitated chalk; one ounce powdered soap; three ounces powdered sugar or sugar of milk and two ounces of antiseptic vilane powder. This makes enough to last a family a long time, equal to three or four dollars worth for less than one dollar.

FINANCIAL NEWS SUMMARY.

[Furnished by Logan & Bryan, Members New York and Boston Stock Exchanges, Bradbury building, Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, April 23.—Americans in London irregular.

Engineers vote to call strike and then accept government's offer of mediation. Railroads will reply to offer today. Arbitration likely now.

Insurance losses on Titanic disaster will total $15,000,000. Senate Committee continues investigation at Washington today.

General Electric Company in 1911 earned 12.66 per cent. on $77,226,300 capital stock against 14.45 per cent. on $66,178,600 stock in 1910.

Doubtful if Cumming's bill giving tobacco independents right to appeal from Supreme Court decision passes House, if it does President will veto it.

Kansas will probably instruct for Roosevelt.

Twelve industrials declined .47 per cent. Twenty active rails declined .38 per cent.

The market acted remarkably well today, its action for the most part being indexed by the more favorable tenor of the advices relative to the existing labor controversies.

The oculars were conspicuous for their strength, Reading more than making up its dividend.

Quite a little caution of late has been noted on the part of the element operating on the buying side, owing to the foregoing, but the fact nevertheless remains that during the coincidental period of aggression the stock market has received rather good support and displayed a remarkably firm undertone.

While we feel as stated in recent advices that the general trend of prices is to be considered as upward, still the policy of accepting moderate profits should not be ignored until it is determined whether or not a spirit of amality is going to govern, not only our national legislators and politicians, but also those who look to the various corporations for their means of support.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Despite limited receipts of only 230 sacks, potatoes were weak yesterday, the drop of from ten to twenty-five cents Monday being considered the break in high prices.

No changes were made in any commodity during call and trading was light. Imperial and Australian Brown onions were firm at quotations. Eggs were firm at the half cent reduction made Monday, owing to light receipts, amounting to 335 cases; a condition which is considered only temporary, as egg prices are still on the downward trend.

The butter market was normal except for creamery extras, that grade being very steady, selling in some instances above the established quotations of 34 cents. Butter receipts were 57,520 pounds.

Beans were firm, especially the Lady Washington variety, the demand being large with no receipts to ease the pressure.

Northern cheese was weak while other grades remained steady at quotations. Cheese receipts for the day were light—120 pounds.

Strawberries were up one cent on the bottom price, selling at 6 and 10 cents a basket. The grade of strawberries showed an improvement, there being little actually poor stock on hand.

Lettuce was plentiful and weak. Other green vegetables were normal and steady.

ANGELS DEFEAT SENATORS WHILE VERNON IS BEATEN.

Byram Loses What Chance He Had by Throwing the Ball Away Twice, but Pitched Winning Ball All the Way—Tigers Fail to Hit Miller Up North and Are Not Dangerous at Any Time.

BY GREY OLIVER.

LOS ANGELES, 3; Sacramento, 1. Heaver Byram tried to throw the ball around to the various bases yesterday, and while he was practicing this warming-up stunt the Angels made three runs. He started and finished this wildness in the second inning, and before he was hep to himself the Angels had enough runs to win with.

This is the whole story of the game. After that second inning the Angels had no more chance than a jack rabbit, but Tozer and Leverens were so good that the Senators could not do enough to notice, so the locals won very easily. It was a nice little game, but there was nothing brilliant about it.

All the flingers did well, but Byram's own wild throws put him on the blink. If he had been half way decent he might have won the game, but one scratch hit, two wild throws by himself and one by Heister gave the Angels three runs in the second inning, and these were enough.

Tozer pitched for six innings, and then gave Leverens a chance, and the Senators had a terrific time with both, although eight hits were made off Tozer and two off Leverens. But for a good double play in the sixth the Senators might have won, or at least they would have given the locals an awful scare.

Lewis opened that sixth with a hit to right, but the next minute Sheehan rapped a grounder to Howard, who threw to second, forcing Lewis, and then Sheehan was doubled out at first. With two out Cheek slammed a double to left and scored when Byram banged the ball to center for a single, scoring Cheek for the only run the Senators received.

The locals got their only opportunity in the second inning, which Metzger began with a scratch infield single to left. Core bunted for a sacrifice, and beat the ball, because Byram made a bad throw to first base, Metz going to third and Core to second. Core had had such good luck with a bunt that Brooks tried it, and also got away with it. Byram grabbed the ball and threw to third in the effort to catch Metzger, but the heave was a wild one, and both Metzger and Core scored.

Brooks got to second on this, and stuck there, while Tozer fanned, and Howard flew to center. Then Berger grounded to Heister, who made a low throw to first, and Brooks scored. This is the sad Sacramento tale of how the Angels made their three runs.

Core almost scored in the sixth inning. He beat out a bouncing infield single, advanced to second on Brooks's sacrifice, and got to third when Tozer was thrown out at first on his grounder to Byram. Then Howard was passed, and he and Core tried to work the old double steal, but Core was caught at the plate.

Howard got to third base in the fourth on his fielder's choice and steal and a passed ball, but had to die there, for Byram made Berger go out at first. Driscoll reached third in the third inning on a pass,

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Iron Man Miller has come back to his own.

The elongated slabster from the wilds of Michigan not only blanked the Vernon Tigers on their first visit to San Francisco, but he pitched the best brand of ball seen so far this season at Recreation Park.

Just two hits—one of them something that might be called scratchy—were all that Miller allowed Vernon and he fanned nine, chiefly the heavy stickers of the Hooligan brigade, and walked not a man.

This was some performance, especially when backed up by two spectacular catches by Hartley and McIver in opposite fields, and the Philadelphia policeman had two singles and a double.

Jimmy Whalen, on the mound in a Vernon uniform this time, instead of with the Senators, pitched good enough ball for an ordinary game. A couple of doubles, a single and a walk worked havoc with him in the first inning and although he steadied down from then on and was given good support, two fumbles that were contributed by the Vernon infield in the ninth helped the Seals to another tally and made the final score 3 to 0.

Miller hadn't been going well for the early part of the season, but if his output of today is a sample of what he can do in the future he will be worth watching.

Hap Hogan lost a lot of the pepper that usually distinguishes his actions on the field, but as Hap didn't really have much to pep about, he can be excused. You can't get runs without hits, or when your men are fanning the air and that is exactly what was happening to the Vernonites.

Miller got over his first inning nicely, giving a taste of what was coming when he fanned Bayless, one of the newcomers, and then the Seals proceeded to back him up with a haul of two runs. McIver back in the game showed what the vacation had accomplished by rapping the ball to right field for two sacks. The performance rattled Whalen, who walked

ATTELL KNOCKS OUT CARROLL IN SEVENTH

[A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, April 23.—In one of the most unsatisfactory fights ever staged here, Abe Attell, one-time featherweight champion of the world, knocked out Jimmy Carroll of San Francisco in the seventh round of a scheduled twenty-round bout.

Attell showed nothing approaching championship class and Carroll gave the appearance of inviting a knockout.

Sally Salvadore of Sacramento, sparring partner of Ad Wolgast, went ten rounds to a draw with Manuel Vierra of Oakland, in the best bout of the card put on by the Capital Athletic Club.

George Auger,
The White Hope on Tom Jones's string.

Jones's Latest.

SUSPECTS GIANT ACTOR OF BEING WHITE HOPE.

TOM JONES, manager of Ad Wolgast, lightweight champion of the world, has discovered a white hope who, according to his stature and general measurements, has every other white hope hanging over a barrel yelling for help.

He measures seven feet ten inches in height; can train down to 295 pounds ringside, has a reach of ninety inches and is as light on his feet as a French dancing master.

Last month while Jones and Wolgast were in Portland, Jones received a letter from George Auger, a giant who has been appearing in vaudeville for the last year as a big man. He discribed his physical proportions and his activity and love for boxing and wrestling and asked Jones's opinion of how he could be trained into condition and given the necessary skill at the game to warrant him going after the scalp of Jack Johnson.

Jones was at first inclined to treat the matter lightly and showed the letter to Wolgast. It was looked upon as the usual boast of a big boy who could not keep out of the way of his own feet.

A few weeks afterwards Jones who, with Wolgast, was en route to Los Angeles, stopped over in Sacramento and while at one of the vaudeville houses of the Sullivan and Considine circuit, saw George Auger in action.

Jones was astonished at the man's great size, and the lightness with which he moved about. He saw him wrestle a little, and box a few rounds and became interested with the result that negotiations were opened for Jones to take Auger under his wing and try and teach him the great game of boxing.

Auger, who is but 23 years of age, is a veritable giant and has always loved athletic sport, but owing to his stupendous strength and size, he was restricted in finding any playfellows at any game in which he desired to compete.

He is well off financially and has been earning over $1000 per week in appearing in vaudeville for the last year.

He will come to Los Angeles Monday of next week, and will appear at the Empress Theater. Jones has made arrangements to remain in Los Angeles, instead of accompanying Wolgast to Wheelers Spring, and will meet Auger.

"This big boy is serious in his desire to go into the boxing game," said Jones yesterday. "It is not a financial matter with him, as he is earning more money in vaudeville than he will in the prize ring unless he should defeat Jack Johnson. His strength is prodigious. Think of a man seven feet ten inches tall and with a reach ninety inches in length. He could hold off Jack Johnson with hone hand. Johnson's reach would not come within one foot of his body.

He is quick on his feet, and has wrestled with many famous wrestlers in private. He is young, and eager to learn how to handle his hands, and get a chance at the title held by Jack Johnson.

"When he comes to Los Angeles next week I will have a talk with him and will have him tryout some big local man in private, to see if he can handle himself as I think that he can. Should he prove to be what I think he is, I will surely give him the benefit of anything that I can do to put him in the best of condition and send him after Jack Johnson."

FIVE CARS AND THREE MORE DRIVERS ARRIVE.

The J. I. Case racing team, made up of five of the fastest cars in the world, and a trio of famous drivers, arrived in Los Angeles today from San Francisco.

The Case team comes to Los Angeles prepared to take part in the Santa Monica road race and the big motordrome meet.

Louis Disbrow of New York is the head of the Case organization and the second and third drivers are Joe Nikrent of Los Angeles and Neil Whalen, also of New York. All three men have figured among the list of America's prominent drivers, for several years, and their appearance at the dual events here will be watched by auto enthusiasts all over the country, as it is the first time the fast Case machines have ever been seen on the Coast.

The Jay-Eye-See racer, which showed good form at Lakeside a couple of weeks ago, and proved a big attraction at the Shriners meet at Oakland last Saturday and Sunday will be one of the principal features at the motordrome meet. It is expected it will develop great speed in the time trials.

The Simplex Zip, another of the famous machines in the Disbrow racing team, is almost a counterpart of the Dingley car already entered in the Santa Monica meet. At San Jose ten days ago this machine lowered 3 of the world's circular dirt track records and Disbrow believes he will be able to cop his share of the money in the motordrome meet.

JOE RIVERS NOW AND THEN.

In Which Peon Punches His Way to Palace.

Carfare and Automobile Are Part of Plot.

And It's Only Three Years in the Ring, Too.

BY R. A. WYNNE.

Time, three years ago. Place Al Greenewald's cigar store on Spring street.

Enter a little stocky Mexican boy wearing a dirty, frayed gray sweater.

Well up center stood Uncle Tom McCarey, fight promoter, pulling his mustache fiercely. It was the day before a boxing contest at the old Naud Junction pavilion and one of the principals had failed to show up.

Max Weber, a sturdy featherweight, was billed to appear in a twenty-round contest and his opponent had disappeared.

"Where can I get a good boy to go on with Weber?" raved McCarey, as he did much business of walking up and down.

The little stocky Mexican lad tugged at McCarey's sleeve and, pulling off his ragged cap, smiled ingratiatingly.

"I will take him on, Senor McCarey."

"Who in Sam Hill are you?" snapped McCarey, looking at the little ragged figure.

"I am Joe Rivers, a very strong boy and good fighter," said the Mexican lad.

FANS KNEW HIM.

Two fight fans who were standing by spoke up and told of what they had seen the little Mexican do in street scraps and in contests before the local athletic clubs.

"Can he fight?" asked McCarey, looking over the little fellow with a speculative eye.

He was told that the little fellow's especial pastime was to pick out big fellows and manhandle them to his heart's content.

"Will you box Weber tomorrow?" asked McCarey, finally.

"Con mucho gusto, Senor," eagerly cried the little Mexican lad.

"Well, show up tomorrow at least a half-hour before the contest so we will be sure you are on hand," and McCarey started away.

Again there was a little Mexican lad tugging at his sleeve.

"Well, now what do you want?" asked McCarey, turning to face the Mexican boy.

The latter hesitated a few moments and then blurted out that he did not have car fare to go out to the pavilion, and also that he would be able to fight a much better fight on the morrow if he should be able to eat a great square meal that evening and do the same thing the following morning. McCarey "came across" and Joe Rivera, or Joe Rivers, as he is now known to pugilistic fame, got his first chance in the squared circle.

The next day he entered the ring in a borrowed pair of trunks, an old pair of worn-out tennis shoes, and a full stomach. He tore into Weber like a house afire and in the third round knocked the young man out.

THREE YEARS LATER.

Yesterday afternoon at the same place a different scene was enacted. Three years had elapsed since the first scene.

McCarey and a number of fight promoters and fight fans were standing in little groups in Al Greenewald's cigar store, when there came the honk-honk of a horn, and, with a rush and roar of exhaust and grinding brakes, a big $5000 automobile swung up in front of the little cigar stand.

Out stepped a well-dressed young man carrying a cane. About $2000 worth of diamonds sparkled from his fingers and cravat.

He tossed a light dust coat into the rear seat of the automobile and flicking a particle of dust from his highly polished tan shoes stepped forth briskly into the cigar store.

There was an immediate cessation of all conversation. McCarey stepped up eagerly and shook hands with the newcomer. The latter was a Mexican boy with bright eyes and a healthy skin. His shoulders were broad and powerful and he carried himself as a man of affairs.

"Hello Uncle Tom," said the boy, "Will you take a ride in my automobile with me. I am going down to the Arcade Station and you had better come along for a ride and see me off."

"Sure, Joe, I will come along. But where are you going," said McCarey as he hustled about.

"Oh, my manager, Joe Levy, and Willie Rooney, my trainer, and I are going to San Francisco to begin a theatrical engagement and we leave tonight on the Lark. Take a run up to San Francisco with us, will you?" asked the well-dressed Mexican boy.

"Can't do that, but I will come to the station with you," and McCarey, Joe Levy and Willie Rooney climbed into Joe Rivera's big automobile and were whisked away from the admiring throng to the Arcade Station.

DIFFERENT NOW.

This was the same little Mexican boy, Jose Rivera, better known as Joe Rivers, who had borrowed a few pesos three years ago for car fare and who was now, after signing articles to meet Ad Wolgast, the champion lightweight of the world, for the latter's title, at Vernon on the Fourth of July where the smallest amount that he can secure for the two hours' work in the afternoon is $7500, en route to accept several theatrical dates in San Francisco and Denver for $1000 a week.

Rivers, Levy and Rooney will remain in San Francisco three weeks and will then go to Denver for the same length of time, returning to Los Angeles by June 1 to begin training for the greatest battle of Rivera's career, with Ad Wolgast.

SURPRISE AT SAN GABRIEL.

Woodcock Defeats Armstrong in First Round.

Country Club Can Hardly Credit News.

Triumph Tempered by Depleted Finances.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

Humphrey Neville Howard Woodcock justified the full length of his beautiful name yesterday by defeating E. S. Armstrong, the triple champion, by 1 up in the first round match of the invitation tournament at the San Gabriel Country Club.

"You don't say Woodcock beat Armstrong," said every last man that was told the news. "Gee!"

Exactly. And then young Robert Tatum added his quota to the glory of the club by defeating E. N. Wright by 1 up.

E. S. Armstrong, however, receives a substantial consolation prize in the cup for the qualifying round which he won in the play-off against Conde Jones, with whom he tied on Monday.

But of course Woodcock is the hero of the hour. As he had been wagering rather recklessly against himself in order to provide ample consolation when he retired hopelessly beaten, he is really feeling a little bewildered at his own achievement and wondering just why his triumph should be thus tempered by depleted finances!

As it was necessary for Armstrong and Jones to play off their tie for the qualifying cup, it was arranged that they and Woodcock should play a threesome to settle both that and the first round match at the same time. Their comparative scores will therefore be interesting, and it will be noted that although Armstrong won the qualifying cup by medal play, Conde Jones actually came out 4 up in match play.

Armstrong, 5, 5, 4, 4, 4, 6, 4, 5, 5, 42; 5, 4, 6, 5, 3, 5, 5, 5, 4, 46—88.

Jones, 4, 4, 7, 6, 5, 5, 4, 4, 9, 46; 5, 4, 6, 5, 3, 4, 4, 5, 4, 39—85.

Woodcock, 4, 5, 5, 4, 4, 5, 5, 4, 4—40; 5, 4, 6, 4, 5, 5, 5, 4, 4—41—81.

Woodcock, as usual, was driving well but he himself declares his win is due chiefly to the fact that Armstrong was handicapped by having to play medal play in addition to his match play, this fact rattling him enough to put him off his putting. Still the fact remains that Woodcock has given the club cause to be proud of him, and The Times a reason for once more exhibiting those lovely legs to an admiring world. I myself have promised never to admire them again, so of course, I won't, but you will see by the picture there was some excuse for me.

The next match in point of interest was that between E. N. Wright and Robert L. Tatum in which the latter won by 1 up after being 4 down at the thirteenth. Tatum has once again demonstrated that he is a fine match player and game to the last. On the last green we watched with bated breath the final putts and speculated as to whether Mr. Wright advanced first for the sacred rites of the congratulatory handshake or whether Tatum's hand was really the first to rise. You see there is a whole dictionary of golf etiquette in that final handshake, the loser promptly hastening to congratulate the winner. It is horribly bad form for the winner to shake first, so the distant onlooker can easily judge how a match finished if he is observant. This time, however, we were too excited to exactly fix it and we had to possess our souls in patience till the news could be officially verified. Horrible suspense.

The match between E. R. Williams and Armine Brand was close and interesting, Williams winning by 1 up, after starting off with the disconcerting experience of driving three balls out of bounds from the first tee. Mr. Brand, too, had his ill luck. With unpremeditated skill he succeeded in describing a sort of zig-zag crescent with his drive from the seventeenth, through the trees, against the tennis court, and into the cactus. A pretty piece of conjuring but no use in golf.

Both players, however, equalled the best scores of the day with 80 and 81 respectively.

The match between Norman Macbeth and G. E. Truett was the cause of much speculation, as Mr. Truett is a stranger here (from Washington, D. C.) and might be an eastern star for all we knew. The fact that he gave Macbeth good battle, only losing by 2 up and 2, shows that he is certainly a player to watch. His putting and approaching were noteworthy. Macbeth made 75 for the match, which finished at the sixteenth, after showing off with a 3 from the first tee.

J. B. Elliott fell to R. W. Salisbury, the well-known Salt Lake player, by 3 up and 2, but neither could claim to be showing off to any extent. Indeed, with a little more luck, Elliott might conceivably have won, for the clever Mr. Salisbury was quite off his usual first-class game yesterday. Elliott was 1 up at the turn and they both went out in 45.

Morris Phillips played an interesting match with young Mr. Wright, who bids fair to emulate his father as a golfer. On Monday Wright, Jr., was four strokes ahead of his father at the seventeenth, but the eighteenth —the grass green—proved his doom and parental superiority was maintained. In his match with Phillips of Redlands he played well, only falling to Mr. Phillips's more experienced play by 3 up and 2. Phillips went out in 41 and took 5 and 4 for 86.

In the second flight, there were several close matches, that between J. E. Gifford and W. Campbell going to the nineteenth hole, when the former won. Dr. West Hughes and J. E. Jefferson also had a very even match—97 and 98, Dr. Hughes winning by

ENTRY LIST SOON TO CLOSE.

De Palma and Bruce Brown Here for Big Race.

Forty-eight Hours of Grace Is Still Ahead.

Manager Young Says Speedfest to Be Best Ever.

BY BERT C. SMITH.

Dave Lewis, in a Stutz racer, was entered in the Santa Monica road race yesterday. Walter M. Brown of the Brown-Symonds Company, agents for the Stutz, paid the $300 which gives Lewis a chance to send the trim little speedster away on the grind over the fastest course on earth. The entry comes as a great surprise to the motor fans who were hoping against hope that the Stutz would be in the free-for-all.

When Starter Fred Wagner reached here yesterday he began telling of the interest that is being taken in the East regarding the Santa Monica road race. He says a number of motorists, including several factory men will be here and he predicts the largest attendance ever recorded for the great race.

This morning Manager Young will make the final inspection of the course before opening the speedway for practice. He will drive a big Thomas car to Santa Monica and with Miss R. C. Geary of the Automobile Club of Southern California, will examine every foot of the speedway on which he says a new world record is to be established.

"This is to be the greatest race ever held," said Young yesterday. "There was a time when I felt it would be the greatest race ever carded in the West. Now that I see the entry list and find what keen interest is being taken in the contest from one end of the country to the other I am satisfied that this is to be a record breaker in more ways than one.

"With twenty of the best drivers on earth started together over the fastest course in the world there is no reason why this race should not attract the attention of the motor world. There is nothing that stands in the way of the success of the meet. The cars are here, we have the drivers and we have the course. I am satisfied."

ENTRIES TO CLOSE.

Entries for the Santa Monica road race are to close tomorrow at midnight. Manager Young yesterday stated positively that all drivers who are to start in the grand prize race a week from Saturday must sign up within the next forty-eight hours.

David Bruce Brown reached here yesterday. With him is the big Benz racer with which he hopes to break a world record on the fastest course on earth. The car is ready for a fast dash this afternoon and will not need to be stripped or reassembled. It is in racing trim.

Ralph De Palma is also here. The man who has chased Barney Oldfield across the continent is prepared for the race of his life and will start as one of the favorites. He is one of the most daring motor drivers on earth. De Palma was never in better shape for a great speed dash and was never in better condition to make the race of his life. He has a host of friends who believe he can win.

This is to be a race for blood. Without asking a favor from anybody the Premier motor pilots of the world will be sent away by Fred Wagner, official starter for the Automobile Association of America, who reached here yesterday.

SPEED THRILLS.

The light car race is to be started at 10:30 o'clock in the morning. At 1 o'clock the giant cars will be sent away for the battle royal. Speed seems to be in the air. The desire for a race seems to be gripping the hearts of every driver who is here. The time is ripe for a race that should be heralded all over this country as one of the greatest ever held.

At Santa Monica the citizens there are prepared to entertain the greatest crowd that ever witnessed a Santa Monica road race. Chief of Police Randall has completed the arrangements for handling the throng and he will be ready to direct the affairs in such a way that pedestrians will be forced to keep back from the sidelines where the danger lurks.

The grandstands are being erected. These will have a greater seating capacity than ever before. It has been necessary to erect another grandstand just above the main seating space. The boxes are going so fast that Manager Young expects to have each sold before the end of the present week.

Watch fobs, some of the daintiest ever coined, are here and are being distributed among the boosters for the big race. Every automobile dealer has lined up in favor of the big race and the sentiment along automobile row is that the contest is to be a hummer from start to finish.

Goodrich—the Original American Clincher—started right 15 years ago, by adopting and perfecting the integral

Molded Construction

Tires "built as a unit, cured as a unit" proved greatest in strength, — cohesion, — mileage service, then, as now.

Today, the strongest adherents of other methods are turning to the molded process. They know now it is the best way to make a good automobile tire.

We did the experimenting long ago—and offer users a two-fold benefit:—

Sound construction to begin with and more than a decade of improvements—including the inimitable White Tough Tread

Goodrich Tires are made in all styles, to fit all rims, and to suit all purposes.

There has never been a season when the direct, unforced demand for these tires did not exceed by thousands

the utmost capacity of our factories. The issue has been met this year by a tremendously increased capacity which will enable us to care for both dealers and users to the fullest extent.

Now is the time to decide.

Will it be — good value?
— organized service?
— a square deal?
or — — "just tires"?

SANTA ANA TIMES CAMP TRACK MEET A HUMMER.

The Big Suburban "Times" Meet Held at Santa Ana Last Saturday Brought to Light Some Wonderful Juvenile Stars—Lincoln School, Santa Ana, Won in the Junior Division; Anaheim Won in the Senior.

WINNERS OF TIMES' CAMP TRIPS IN SANTA ANA SUBURBAN MEET.

Walter Paulus (senior,) Anaheim	29½ points
Roy Heard (junior,) Lincoln School, Santa Ana	18½ points
Robert Brown (senior,) McKinley School, Santa Ana	16 points
Hugh Osborn (junior,) Jefferson School, Santa Ana	15 points
William Eckles (junior,) Orange	11 points

LAST SATURDAY afternoon was "Big League Day" at Lincoln Park, Santa Ana. All the grammar schools in ten towns and cities had a representative track team in The Times meet competing for five twelve-day vacation trips to The Times Camp at Catalina Island, that were offered by this newspaper. While all the capital prizes went to the five fellows who individually scored the highest number of points in the meet, the intertown and interschool competition was keen.

The Lincoln school, Santa Ana, won the honors in the junior division by scoring twenty-one points; Jefferson school was second with seventeen points; Orange third with eleven points; Anaheim fourth with ten points, and Garden Grove fifth place with seven points. Anaheim schools won the senior division by scoring thirty-eight points; McKinley, Santa Ana, was second with sixteen points; Garden Grove third, eight points; Jefferson fourth, five points. The total score of schools of both divisions places Anaheim at the top with a score of forty-eight points; Jefferson school, Santa Ana, second, twenty-two points; Lincoln school, third, twenty-one points; McKinley, fourth, sixteen points; Orange, eleven; Garden Grove, eight.

The Santa Ana boys of all schools in both divisions beat all other towns by scoring fifty-nine points; Anaheim second, forty-eight points; Garden Grove, third, with fifteen points; Orange, fourth, with eleven points.

There were about 150 boys competing in the various events and every race was contested right up to the last foot from the tape, resulting in many thrilling finishes, which brought the large crowd of spectators to their feet time and time again. Roy Heard, a little junior from Lincoln school, took a firm grip on one of The Times Camp prizes when he romped home in the 50, 100 and 220 yard dashes.

Young William Eckles from Orange took all the honors for his burg by winning eleven points; two seconds and a first.

Walter Paulus of Anaheim surely made his presence felt by winning twenty-nine and a half points, which was the highest individual score of the meet.

Robert Brown of McKinley, Santa Ana, however, was too fast for Walter in the fifty and 100 yard dashes. Hugh Osborne, the star junior high jumper of the Walnut belt, added enough seconds and thirds to his one first place to cinch a trip to The Times Camp.

The junior relay was won by Lincoln school in a runaway race. The Anaheim boys took the senior relay. Any boy who got a place in this meet will have a good chance of scoring in the big Times Camp meet, to be held June 1 in Los Angeles, in which the first and second class winners in every event in both divisions will be given a twelve-day vacation at The Times Camp.

Every boy has a chance in this meet because the first and second place man in every event will be disqualified from further competing in the meet as soon as they cross the line.

ST. LOUIS GRABS PLAYER.

CINCINNATI, April 23.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Elmer Miller, an outfielder who, it was announced, had been released by Cincinnati to the Ft. Wayne Central League team, has been secured by the St. Louis Nationals.

OLD COASTERS IN BIG COMPANY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, April 23. — [Exclusive Dispatch.] Ping Bodie's bat cut a big figure in Chicago's victory today over Cleveland. The 'Frisco man batted in two of Chicago's runs and stole a couple of bases. Weaver failed to get a hit, but in the seventh inning he poled out a long sacrifice fly, which enabled a runner to score. Weaver committed one bobble in the seventh. After Buddy Ryan had singled he threw wild to first and a Nap runner counted. In another inning Rath made the same kind of a bobble on another of Ryan's hot grounders, and another man scored. An error by Olson in the seventh gave Chicago a run.

In the Detroit-St. Louis game Stephens, the Browns' backstop, was almost sure death to base stealers, Vitt being the only Tiger to annex the second station by pilfering. Vitt also got one of the five hits gathered off Brown. Vitt grabbed off everything that came his way in the outer garden. On the Browns' side, Hogan failed to get a hit and had only two chances in the field.

With "Big Jim" Vaughn in great form, Hal Chase's Yankees won their first game of the season. McInnis was the only Athletic who could do much with Vaughn. He got four hits, including a triple. Harry Wolverton made a shift in his line-up today, and the change seems to have done the Yankees some good.

Groom, a former Coast Leaguer, was effective in the pinches in the Washington-Boston contest. Three times, with runners on third, he whiffed batsmen for the last out. Hooper, Speaker and Duffy Lewis all broke into the hit column for Boston, while Groom came to the front with two safe hits.

In the St. Louis-Cincinnati game, in the National League, Jack Bliss, the Cardinals' catcher, failed to get a put-out or an assist.

BACK TO SEATTLE.

CLEVELAND (O.) April 23.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Catcher Bert Whaling, obtained by the Cleveland Americans from Seattle, was returned to that team today.

VERNON—SAN FRANCISCO.

Mohler. Johnson laid down a perfect bunt and Hartley followed with a line drive through Whalen to center that scored McIver. Mohler tried to make the plate on the same clout, but a perfect throw from Bayless caught the Kid. Hartley, however, advanced a base on the play and galloped home when Bill Jackson stung the ball into right for a double.

Brashear and Stinson whiffed the air before Miller, who was using a low ball, and Hartley closed the second inning by making a one-handed catch of McDonnell's fly.

ONE REAL HIT.

The only real Vernon hit of the afternoon came in the third. After Litschi had struck out, Brown ripped a hot one past Miller toward the clubhouse. There couldn't be any question as to the hit. Brown followed that up with a steal, but Whalen fanned and Carlisle sent a weak fly to Mohler.

The fifth was likewise filled with mild excitement for the Villagers. Stinson hit to Miller and although the ball took a bad bound, the recovery was in plenty of time to throw him out. McDonnell hit one to Mohler that took a bad bound and it went down in the base hit column.

Litschi rapped a screamer to right and McIver showed the class that is in him by the catch that he made. If ever there was robbery, it was then, when McIver held on to the ball, although in doing so he stumbled and rolled over on the ground. McDonnell was tossed out at second and absolutely the last chance for the Hooligans had vanished.

Hartley might have scored in the fifth but for some bad judgment. His third hit of the day was a double to center, about as hard a hit as has been seen, for the ball struck the fence, almost in the dead center field. He was sacrificed to third by Jackson and attempted to score when McArdle flied to short right. Somebody sent Hartley away from third before the ball was caught by Stinson and although he beat in the throw, the run couldn't count.

A gift run came to the San Franciscans in the eighth. McIver hit to Brashear, who fumbled the ball. Mohler sacrificed and Johnson flied to Stinson. Hartley grounded to Litschi and when the ball went wide of Hoop covering first, McIver tallied.

PROLIFIC PENS OF THE THEATER

Charles Klein Probably Tops Industry List.

Clyde Fitch Had Market Before Writing.

George Cohan Most Varied and Productive of All.

BY ROBERT GRAU.

Perhaps the most prolific of modern writers for the stage is Charles Klein; a decade ago he was comparatively unknown, today his income can not be less than $100,000 a year. He is the author of "The Gamblers," "The Music Master," "The Lion and the Mouse," and "The Third Degree." The two last have had from three to four companies playing steadily on tour simultaneously, yet it is questionable, if both of these plays combined, will have earned in the end as much as "The Music Master," which only Mr. Warfield presented. Mr. Klein has written many other plays, also the librettos for various comic operas, and his name has always been counted upon as a guarantee of success.

Less than five years ago, Eugene Walter was wholly without prestige, he was a familiar figure at the managers' offices, where he was known for his persistency, yet this man was at that period making a herculean effort to interest managers in his play, "Paid in Full," which Wagenhal and Kemper had the temerity to produce, and which has already earned a half million dollars. Walter was so destitute, just before he had landed his first play, that it is recorded where he slept several nights in Bryant Park in New York City, today his plays are eagerly sought, and his income is fully as large as that of Charles Klein.

The late Clyde Fitch was unique in that his plays found a market before reading, and his fame began to justify orders from stars and managers at very large fixed figures or a royalty of from 7 to 10 per cent. of the gross receipts; some idea may be gathered as to the income of Mr. Fitch, when it is stated that he has been known to present nine plays simultaneously, and the average gross receipts for his plays in a single season were in excess of $7000 a week.

Comic opera and musical comedies earn large incomes for the authors and composers, but here the royalty, which again ranges from 7 to 10 per cent., is divided between the two. The most successful in this field are Harry B. Smith and Reginald de Koven, who wrote "Robin Hood," originally for the Bostonians and made a fortune as a result, but they have collaborated on many other operas and musical plays that have yielded nearly as much. Both are occasionally found in collaboration with other composers and librettists. Victor Herbert, however, may be set down as the most prolific composer of light opera in the world today, and his earnings are prodigious. He has at this time a dozen of his works on tour and in addition is about to launch a grand opera, which is expected to be representative in its way and the first work of its kind to find a place in one of our modern opera houses. G. Gattis Casazza is the impresario who will produce the Herbert opera, and the present season is regarded as certain to bring it forth.

George Ade has made a fortune in the last few years both with straight comedies and musical plays; his "College Widow" and "County Chairman" alone have yielded enormous returns, he also has had as many as six successes playing simultaneously, and his career is at this time in the ascendant. George Hobart, Gustav Luders and Raymond Hubbell have evolved a plethora of potent musical plays, and all have come forth within a comparatively recent period, and all have registered "hits," any one of which will earn for them as much as our president of these United States is allotted for a year's term of office.

George M. Cohan, the youngest and by all manner of means the most productive of modern writers, being his own manager in partnership with Sam Harris, does not have any fixed income for his work, save in a few remote instances. While George was a vaudevillian, and one of the four Cohans, the demand for sketches from his pen was so great that he wrote over 200 of them, and for each of these twenty-minute affairs he received anywhere from $250 to $1000 each, or a royalty of $50 a week for all time, but when he became a star on the legitimate stage, he confined his writings to his own use and that of his firm, which today are the most extensive and most successful producers of showy musical plays in the world. It may be said for George Cohan that he has never written a failure; in one instance, where he endeavored to broaden his field and evolved the comedy "Popularity," it was found wanting and temporarily cast aside, but this year we find this same piece, which had failed at Wallack's, a tremendous success at the New York Theater, and by the simple process of rewriting and giving the old work a tenderiotnesque flavor and filling the stage with beautiful girls and writing for them a number of entrancing gems, he has not only scored an overwhelming triumph, but he has provided Raymond Hitchcock with the best starring vehicle of his career, at a time when he was sorely in need of such.

Edmund Day, who wrote "The Round Up," originally wrote vaudeville sketches and next to George Cohan was the most successful during the period in which he thus figured. He wrote one sketch for himself, called "The Sheriff," and it was from this that "The Round Up" received its impetus.

A unique figure among playwrights is Will S. Cressy, whose career is without parallel in theatrical history. Originally from Vermont, where he still lives, when he is able to free himself from the constant demand for his services, he began stage life in a modest way two decades ago, but he made no impress whatever, until in 1899 he "tried out" at Mr. Keith's vaudeville theater in Union Square, in a little rural playlet from his own pen. His sole support was Mrs. Cressy, known as Blanche Dayne, and under the team name of Cressy and Dayne, they have broken more records and achieved more successes than was recorded in the history of the stage to one individual or combination of individuals. In ten years

Jane Urban,
Made a boy by the exigencies of "When Johnny Comes Marching Home."

Cressy and Dayne have appeared about 75 per cent. of the time in Mr. Keith's theaters; they were the first to be retained for two weeks in cities of ordinary size; they have been known to play an entire season in as few as six of Mr. Keith's theaters, and it has not been uncommon for them to play engagements of four weeks consecutively in any theater in which they were booked. They have never had an idle week, they have never played an "opposition house," and their salary has increased yearly, until today it is about four times as large as when they began. But it is as a writer of sketches for others, that Mr. Cressy has achieved his greatest potency, and of these he has written so many that one can best convey the result with the statement that in one season fifty Cressy playlets or sketches were being presented simultaneously. A decade ago he came modestly into the metropolis unknown, and with difficulty sought a hearing, today he is worth a half million of dollars, while his portrayals are of the same truthful artistic character, which first attracted the managerial eye in his direction.

POLY OUT AGAIN.

Sluggers From Hollywood High to Face Pair of Very Speedy Groovers Tomorrow Afternoon.

Tomorrow afternoon the ball tossers of Polytechnic High will line up against the Hollywood nine on the new Hollywood diamond.

This will be the first contest between the two schools this season and a good game is expected.

Coach Webster has developed a fast set out of the material on hand and his rooters predict an easy victory; but the visitors will have a hand in the match themselves. Ted Secor and Ed. Cussen will alternate in the forward turret and these lads are regarded as the best prep school pitchers in the south.

CUBS GET PITCHER.

CHICAGO, April 23.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] James Fitzhugh Maroney, a left-handed pitcher and a free agent, has been added to the Cubs' list of twirlers. Maroney trained with the Detroit Americans during the spring and was formerly with the Philadelphia Nationals. He will report at the West Side today.

"CHIEF" BENDER WINS TRACK MEET.

The home meet of Sixty-eighth street school was a great success and brought home a winner with high sounding title of "Chief Bender."

The entire school was wildly excited over the close competition. Young Spies gave the big "Chief" an awful run for first honors, who just barely beat him out by three points. Spies was so small that when it come to a man's size event like the shot, he could not be expected to get a point, but he showed his heels to the junior bunch in the races and the jumps, winning them all.

The teachers were so pleased and excited over the youngster's great showing that they offered to take him on a vacation that would last all summer. He surely deserves all the praise and encouragement he can get for he is a phenomenal young athlete and has a bright future in athletics.

SAN GABRIEL GOLF.

3 up. Mr. Jefferson started well by doing the first in 2, even as Macbeth.

Victor Kleinberger defeated A. T. Jergins by 3 up and 2, and we are all asking what has come over Jergins. But last week he was a shining light of San Gabriel golf, red sweater and all, and now he is doing modest 86's and letting a visitor beat him in the first round.

Results:

CLEVELAND'S U. S. TEAM.

CLEVELAND (O.) April 23.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] The Cleveland team of the United States League held its first practice game today. Nearly thirty players reported to Manager Jack O'Conner, the old National and American league catcher, among them Catcher Howard Wakefield, Outfielder Joe Delehanty and First Baseman Jerry Freeman, former major league players.

sacrifice and an out, but could get no further.

The Senators did not seem to have any trouble in hitting Toser, but they had an awful time trying to make runs off him, for his support was extra good. The only error was when Howard threw a hit past first base for Shinn in the fifth.

The two feature stunts aside from the double plays were Howard's fine left-handed stop of Sheehan's hot grounder in the eighth and Core's backward running catch of Cheek's long fly to the left fence in the same inning.

The best thing of the day was Miller's running left-handed scoop catch of Berger's fly near the bleachers in the seventh inning. It was really a remarkable catch and was loudly applauded. Heister's assist to second of Dillon's grounder in the same inning, in which Driscoll was forced at second, was another fine thing.

Toser weakened a trifle in the sixth and retired in favor of Leverens.

Core showed up in fine shape, and it was really the first game where he had a chance to exhibit himself. He is very fast for a big fellow, and hits and fields beautifully.

STOCKS REFLECT TURN TAKEN BY WAGE QUESTION.

Early Advances Characterize Several Issues Which Gain from One to Two Points by Mid-day—Tobacco Group Feels Influence of Proposed Decision Review.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, April 23.—The more favorable outlook to the controversy between the railroad managers and locomotive engineers was the most important factor today in shaping the stock market. There were a number of early material advances, and by midday gains of one to two points were shown. There were a few exceptions to this tendency, notably in the tobacco group, some of which suffered severe declines, presumably in connection with the addition yesterday by the United States Senate of a resolution calling for a review of the recent decision in the American Tobacco case. Reading, which sold ex-dividend of 1¼ per cent., was the most prominent feature. Initial dealings were on an unusual scale, and the stock more than recovered its dividend in the first hour. In the early afternoon it was selling over six points above yesterday's low. The entire list was stimulated to a higher level in the morning, with little diminution of business, but in the afternoon trading fell off appreciably. Prices were disposed to yield fractionally on heavy realizing for profits, but another buying movement in Reading, which advanced to 168¾, infused renewed strength elsewhere. Local monetary conditions were decidedly easier, sixty to ninety-day loans having been made at 2½ per cent., a reduction of ¼ per cent. from the previous day. Apparently the further drain to the interior, amounting thus far this week to almost $5,000,000, has excited no misgivings.

New York Curb Stocks.

[Special Service to The Times by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members N. Y. Stock Exchange, 118 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, April 23.—The curb market was quiet today, the only change being inspiration, which advanced fractionally. New Cornel was active with the old stock in demand around 200.

The Boston coppers showed more buoyancy. Mayflower and Old Colony were the leading features, the former making a new high price with the news that the drift's are expected to reach the lode within the next three weeks. Indiana reported to have struck a lode but unconfirmed. Isle Royale with 16 cent metal is selling very well. We believe this stock is a purchase, as indeed, we believe the copper shares as a whole have only started on a big climb, and that they can be safely purchased.

Los Angeles Times

INFORMATION

For Newcomers, Inquirers, Subscribers and Advertisers, Agents and the General Public.

SCOPE AND AIMS:

THE TIMES PUBLISHES REGULARLY more pages of news and other reading matter and a larger volume of advertising than any other paper extant.

DISTINGUISHING FEATURES: Independent, uncompromised, unshackled, unpurchasable, unafraid and unincumbered. THE LOS ANGELES TIMES is devoted to the great principles of Liberty under Law, Equal Rights in all fields of lawful human endeavor, Industrial Freedom, and to the upbuilding of Los Angeles, the State of California and the great Southwest.

AS TO LABOR: The Times is the undeviating friend of all honest toilers—of all unshackled law-abiding workers everywhere; and while never denying the right of workmen to organize lawfully, it is the unyielding foe of lawless, proscriptive, monopolistic and exclusive labor organizations, because they are the selfish enemies of their own class and of the common industrial weal. Our position is unmistakable and will be maintained. The long record of The Times as a just, liberal, reliable paymaster is unassailable. During the period between August 4, 1890, and September 30, 1911, there was paid to our loyal and well-satisfied non-union workmen, in salaries and wages, the telling aggregate cash sum of $4,368,219.17—mainly to skilled labor.

SWORN CIRCULATION: Daily net average—seven days, Sunday included—for 1894, 15,501; for 1897, 19,258; for 1898, 26,124; for 1899, 25,781; for 1900, 26,733; for 1901, 29,448; for 1902, 36,899; for 1903, 36,946; for 1904, 37,702; for 1905, 42,150; for 1906, 50,591 copies; for 1907, 57,511 copies; for 1908, 63,700 copies; for 1909, 54,954 copies. THE POLITICAL WATCHTOWER.

Just to show the way the wind is blowing, there was a significant incident at the big Taft meeting in the Temple Auditorium on Monday night. Chairman Meserve was speaking of Roosevelt, and, at the mention of his name, a small bunch of men in the back of the hall clapped their hands. It was a challenge, evidently, and Meserve accepted it. He repeated the sentence and mentioned Roosevelt again. Again the handful applauded. Then the chairman smiled, brought out a bit of praise, and at the end mentioned the name of Taft. The audience saw the point and let itself loose in a thunderous cheer for the President.

Morris H. Wilson of Pomona was at the Taft campaign headquarters yesterday to attend the meeting of the Campaign Committee and help map out the campaign that is to carry all Southern California for the President. He is a most enthusiastic Taft man. "Why shouldn't I be, anyway?" he said. "I used to go to the High School in Cincinnati with the President. We called him 'Bill' then and he was always a leader." Wilson is president of the Taft Club of Pomona and under the auspices of that organization they had a rousing meeting there on Monday night. "Rev. C. D. Wilson, who presided," the Pomona representative on the committee said, "made a rattling speech, and Judge Charles G. Neely poured hot shot into the Roosevelt ranks, showing that while Taft stands by the Constitution, Roosevelt is drawing away from it. We had a lot of opposition meetings and some entertainments to contend against on Monday night, but Taft men and women turned out loyally to our meeting."

Such steady streams of visitors have been calling at the Taft campaign headquarters in the Angelus Hotel that the rooms there are no longer large enough to meet the exigencies of the occasion, and last night the Campaign Committee moved bag and baggage to the Citizens' National Bank building, at Third and Main streets, where the members will hold forth hereafter in rooms Nos. 335-340. The committee held its last meeting in the Angelus yesterday and will meet again in the new quarters on Friday afternoon.

In some way the impression got abroad that former Gov. Gillett was to be here this week and to speak at some meeting, but Chairman Stanton of the Taft Campaign Committee said yesterday that this is not correct. The former Governor is to address a big Taft meeting in the Temple Auditorium next Tuesday evening, Stanton said, and will pass through Los Angeles tomorrow, but his speeches in behalf of the President are to be made in other sections of Southern California first.

The coming of La Follette and his address at the Auditorium on Friday night will show the relative strength of the La Follette and Roosevelt forces. Much as the two factions are opposed to Taft, they are even more heartily opposed to each other. Chairman Kase of the La Follette Committee returned from San Francisco yesterday morning. He declares that the strength of his candidate is growing and that people generally appreciate the treachery of Gov. Johnson, Chester H. Rowell and the present leaders of the Roosevelt element toward La Follette.

Mother Finds Name.

LOS ANGELES PRINTER VICTIM OF TITANIC?

SEEING the name "N. Marriott" in yesterday's issue of The Times, among those victims of the Titanic disaster whose bodies were reported recovered by the cable steamer Mackay-Bennett was the first intimation Mrs. May Austin had that her son, Ned Marriott, was probably one of those who went down with the doomed ship.

Mrs. Austin, whose home is in Oakland, has been visiting in this city, and until she read over the list of the identified dead on the Mackay-Bennett, she believed that her son was safe in the Philippines. However, in the last letter she had received from him he said that he expected to return home soon by way of Europe. She feels certain that the N. Marriott reported by wireless to Cape Race is her son because of the uncommonness of the name and the strong probability that he had left Manila for home.

All day long the aged woman sought further information, but was informed that probably nothing more would be learned regarding the identity of the bodies recovered from the ocean until the arrival of the cable ship in an eastern port.

Mrs. Austin said her son was 30 years old and had been employed as a printer in San Francisco and Los Angeles at different times.

The dispatches sent from New York yesterday stated that the name of Marriott was not on the passenger list of the Titanic, and it is the belief of his mother that he booked his passage either at the last moment, or sailed as the ship's printer, the Titanic, as do most of the trans-Atlantic liners, having carried a small plant for the publication of the day's wireless news and the printing of menus and programmes.

Gypsy Girl.

MADAME CALVE CARMEN QUEEN.

GREAT PRIMA DONNA CHARMS VAST AUDIENCE.

Operatic Concert in Costume by Great Diva and Assisting Artists Proves Treat—In Solos and Ensemble Numbers Singers Interpret Works of Masters.

Before an audience which taxed the capacity of the Auditorium, Mme. Emma Calve, the same jovial, good-natured, lovely, accommodating creature as of yore, enraptured her audience with her glorious voice. Assisting the great diva were Galileo Gasparri, dramatic tenor, and Brahm Van den Bergh, pianist and accompanist. The occasion proved to be one of the most enjoyable of the many musical events which Manager Behymer has favored local audiences with.

The fore part of the evening was devoted to solo numbers by the great prima donna, the tenor and pianist. From the manner in which the several artists conducted themselves during their first appearance, the large assemblage awaited the concluding half of the evening's entertainment with much anxiety, for all realized that, although but excerpts of opera were to be presented, they were to be in the hands of artists and an hour of unalloyed pleasure awaited them. In this they were not disappointed, for the great diva and her able assistants presented several scenes from "Carmen," in costume and with scenic effects, in a manner which brought thunderous applause and repeated demands for encores.

The great Calve was in the same part and was in fine voice, and invested the part of the cigarette girl in Bizet's masterpiece with the same emotional quality and dramatic fervor which has made her famous the world over. Mme. Calve still remains the queen of Carmens.

The familiar airs of the opera, especially the "Habanera," and "Finale," known to all operagoers, were interpreted as only Calve does them. Her duets with the young soldier, Don Jose, only made one long for a more extended performance in the role in which she is so famed. Signor Gasparri made an ideal Don Jose and has a tenor voice of fine quality, for the most part well handled. He proved an excellent support to the famous prima donna. The music in the hands of Van den Bergh was as good as could be desired under the circumstances.

The programme rendered was as follows: Piano solo, paraphrase on "A Midsummer Night's Dream" (Mendelssohn-Liszt,) Brahm Van den Bergh; arioso from the opera, "I Pagliacci" (Leoncavallo,) Signor Gasparri; stances from the opera "Saphe" (Gounod,) Mme Calve; piano solos, (a) Berceuse (Chopin,) (b) "Der Fledermaus" (Strauss-Schutt,) Brahm Van den Bergh; selections from the opera "Carmen" (Bizet,) sung and acted by Mme. Calve and Signor Gasparri in costume with scenery, etc.; Carmen, Mme. Calve; Don Jose, Signor Gasparri.

Saturday afternoon Mme. Calve and her assisting artists will be heard again in the Auditorium, presenting the following numbers: Piano solo, "Prelude" (Rachmaninoff,) romanze from first act and romanze from third act "La Tosca" (Puccini,) Signor Gasparri; air "Le Mysoll" from "The Pearl of Brazil" by David, "Serenade" (Gounod,) Mme. Calve; piano solo, "Etude" (Moszkowski,) Brahm Van den Bergh; selections from "Cavalleria Rusticana" (P. Mascagni,) with scenery, costumes, etc.; Santuzza, Mme. Calve; Turiddu, Signor Gasparri.

NEW ANGLES ON FROST.

Citrus Fruit Men Will Hold Convention in Pomona to Discuss Methods of Protection.

To discuss various questions relating to the protection of citrus fruits against frost the Citrus Protective League of California will hold a convention May 3 at the Fraternal Aid Operahouse, Pomona.

An address of welcome will be made by H. J. Nichols, president of the Pomona Fruit Growers' Exchange, responded to by C. C. Chapman, president of the Citrus Protective League. "The Relation of Frost Protection to the Citrus Industry" will be discussed by A. F. Call of Corona. Fred J. Smith of Pomona will speak on "Co-operation as Applied to Frost Protection in a Community," and "Frost Fighting Methods" will be discussed by Prof. Alexander G. McAdie, forecaster of the Weather Bureau at San Francisco.

The afternoon session will be opened by P. J. O'Gara, whose theme will be "The Protection of Orchards Against Frost in the Rogue River Valley." This will be illustrated with stereopticon views, and will be followed by a general discussion. Ralph A. Gould will discuss "The Elimination of Frosted from Sound Fruit." C. W. Lefferts of the Redlands Orange Growers' Association will conduct a discussion on "The Alcohol Method." "Frost Investigations by the Citrus Experiment Station" will be the subject of a talk by Dr. J. Eliot Coit of Riverside.

The final session will be held in the evening, and Prof. McAdie will lecture on frost and weather-bureau work. This will be illustrated with stereopticon views.

MUSIC AND THE STAGE.

to see the circumstances thrown with her, and then watch the result.

The comedians have little opportunity. Messrs. Lett and Cawthorne are submerged in innocuous assignments. Bud Duncan, in a black-face number, is actually a pony.

"When Johnny Comes Marching Home" has one good, round fault. It is a comic opera without comedy.

Miss Bessie Chapin, who has the triple gift of youth, beauty and large violinistic ability, will be heard in concert tonight at the Gamut Club, assisted by Mrs. Estelle Heartt-Dreyfus, contralto.

Miss Chapin will play the Bach E major concerto, the Tschaikowsky "Meditation," Kreisler's "Old Vienna" waltzes, a "Humoresque" by Kocian, and Sarasate's Spanish dance, "Habanera."

Mrs. Dreyfus will sing "Mon Coeur s'ouvre a toi voix," from Saint-Saens's "Samson et Dalila," Cornelius's "An den Traum," a Chaminade "Berceuse," and Lambert's "The Barque at Midnight."

Miss Chapin has recently returned from three years of study in Vienna and Berlin. She was a highly-prized pupil of Marteau.

The Adolphus Theater has a very catchy catch line: "The Birthplace of Joys—Where Risibles Are Created." This catch line says a great deal in a few words. It means a great many things. And the big proof is the show.

This week's offering is a farce, written by Charles Grossman and produced by Frank Morton. More laughs are congregated in this musical concoction than one could imagine, and they are long, loud and healthy laughs. Laughs that make one feel good. "Miss Manhattan" is one of a long list of productions by which the Adolphus Theater hopes to prove its right to its popular catch line.

The scene of "Miss Manhattan" is laid at a popular summer resort in Palm Beach, Fla. The scene revolves around a Mr. and Mrs. Summers. Mr. Summers is somewhat of a "rounder" and his wife, desiring to break him of the habit of remaining out late at night, hints to him that a certain "duke" is flirting with her.

Of course, there is no such "duke," but the wife, desiring to keep up the impression, cajoles an Irish hodcarrier into impersonating the "duke." By a trick, the husband discovers that there is no such personage as the "duke," and gains the pseudo-duke's help in turning the tables on his wife. A mock duel is staged and the husband is "stabbed." Then the wife discovers her mistake, and everything ends happily.

One of the most striking features of the Adolphus company is its chorus. There are twenty girls, and each one is a beauty. A better balanced chorus as to size and ability has never been found. Also the beautiful costumes cannot go without a word of comment. This week the chorus makes five changes, and there are ten song numbers of the whistling variety.

Next week's offering is "The Belle of Broadway," another "catch-line" extravaganza.

Armstrong Show.

A barefoot dance in which some shapely calves are shown, "Kiddo," a brand new song rendered by Frances White and the Baby Dolls, two song hits with Ethel Davis as the "hitter," Clara Howard in a clever number entitled "Ragtime Land," and Will Armstrong as a 5-year-old baby are the features of "The Winning Widow," which was presented for the first time last night by the Armstrong Follies company at the Grand Operahouse. Taken all in all, the offering is most enjoyable and is a clever burlesque. It pleased the audience last night, and as it was intended for just that, it must be considered a success.

Mention of the barefoot dance naturally suggests something sensational. But the barefoot dance at the Grand is not that. It is unusual but nothing more. Hazel Wilson, who lead the Baby Dolls in the number might have made the dance a great deal more sensational without having made it suggestive in the least. Maybe she will improve it tonight. Her "Bogey Man" song was well rendered but in a rather weak voice, as though she were not quite certain whether she really should sing or keep quiet.

Will Armstrong is as usual the real "comiker" of the show. When he appears as the child in order that his employer, Gus Leonard, and his wife, Ethel Davis, may collect an allowance from a relative, Mr. Armstrong is screamingly funny. If for no other thing, "The Winning Widow" is worth seeing on account of Armstrong.

Mission Novelty.

The chief novelty of the new Mission Theater at San Gabriel, in which John S. McGroarty's "Mission Play" will first see the light next Monday evening, is in the arrangement of the boxes so that they are not known by number, but, instead, by name.

These boxes, in their nomenclature, will recount the great deeds of the early pioneers to the South Pacific Coast, and will celebrate also the names of the rulers of Spain and Mexico.

The proscenium boxes are named—right and left, respectively—in honor of King Ferdinand and Queen Isabella.

The other boxes bear the names of Galvez, King Philip, Ferrelo, Portola, Viscaino, Cabrillo, Balboa and Christopher Columbus.

Galvez was the Mexican Viceroy of the King of Spain who sent Junipero Serra and his followers to establish the missions in California.

Ferrelo was the pilot of Cabrillo.

Cabrillo himself was the discoverer of California, first sighting these shores in 1542.

Viscaino was the second to drop anchor in California waters.

Don Gaspar de Portola, in 1769, sailed into majestic San Francisco Bay, which he named.

These boxes are of the color of the old mission walls, relieved by an antique "church blue."

When They Are Most Demanded Comes This

Sale of Silk Dresses for Women and Misses at $20

If We Had Paid Regular Prices for Them and Marked Them at the Lowest Conceivable Margin of Profit We'd Have Been Obliged to Ask $25, $30 and $35

When we say that in this assortment at $20 there is a larger variety of new style dresses it means a larger variety of fabrics and colorings, as well as designs. The season's favorite weaves—rich crepe meteors, chameleon, plain or striped taffetas, messalines, silk and chiffon effects, pongees and French serges are represented in black and most wanted shades.

We secured them at remarkable price concessions simply because they represented surplus collections and we relieved the manufacturer of what was to him a burden. None of them have the "ready-made" look peculiar to certain kinds of ready-to-wear dresses, but might well be termed "dressmaker-made." Latest styles are embodied in their designing, and anything savoring of extreme or over-trimmed effects is carefully avoided. No detail of cut or making is slighted at all.

There are dresses for all occasions—for morning and carriage wear, teas, bridge parties, receptions, lawn parties, dinner, theater and evening wear. Indeed every model of them is all what you'd expect of The Big White Store in the way of style and quality. Going to get several!

None Will Be Sent C. O. D. or on Approval. Sizes 14 to 44.

No Mail or Phone Orders Will Be Filled on These.

TAFT MEN WIN IOWA

Cummins Loses His Own State.

Favorite Son Wholly Unable to Stem the Tide for the President.

Alliance With Roosevelt Likewise Impotent to Change Course of Destiny.

Reprimand to the Insurgents Is Found in Instructions to Delegates.

BY HAL M. LYTTLE.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

CEDAR RAPIDS (Iowa) April 24.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Iowa's favorite son, Senator Albert B. Cummins, was told by the home folks today that they do not want him in the Presidential race.

By a vote of 761 to 720 in the Republican State convention they censured his boom. As a reprimand they gave President Taft sixteen of the twenty-six delegates in the national convention, a pledge of their faith in him and his supporters, the political committeemanship.

It was the most strenuous convention ever held in Iowa. At times it almost bordered on a riot. The Taft and Cummins machines, the latter aided and abetted by a miniature Roosevelt vehicle, fought each other tooth and nail. Not until the gruelling test was made on the convention floor was either side in safety.

When the test vote showed the Taft delegates winners, the convention went mad. Up and down the aisles the delegates paraded with banners
